Speaker Byrns Says 'There Is Little Doubt' That 8-Month Session Will Adjourn Tonight.

HOUSE PROPOSAL TO THAT EFFECT VOTED

Rail Pension Bill Sent to Roosevelt— Ship Subsidy Legislation Dropped for the Present.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Congress, wearied by a session of nearly eight months' duration, waded through a mass of last-minute legislation today, hoping for adjournment tonight.

Both House and Senate met early and several bills were disposed of by noon. The House then adopted a resolution setting adjournment for tonight. Presented by Rep. Taylor of Colorado, acting Democratic floor leader, it stated simply that when the two Houses adjourned on Aug. 24 they should do so "sine die." The adoption of this resolution by a voice vote was greeted with "whoops" from the members.

"There seems little doubt," said Speaker Byrns, "that we will be out of here tonight."

Bills Passed Today.

The House ratified the interstate compact method of limiting crude oil production to prevent physical waste. The bill was sent to the Senate.

The House passed and sent to President Roosevelt the so-called gold clause bill and agreed to a compromise alcohol control measure.

The bill for load lines on vessels in the coastwise trade—one of a series of safety-at-sea measures—was sent back to the Senate for action on an amendment.

Debate occasioned by the so-called neutrality resolution delayed the work of the Senate, causing Senator Logan (Dem.), Kentucky, to protest. Southern Senators were awaiting their chance to insist on a 12-cent cotton loan.

While the House dealt with secondary measures, the members strolled in and out of the cooled chamber, glanced through newspapers and talked.

Yesterday's Actions.

Working rapidly yesterday and last night, the legislators sent to the White House the Guffey coal bill, the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium, and an employer-employe tax measure to raise funds for a new railroad pension bill. They put the utility regulation bill and the gold suit bill into shape for final action today.

The Senate, meeting until around midnight, was the scene of a filibuster by Senator Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, and others that blocked the $500,000,000 flood control bill, already passed by the House.

Today's calendar called for a final vote by both houses on conference reports on the new tax bill and the utility holding company bill.

The Senate also had to vote on the $100,000,000 deficiency appropriation, which carries funds to start the social security program.

Ship Legislation.

Legislation to set up a direct system of subsidies for the merchant marine instead of the present ocean mail payments definitely has been dropped for this session. The subject produced a fight in the Senate last night, however. Charging that a "pernicious lobby" of shipping companies had blocked new ship legislation, Senator Black fought for a resolution for mandatory cancellation of all ocean mail contracts by April 1, 1936. The Senate turned this down and voted to give President Roosevelt until next March 31 to modify or cancel the contracts at his discretion. The vote on this was 37 to 27.

Earlier the Senate had approved a resolution by Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, extending this discretionary period until April 30. Then it changed its mind.

Among the bills sent to the White House yesterday was one increasing ocean ship liability for losses at sea. The House voted for an investigation by the Federal Trade Commission into the difference between what farmers receive for their products and what the consumer pays.

CALIFORNIA TO BE NO WINTER RESORT FOR THE INDIGENT

Authorities Warn All Such Off; Destitute Entering State at Rate of 1000 a Day.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—An emphatic warning to "stay away from California" was directed at destitute transients today by authorities, as they continued to pour into the State at a rate of 1000 a day.

H. A. R. Carleton, director of the Federal Transient Service, announced three orders have been issued to emphasize the warning. They are:

Works Progress Administration jobs will be given only to persons registered in California prior to Aug. 1.

Federal transient shelters for migratory workers will be closed.

TAX OFFICE HELD UP AT PHILADELPHIA

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 24.—Six robbers pointed pistols at clerks at a State Department of Revenue office in downtown Philadelphia today, bound seven men with sash cord and fled with $1500 in tax collections.

The men were forced to lie on the floor, face down. The one woman in the office was not bound. She told the robbers she was "too scared to move."

While two of the gunmen tied up six employes and a salesman with the cord they brought with them, two others stood guard at the door and another pair made a systematic search of the safe, the door of which was open.

The money was wrapped in packages preparatory to being sent to Harrisburg and was lying on a table.

SERVED SENTENCE FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Bartender Shot Shoe Worker in Beer Flat Brawl—Cleared in Previous Fatal Shooting.

George Curtin, 42-year-old bartender and former convict, was killed by a speeding automobile at Broadway and Clark avenue at 1:45 a. m. today. The driver did not stop.

Police picked up a headlight rim and the rim and reflector of a cowl light, which were knocked off the car by the impact.

Curtin had alighted from an automobile in which he had been riding with Ben Berthold, 3316 Salena street, and Paul Callahan, 3809 Utah place, and had started toward the west curb. An automobile, southbound at an estimated speed of 50 miles an hour, struck him and sped on. Berthold and Callahan were unable to describe accurately the machine that struck Curtin. Curtin was unmarried and resided at 1715A Michigan avenue.

In February, 1932, Curtin was found guilty of manslaughter and his punishment fixed at five years in prison for killing Glenn Nagel, 26-year-old shoeworker, in a fight in a beer flat. He entered the penitentiary the following April and was released on a conditional commutation of sentence last November.

On March 22, 1925, he shot and killed Thomas J. Sullivan, 28 years old, a waiter and associate of Cuckoo gangsters. Curtin was freed at the inquest on his testimony that Sullivan came to his saloon at Third and Lombard streets and made a motion as if to draw a weapon. Two years earlier Curtin shot a Mexican in the back at the Third and Lombard street saloon. Curtin told police the shot was fired accidentally when he hit a companion of the Mexican with an automatic pistol.

Boy, 6, Injured Internally When Struck by Automobile.

Leo Dougherty Jr., 6 years old, suffered internal injuries when struck by an automobile in front of his home, 2123 Cass avenue, last night. The driver, Herbert Cole, 2325 University street, said the boy ran from behind a parked automobile.

JEWS KEPT OFF STREET CARS BY NAZIS IN MAGDEBURG

They Are "Not Wanted," Say Signs on Trolleys; Restrictions on Butchers.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Jews were barred from street cars at Magdeburg today as new restrictions brought new hardships for thousands of others. The street cars bore signs: "Jews not wanted."

Kirchhain meat dealers were forced to make deliveries to Jewish customers late at night and secretly. In some provincial towns, many Jews were depending on mails and freight for delivery of necessities from Berlin.

They feared this method, too, might be stopped because of edicts in various places against "Aryans" trading with Jews.

Writing in a special number of the "Periodical of the German Law Academy," Dr. Ludwig Fischer, Munich official, demanded imprisonment with the loss of honor for "racial treason" and "racial disgrace."

SENATOR, IN DEBATE, RECALLS LOSS OF BROTHERS IN WAR

Logan's Voice Breaks, He Leaves Chamber, Following Rebuke by Gore.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Rebuked for trying to cut short a speech on the horrors of the World War, Senator Logan of Kentucky reminded the Senate today that his two younger brothers died in that conflict.

He pleaded that Senator Gore of Oklahoma was holding up vital legislation by a long address reviewing "propaganda" which he said led the United States into the war.

Gore suggested Logan might spare five minutes to save the lives of future Americans.

His voice breaking, Logan replied no one deplored the war more than he, that his "two youngest and best loved brothers" were buried in France. Then he walked from the chamber.

TEMPORARY ARMS EMBARGO VOTED, SENT TO PRESIDENT

Senate Accepts 6-Month Mandatory Bill, 77 to 2, After House Passes It Without Roll Call.

SETS UP MUNITIONS LICENSING BOARD

Robinson Criticises Senator Pope for Saying in London That U. S. Will Be Drawn Into War.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — The Senate, after a brief debate today, accepted and sent to the White House the compromise resolution known as the neutrality bill.

Final action came on a motion to concur in House amendments to the original Senate resolution. The vote was 77 to 2, only Senators Bankhead of Alabama and Gerry of Rhode Island, both Democrats, voting against the resolution.

The compromise, among other things, places a mandatory embargo on arms and munitions shipments to belligerents, effective only for six months, or until Feb. 29, 1936.

The resolution also sets up a Munitions Board to license arms exports, authorizes the President to warn American travelers that they sail on ships of belligerent nations at their own risk, and gives the President power to forbid American ships to carry arms to any belligerent nation. It also gives the President power to keep the submarines of warring nations out of American ports.

Criticises Senator Abroad.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, took the floor immediately after the passage of the measure to reply to an interview in England in which Senator Pope (Dem.), Idaho, was quoted as predicting America would become involved in a European war.

Deploring the prediction, he read a cablegram from Pope explaining it was not intended as an official statement but merely represented his personal views.

The London interview quoted Pope as saying, "We are not involved in the present crisis, and we do not intend to be. However, it would be out of the question for the United States to do anything to render the general application of sanctions against Italy ineffective."

The United States, he said, was quoted as saying, is "too involved in trade and other interests of a world-wide nature" to keep out of a major conflict.

"We want no war," Robinson shouted. "If any European nation is proceeding on the theory that this Government or its resources, either of man power or wealth, will contribute to the adjustment of European controversies other than by peaceful suggestions for action, they are being misled."

Robinson spoke during discussion of a resolution proposed by La Follette (Prog.), Wisconsin, to make it clear that the Senate had authorized no one to represent it abroad.

The Senate voted 47 to 26 to send the proposal to committee, with little prospect of its being revived.

Johnson Belittles Measure.

Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep.), California and Connally (Dem.), Texas, belittled the neutrality resolution as a means of preventing America from becoming involved in war.

"It is good enough for pacifists to say that they are going overnight to write a neutrality law," Johnson said, "but for over a century the people and the statesmen of America have tried to establish a neutrality policy. Up to now none has succeeded in presenting a policy that would stand the test of time.

"Don't delude yourself that this resolution will accomplish any great results in the days to come. This resolution will not prevent any war and when the people are told that it will, they are simply being deceived and deluded."

Turning then to the interview with Senator Pope, Johnson said:

"I regret any member of this body should go abroad and say this nation is going to be drawn into a war. It is an unfortunate thing that it should have occurred. We are not going to be thrown into a European war. We've learned our lesson.

"Having learned our lesson, we're not going abroad. We are going to stay here minding our own business and being just American."

Johnson then applied the neutrality proposal for an embargo to the present world situation, speaking as Ethiopia might speak:

DRESS REHEARSAL FOR EAST AFRICA

Germany Also Warned That Action Is Possible in Austria in Spite of Ethiopian Trouble.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, BOLZANO, Italy, Aug. 24.—Premier Mussolini's mighty army rolled up its big guns near the Austrian frontier and his generals reviewed their final orders today in preparation for what officers said might be the most significant war games in history.

The purposes of the maneuvers which brought 150,000 soldiers into this area were both military and political:

1. To furnish a dress rehearsal for what may be war in East Africa.

2. To show Germany that Italy is ready to act in Austria, despite its troubles with Ethiopia.

3. To try out Italy's new "celerity divisions" which, the Generals believe, will put an end to trench warfare.

Thirteen years of Fascism have made Italy so military-minded that the movement of tens of thousands of troops had no noticeable effect on the busy life of the inhabitants, most of whom are of Austrian origin.

Officers participated in the maneuvers with particular intensity. They thought they might have to put in practice in East Africa the tactical orders they received.

In preliminary movements designed to determine the position of the Red and Blue armies when the war games begin tomorrow morning, the Red army, instead of waiting for the Blue to attack, drove the Blue line back to a new position between Bolzano and Trento.

Here the Blue held firm with the aid of reinforcements and compelled the Reds to fall back to their previous line, back against the Austrian frontier.

The problem, therefore, with which the maneuvers will open is: Can the stronger Blue army break through the Red frontier?

Motorized units of the "celerity divisions" were prominent in the army assembled on the frontier slopes south of the Alps. Elsewhere in Italy 350,000 more troops are to be used before the war games are over.

Mussolini himself will head the general staff coping with the military problems.

Every attempt is being made to make the maneuvers as near as possible like actual warfare. The troops will advance under real artillery barrages.

Private automobiles and every other form of vehicle used by the citizens have been commandeered. Even those newspaper correspondents who are permitted to view the maneuvers are treated as war correspondents, taking their orders directly from the liaison bureau commanded by Gen. Baldini.

6000 More Italian Soldiers Sail From Naples.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 24.—As Naples teemed with military activity in preparation for the sailing of the largest force of men Italy has yet sent to Africa, the kingdom's intense interest in Great Britain's policy was reflected in the press.

Not only was a large volume of British and French newspaper comment on Great Britain's latest Cabinet meeting reprinted here, but the sale of French and British newspapers showed a remarkable increase.

Informed quarters showed an inclination to deprecate the possibility of any corrective action to stay Italy's hand in East Africa. Yet these observers repeated that Italy was prepared for any eventuality and would not be diverted from its course no matter how stern were the measures directed against it.

Among the 6000 soldiers sailing aboard the steamships Saturnia and Atlante were Premier Mussolini's two sons, Bruno annd Vittorio, and his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Minister of Propaganda, who are assigned to bombardment groups.

By the Associated Press.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 24. —Edwin de Groot Thompson, dude-ranch operator, was shot and killed late yesterday. Police arrested J. Bryson Corbett, insurance salesman.

District Attorney Thomas J. Mabry said his investigation of the killing was not complete, but that he expected to file a murder charge against Corbett.

Thompson was shot yesterday on the porch of the dwelling where Corbett, estranged from his wife, has been living.

Acting Chief of Police Pat Dugan said a man telephoned him from the house and said: "I just shot a man. Send a car." Dugan said Corbett handed him a revolver when he arrived.

Mabry quoted Corbett as saying Thompson "broke up my home and made a fool of my wife."

Mabry said Corbett told him the shooting occurred after Thompson had telephoned Corbett he was on his way to "beat me up again."

A Coroner's jury returned a verdict Thompson was shot "by a party or parties unknown."

CLEVELAND, Aug. 24.—Edwin de Groot Thompson, former treasurer of the Thompson Products, Inc., Cleveland auto parts manufacturing establishment, who was shot and killed in Albuquerque yesterday, was indicted here May 31 for failure to support his adopted son and on a charge of assaulting his wife, Paula C. Thompson.

11 POLICEMEN EXECUTED AS REBELS IN ALBANIA

TIRANA, Albania, Aug. 24.—It was officially announced today that 11 gendarmes who participated in the recent revolt were sentenced to death and executed this afternoon.

Trials of other revolutionists are continuing.

A revolt broke out in Albania Aug. 15 immediately after the assassination of Brigadier-General Leon Gagliardi in a vacation resort near the capital.

The following day an official communique said all was quiet and that the revolutionary movement had been suppressed. Many persons were arrested. Thirty-five police were said to have been involved.

The rebels seized the town of Fieri but later were dispersed without bloodshed.

UTILITY LOBBY INQUIRY OFF FOR FEW WEEKS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — The Senate Lobby Committee decided today to resume its inquiry into utility lobbying in the fall, after an interim of a few weeks of rest following the adjournment of Congress.

Chairman Black, after an executive meeting of the committee, said hearings would not be resumed immediately because members wanted to "try and get a little rest." The exact date for resuming hearings had not been fixed, he said, but added that it probably would be within a few weeks.

Black said the committee investigators would continue at work, examining the files of the utility companies and checking the returns from the questionnaires sent to the utilities and the telegraph companies.

Black said it had not yet been determined whether the committee would make any trips.

Abruptly dismissing Howard C. Hopson, key figure in the investigation into the activities of the Associated Gas & Electric system in fighting the utilities bill, the committee yesterday turned to ship subsidy legislation and heard the name of Raymond Moley mentioned in the testimony.

Ira A. Campbell, shipping attorney, was called to the stand and told of a luncheon held in New York last week to discuss the ship subsidy bill, and attended by John M. Franklin, Kermit Roosevelt and "Mr. Moley."

"What Mr. Moley?" asked Chairman Black of the committee.

"Mr. Raymond Moley that's all I know about him," Campbell replied.

The accident occurred in August, 1931. The bill provides that the money shall be paid to the boy's guardian.

AIR PROTECTION OF WATERWAY ALSO ORDERED

CABINET COMMITTEE DECIDES ON ACTION

Closing of Gateway to Africa in Event of War Between Italy and Ethiopia Is Discussed at London Conference.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Defense Committee of the British Cabinet has ordered elaborate naval, military and air defenses for the Suez Canal, to maintain the Empire's dominance of the Mediterranean, protect its colonies in Africa and keep open its lines of communication in event of an Italian-Ethiopian war.

The cruise program which will bring the British Mediterranean fleet to within almost overnight striking distance of the Suez canal by Sept. 1, was announced officially today at Valetta, Malta.

The warships will leave Malta next Thursday and will be concentrated in a tight, small ring ranging from the actual entrances of the canal and within the canal to points from 150 to 400 miles from the Mediterranean entrance.

Vessels at Alexandria.

The biggest concentration will be at Alexandria, Egypt, where the ships Revenge and Valiant, the first and third cruiser squadrons, the aircraft carrier Glorious and other warships will assemble.

The first destroyer and first submarine flotillas will remain at Malta.

Other units will proceed to Suez, Port Said and Ismailia, which are the Red Sea and Mediterranean entrances, and a point midway in the canal respectively. Ships will also be stationed at Haifa and Acre on the Palestine coast and at Famagusta, Lanarka and Limassol, all in Cyprus, 250 miles from the canal.

The Mediterranean fleet will include five fast battleships of the Queen Elizabeth type and three battle cruisers—the 42,000-ton Hood and the Renown and Repulse, of 32,000 tons each. The arrival of the Repulse may be delayed; it is in the dockyard at present.

The Government ordered construction of public air raid shelters in every district of the island of Malta. Leaflets instructing the public in precautions to be taken in case of poison gas attacks from the air were distributed by police.

Reason for Action.

On protection and control of the canal depends the very life of the Empire, it was said. In the event of war in East Africa, the canal would become a key point. Its closing to warships and transports of combatants is already being discussed. Such a move, one observer said, would be a mortal blow to Premier Mussolini's East African ambitions.

During a meeting of the Defense Committee at 10 Downing street yesterday, the problem of Suez Canal defense was discussed at length. One report had it that grave concern was expressed over the possibility the Italians might attempt to seize the canal in case of war.

The opinion was expressed in both naval and military circles that the fleet alone is incapable of holding the canal and that the army and air force have already received instructions for use in case of trouble. One of the chief worries of the British is possibility of attack by submarine and aircraft.

The British naval strength, which was emphasized Aug. 5 when Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty, asserted that, "compared to the great naval Powers today, we have only about half a navy," came in for an attack by the Saturday Review.

"On Nov. 21, 1918, the German high seas fleet surrendered to the British navy at Scapa Flow," recalled the imperialist weekly. "At

CONFEREES AGREE ON COMPROMISE UTILITY MEASURE

DECISION UP TO SECURITIES BOARD

Wheeler Says 'It Is a Good Bill — Quick Approval by House and Senate Expected.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Senate and House conferees reached an agreement yesterday on all points in the utilities bill, including the controversial section calling for the abolition of certain holding companies.

Quick approval of the conference report by the Senate and House is expected. The bill then will go to the White House for the signature of President Roosevelt, who urged the compromise.

The Senate had voted for mandatory abolition by 1942 of holding companies deemed "unnecessary." The House decided to give the Securities Commission discretionary authority in abolishing them.

Under the compromise, two holding companies could be imposed on one "integrated system" of operating companies serving adjacent territories, at the discretion of the Securities Commission.

"Good Bill," Says Wheeler.

"If any one can see a victory in this, it is hardly one for the utilities people. No measure has ever gone so far toward regulating holding companies and eliminating them when they are unnecessary. It is a good bill."

Power executives who led the long fight against the legislation, condemned the compromise. Philip H. Gadsden, chairman of the Committee of Public Utility Executives, said it was "simply the original death sentence in another form." By accepting it, he said, the House "struck a blow at the millions of Americans who have invested in utility securities." He attributed adoption of the compromise to the "Government lobby" and "patronage."

Other disputed points settled by the compromise agreement provided that:

Holding companies may issue bonds secured by a first lien on properties owned directly or on properties of subsidiaries, with the Securities Commission empowered to say whether other assets could be made the basis for bond issues.

Affiliates or subsidiaries of holding companies which perform services for the operating companies must do so at cost.

An amendment, much urged by the utilities interests, was eliminated. This provided that the powers conferred by the act would be invalidated if the jurisdiction of a State law or State commission were concerned.

The question of fees paid to service companies, grimly fought from the start, was given point by testimony before the Black lobby investigating committee that profits from such fees have at times been enormous.

Standards Set Up.

In general, the conferees said the bill was strengthened by the retention, wherever found, of standards by which the Securities Commission should administer the bill. They thought that—in view of recent Supreme Court decisions—this fortified the measure against constitutional attack based on the ground that powers delegated were not sufficiently defined.

Throughout a day-long session, the conferees had it back and forth between the faction headed by Wheeler and Chairman Reyburn (Dem.), Texas, of the House conferees and three outspoken members of the House group—Representatives Huddleston (Dem.), Alabama; Cooper (Rep.), Ohio, and Holmes (Rep.), Massachusetts.

Three times, proponents of drastic holding company regulation took the issue to a vote in the House and only yesterday when the compromise drafted by Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, was brought up was there a majority of "ayes."

that moment the British navy was supreme on every sea.

"What has happened since?

"A policy of surrender to sentimentalism has wasted all that courage and skill that British soldiers had won. Bleating about peace, our rulers pursued a one-sided disarmament until they themselves had to confess they had disarmed beyond the limit of safety."

Fund Appeal Barred.

The British Foreign office has clamped down on a proposed public appeal for funds to send medical aid to Ethiopia. The appeal was deferred after sponsors conferred with the Foreign Office, which intimated it felt such a move at this time would be prejudicial to the Government's efforts to avert war, said A. J. M. Melly, London surgeon, one of the backers of the plan.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, saw new British efforts to preserve peace in Africa started through diplomatic channels today, then left to spend the week-end at Norfolk. He will keep in touch with the situation by private wire.

David Marshal Mason, Liberal member of Parliament, said the United States neutrality resolution "deserves the severest censure."

"No act of war so far has been committed by Italy against Ethiopit, therefore the resolution is premature," said Mason, an associate of the Institute of Bankers.

"Secondly, it is a direct encouragement to Italy to proceed with her war of aggression against Ethiopia, by proclaiming to the world that in such an event the United States intends to remain neutral.

"I trust the Powers composing the League will carry out the resolutions of the League and that Powers outside the League, such as Germany and Japan, will act sympathetically.

"Should the Powers stand up to their Covenant, I pray and trust peace will be preserved and such a decision does not rule out the possibility of still meeting the just aspirations of Italy for an honorable settlement."

Conciliation Commission Completes Collection of Evidence.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 24.—The Italian-Ethiopian Conciliation Commission, which has been meeting here to take the testimony of Italian witnesses to the Ualual border dispute, completed its collection of evidence today.

After a final session tomorrow to discuss the testimony the commission will go to Paris to draft its decision.

Italian and Ethiopian troops clashed near Ualual toward the end of last year, the incident bringing to a head the controversy between Italy and Ethiopia. Both sides say the incident took place on their territory.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Three men held up Louis Rothenberg, Memphis jewelry salesman, last night, taking jewelry valued at approximately $25,000.

The robbery occurred as Mr. and Mrs. Rothenberg and their 4-year-old daughter, Paula, were going to the Union Station in a taxi.

TEMPORARY ARMS EMBARGO VOTED, SENT TO PRESIDENT

tagonist now has arms in generous supply and you know I have none and yet you embargo arms that he doesn't need and I must have for self-defense and it merely results in arming him to assassinate me."

"That's what you must consider when you talk of neutrality," Johnson said.

Prefers Nothing to Be Done.

He said he would "prefer nothing be done" at this time save a declaration of American policy to keep out of Europe. He said the resolution would carry out the policy for which he and Senator Borah had been fighting for years.

Johnson told his colleagues that in time of war all things constitute contraband.

"The result is that not a bale of cotton, not a bushel of wheat, not a pound of copper, not an ounce of pig iron, not a morsel of food will be exported in time of war," he said.

"The logical result is that not only must every American stay within the confines of our country, but no commerce can sail the seas. That's the logical result and while it may be necessary sometime, it is not essential in the last day of the session."

He said that for Congress to be "bludgeoned" into acting on the last session was a "blunder that would only result in ultimate harm."

"Gesture for Peace."

Senator Connally asserted he would vote for the resolution only because it was "at least a gesture in behalf of peace."

"This resolution itself does not mean peace," he said, "I want real peace, but the surest way to involve us in war is to tell the world we'll fight under no circumstances."

Declaring "we are trying to reverse the policy" since it was the President's function to direct international affairs and Congress alone had the right to declare war, Connally said "you can't put America in an international strait-jacket and thereby keep out of war." Under international law, he said, it was not considered an unneutral act to send arms to belligerents.

Chairman Pittman of the Foreign Relations Committee told Connally the prohibition against shipments of munitions of war did not include supplies, such as cotton and the like.

Passage in House.

Under a rule limiting debate to 40 minutes, the House passed the resolution yesterday without a record vote.

Representative Wadsworth (Rep.) New York, attacked the bill. He said, by way of example, that "Italy is a great and powerful nation; Ethiopia is utterly lacking in industrial resources." To declare a mandatory embargo against both, he contended would mean that "the weak should not be permitted to purchase weapons.

"This is an open invitation to the great and powerful to attack the weak," he said.

"Peace is greatly to be desired," he said, "but there is something more precious than peace, and that is liberty. Had this policy been in world-wide effect in 1776, it is very very doubtful if the 13 colonies would have achieved their independence."

Another who harked back to the American Revolution was Representative Knutson (Rep.), Minnesota.

"I wonder where we would be today if France had had such a law on her statute books in 1776?" he asked. "In my opinion, a worldwide law of this kind would mean an end to all small countries in the next 50 years because they would not be in a position to maintain their independence."

Roosevelt's Attitude.

President Roosevelt was described by Representative Sisson (Dem.), New York, today as having indicated strong opposition to mandatory neutrality legislation at a conference just before the Senate started such a bill on its way to passage.

In a prepared statement, he said the White House meeting was attended by nine House members, who assured the President the Senate bill would pass the House by an overwhelming majority if he indicated his willingness.

"The President indicated that he did not believe that the bill could pass the Senate," Sisson said. "He also indicated that he was firmly opposed to mandatory neutrality legislation and that he felt that the President should have the power to deal with conditions in the future, involving questions of discrimination between belligerents and the other matters involved generally in our neutrality policy, as he saw fit.

"One of the rather striking and unusual things . . . is that within . . . possibly less than two hours after this group left the White House the bill passed the Senate almost unanimously.'

FILIBUSTER THREAT OVER COTTON LOAN RATE IN SENATE

Byrnes Gains Promise of Consideration Today of Proposal for 12 Cents a Pound.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — The fight between the farm administration and Southern Senators over the new cotton loan-subsidy plan headed into a test in the Senate today, raising a possible threat to adjournment plans.

Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, leading the fight, sought to substitute a direct 12-cent loan by the Commodity Credit Corporation for the loan-subsidy arrangement and threatened a filibuster unless he got "a vote on the merits of this proposition."

Under the new arrangement, announced Thursday by the Agricultural Adjustment Association, cotton farmers would receive a loan of 9 cents a pound on the 1935 crop and an additional direct payment to increase the farmers' average return to 12 cents. A direct loan of 12 cents was made on the 1934 crop.

Move to Amend Deficiency Bill.

Byrnes was temporarily checkmated last night in efforts to attach an amendment to the third deficiency bill, but his threat to filibuster won him a promise of Senate consideration of his proposal today. The third deficiency bill is a $100,000,000 measure, containing, among other things, funds to start the administration's new social security program.

Farm officials, many of whom were present when Byrnes offered his amendment, said they were confident the Senate would reject his proposal. They hurried to the capitol after Senator Smith (Dem.), South Carolina, had issued a statement saying the AAA plan was "not a loan at all" and that he believed it "ends any further co-operation in the form of agreements between the cotton growers and the Government." Smith charged the farm administration had broken a promise to continue last year's 12-cent loan if the Bankhead cotton allotment act were extended.

AAA officials made no direct acknowledgment of the congressional criticism. Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, predicted a billion dollar cotton crop and said farmers "will instantly appreciate the 1935 loan-subsidy plan."

Point of Order Raised.

The Senate was considering committee amendments to the deficiency bill when Byrnes gained the floor to introduce his amendment. A point of order was raised by Hale (Rep.), Maine. Byrnes said he had a motion to suspend the rules for consideration of his amendment. He demanded to know whether he would have a chance to call for a vote on the motion today. If not given that assurance, Byrnes said, he would "talk all night and have considerable assistance."

Adams (Dem.), Colorado, in charge of the appropriations measure, agreed to postpone consideration of Byrnes' motion until today.

Senator Bankhead issued a statement saying an organized program would be begun at once to induce growers to hold their cotton for a price of 12 cents or better.

Smith interpreted the loan plan to mean that the bulk of the crop must be sold before Jan. 1. AAA officials, however, insisted they were urging farmers to hold the crop for orderly marketing at fair prices.

Sale of Pool Stocks Stopped.

Commending the plan, Oscar Johnston, manager of the Cotton Producers' Pool, announced discontinuance of sales of pool stocks. The pool was reported to be holding 675,000 bales of spot cotton and 933,000 futures. Sales of spots were begun on May 8 and spots were replaced with futures.

In predicting a "billion dollar cotton crop for 1935" Davis said the farm value of cotton, with the loan-subsidy in effect, should be more than $700,000,000; rental and benefit payments under existing contracts should total $126,000,000, and the farm value of cotton seed should be from $150,000,000 to $175,000,000. The last time the farm value of the cotton crop reached a billion dollars was in 1929.

THREE ITALIAN FLYERS KILLED

Maj. Bedendo and Two Other Officers Victims of Crash.

By the Associated Press.

ALESSANDRIA, Italy, Aug. 24.—Maj. Sebastiano Bedendo and two other Italian flyers were killed today when their passenger plane, en route to the air derby at Rome, crashed near the village of Eglietto.

Maj. Bedendo, senior officer in the plane, was well known in aviation circles throughout the world, having made several distance records. He was flying to Rome with Lieutenants Tessore and Nicastro, hoping to reach there in time to engage in the air derby tomorrow, in which planes from all over Europe are entered.

Ethiopian King Orders Civilians Out if Addis Ababa Is Bombed

Haile Selassie Tells Subjects to Leave Homes and Hide in Woods If Italian Planes Raid Capital.

By the Associated Press.

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 24.—Emperor Haile Selassie today ordered the immediate civilian evacuation of Addis Ababa in the event of an Italian air attack.

In a proclamation, regarded as the government's official acknowledgment that it realizes the imminence of war, he instructed his subjects to leave their homes and take refuge in the woods if Italian planes appear.

The populace was warned verbally that despite negotiations in Paris, London and Geneva the country must be ready for an emergency.

"Three cannon shots will be fired from the palace, factories will sound sirens and churches will ring their bells ceaselessly" if the attack should come, the proclamation read.

"When you hear the warnings," it continued, "abandon your homes and flee. Airplanes seek out crowds massed on constructions. Run to the woods, spread out and hide. Remain calm."

The Emperor also ordered all valuable property hidden in subterranean caverns.

His order stirred the capital's 120,000 residents. Americans and other foreigners remained calm, some thinking that the League of Nations might yet avert conflict.

Many merchants have begun to move their property into nearby hills.

The Government, it was stated, has taken precautions to assure wireless communication with the outside world in the event of a bombardment.

The Emperor ordered the capital divided into zones, each in charge of a judicial officer directing the movement of thousands of mules, horses and wagons, mobilized to assist in the evacuation.

The dense forest of eucalyptus trees on the edge of Addis Ababa will afford a protective screen to the thousands of natives who will need to remain near the capital.

Americans who intend to remain here even in the case of war, including missionaries, business man and correspondents, will need to make special arrangements for protection from air raids.

The American legation is nearest of all diplomatic missions to the center of the city. The Italian legation is five miles away, the British four and the French, German and Belgian three. All are scattered, as there is no legation city such as exists in Peiping and other capitals.

Some of the legations are situated in dense eucalyptus groves, but the American buildings are on an open plain and a large American flag, flying from a tall steel mast identifies the mission building clearly. The mast formerly stood at the American naval station at Guam.

ILLINOIS TERMINAL CUTS RATES ON COAL

Move to Meet Truck Competition on Shipments to St. Louis and East St. Louis.

A reduction of 35 cents a ton on coal shipped to St. Louis and 30 cents on coal shipped to East St. Louis to meet truck competition from principal mining points on the Illinois Terminal Railway System (electric), was included in new tariffs published yesterday by the company, effective Oct. 1. The tariffs are subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The new rates would be effective from mines within 30 miles of East St. Louis, Alton, Wood River and Roxana, the principal mines being at Edwardsville, Troy, O'Fallon and Palt. The proposed new rate to St. Louis will be 80 cents instead of the present $1.15, and to East St. Louis 55 cents instead of 85 cents.

Within the past few years there have been several conferences of officials of all railroads serving St. Louis from the Illinois coal fields in an effort to devise means of meeting the truck competition, but no general plan has been worked out.

Harold G. Powell, vice-president of the Illinois Terminal Railroad, today said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that trucks had transported 1,800,000 tons of coal from mines served by its lines within the past year, and that a reduction in rates by the company to meet the truck competition was necessary to preserve its business.

BAR ON GOLD SUITS AFTER SIX MONTHS FINALLY PASSED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Congress sent to the White House today the bill to forbid after Jan. 1, 1936, suits against the Government to collect any alleged losses caused by dollar devaluation and abrogation of gold payment clauses in Government obligations.

Final approval came when the House adopted the report of conferees chosen to adjust differences on the legislation. There was no record vote.

A bar against such suits was asked by the administration after the Supreme Court ruled the Government had no right to nullify gold payment promises in its own obligations. The Court held, however, that the Government bondholder whose case was then before it had failed to show any actual damage. Officials feared a rush of new suits to establish damages.

The House voted to bar suits on all Government coins, currency and forms of obligations, but as changed by the Senate and finally enacted, the bill allows suits for six months, and thereafter forbids them on coins, currencies and claims arising from devaluation and seizure of gold.

BUREAU FOR HOMELESS MEN TO BE MOVED; NEW POLICY

To Pay More Attention to Future to Local Youths From 16 to 20 Years of Age.

Removal of the Bureau for Homeless Men, United Charities agency, from 1415 Pine street to 204A North Eighteenth street was announced yesterday by G. Myron Gwinner, director. The change became necessary due to separation of the bureau from the men's unit of th St. Louis Relief Administration.

In the future the policy of the bureau will emphasize care for local youths from 16 to 21 years of age, in co-operation with the National Youth Administration, and more attention also will be given to research and case work, Gwinner said. Grouping of boys with older men, as practiced in the past, will be avoided.

FIREMEN'S FUND EMBEZZLED

By the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 24.—Ernest A. Gustafson, 45 years old, secretary of the Rockford Fire Department and a fireman since 1911, was arrested last night on a State warrant charging him with embezzlement of $9000 from funds of the Rockford Firemen's Relief Association.

Fire Chief Thomas D. Blake said the warrant resulted from Gustafson's admission that he was responsible for more than $12,000 of the $14,000 shortage in accounts of the relief association, the firemen's association and the firemen's pension. The money, Chief Blake said Gustafson told him, had been lost in stock market trading.

ANNA, Ill., Aug. 24.—Report of the municipal fruit market master here shows a total of 55,275 bushels of peaches passed through that market during the recent peach movement at an average price for all grades of $1.19 per bushel, and for the best quality of $1.62 per bushel. A total of 472 cars moved by rail from Union County was distributed as follows:

No accurate check was obtainable on the truck movement, but it is estimated more went by truck than moved by freight. A contributing factor making for the low prices was the Oriental worm, which showed up during the last few days of ripening for the first time since 1929.

SPEAKERS ATTACK LEVEE MEMORIAL BOND PROPOSAL

Chairman Bohenkamp of Citizens' Non-Partisan Committee Says It Will Increase Taxes.

DOUBTS BENEFIT TO BUSINESS

20 Democratic Committee Members and Three Ward Meetings Indorse the Issue.

The proposed $7,500,000 bond issue for a river front memorial was denounced by speakers at a meeting of the Citizens' Non-Partisan Committee last night at the German House, Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, but was indorsed yesterday afternoon by a group of 20 of the 36 members of the Democratic City Committee.

Speakers at the Citizens' Non-Partisan Committee meeting, which was attended by about 100 persons, described the $30,000,000 memorial project as "ill-considered, indefinite, uncertain and ridiculous." They urged voters to work for defeat of the city bond issue at the special election Sept. 10.

William L. Bohenkamp, an attorney, chairman of the committee, said the loss in revenue from taxes now collected on property in the 37 block area which would be taken for the memorial, amounting to about $180,000 a year, would have to be compensated for by increased taxes on property throughout the city. The interest charges and provision for payment of the bonds would require further increase of taxes, he said.

Fear for Business Expressed.

He and other speakers expressed the opinion that buiness in the downtown district would not be benefited by the memorial development, but might be damaged through the removal of a large adjacent industrial district. They said the breaking up of the river front district might cause many industries there to go out of business or move to other cities, and that many workers would lose their jobs.

The speakers challenged proponents of the plan to say how many persons would be put to work clearing the ground, at what wages, and how soon.

Speakers besides Bohnenkamp were: Dr. A. A. Gebhardt, chairman of the Chippewa Street Property Owners' Association; George P. Lischer of 5404 South Thirty-ninth street; Richard Richter, connected with an electrical company located in the river front district, and Sheridan Webster, a lawyer. All opposed the bond issue.

The chairman appointed a committee to apply for space in the Municipal Auditorium for headquarters of the Citizens' Non-Partisan Committee. Speakers supporting this action pointed out that Mayor Dickmann had placed a city employe in charge of an office in the auditorium to be used as headquarters for the Mayor's campaign in favor of the bond issue.

Ward Meetings Indorse Issue.

Three ward meetings last night indorsed the bond issue. The First Ward Democratic Club, meeting at 3808 West Florissant avenue, acted after hearing an address in favor of the bond issue by Richard C. Coburn, attorney, and president of the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri. The Third Ward Democratic Organization met at its headquarters, Blair avenue and Warren street, and voted an indorsement. John G. Burkhardt, City Tax Attorney, was the speaker.

DISTRICT SESSION INDORSES BONDS

Indorsement of the $7,500,000 river front memorial bond issue was voted by 20 members of the Democratic City Committee meeting yesterday afternoon at Hotel Jefferson as the Eleventh Congressional District Committee. Eleven of the 20 are regarded as hostile to Mayor Dickmann, who is sponsoring the bond issue as an administration measure.

The Eleventh District Committee is composed of two members from each of the 13 wards in the southern part of downtown St. Louis and the West End. There were six absentees yesterday. George M. Murphy, city marriage license clerk and Fifteenth Ward City Committeeman, presided as chairman of the district.

The entire City Committee is expected to act on the bond issue within the next two weeks, but no meeting has yet been called.

Those attending the meeting yesterday were:

Anti-administration: Mrs. Bessie Guenther, Sixth Ward; James J. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Mada Wood, Eighth Ward; Harold Becker, Ninth Ward; Murphy, Herbert Schmitt and Mrs. Lottie Walsh, Sixteenth Ward; William Cullinane (by proxy) and Mrs. Vera Callahan, Nineteenth Ward; Charles M. Reardon, Twenty-third Ward, and Mrs. Anna Donegan, Twenty-fifth Ward.

Absentees were State Senator Michael Kinney, Fifth Ward, a pro-administration member, and Dewey Godfrey, Mrs. Ann Noonan, Seventeenth Ward; Harry J. Cantwell, Twenty-fifth Ward, and Charles J. Hunt and Miss Addie O'Connell, Twenty-sixth Ward, all identified with the anti-administration group.

Murphy said Godfrey told him that he and Miss Noonan were for the bond issue. Cantwell has announced his opposition to it.

The meeting was called primarily to pass a resolution of sympathy at the death of former Circuit Judge Daniel G. Taylor, who died Wednesday at La Jolla, Cal.

SENATE CONFIRMS MEMBERS OF SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD

Chairman, Former Governor J. G. Winant of New Hampshire, Still in Switzerland.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Handicapped by absence of its chairman, the newly-created Social Security Board prepared a skeleton organization today to administer the Social Security Act.

The three members of the board were nominated by President Roosevelt yesterday and confirmed by the Senate last night without debate. But Chairman John G. Winant, former Republican Governor of New Hampshire, is in Geneva, Switzerland, and will not reach Washington until about Sept. 11.

In his absence, Arthur J. Altmeyer of Wisconsin, former Second Assistant Secretary of Labor, is "carrying on." Winant was chosen for a six-year term, Altmeyer for four years, and Vincent Morgan Miles of Arkansas, who has been Democratic National Committeeman, for one year.

"Our first task," Altmeyer said today, "will be to set up a staff to answer the flood of inquiries pouring in from all over the United States."

Funds for the new agency were placed at $76,000,000 in the third deficiency appropriations bill taken up by the Senate today.

E. ST. LOUIS FILLING STATION DAMAGED BY EXPLOSION

A gasoline filling station at Seventy-third and State streets, East St. Louis, was damaged to the extent of $300 by an explosion at 3:45 a. m. today.

Policemen, after investigating, told reporters they were convinced the place was bombed, although Morris Pratt, the operator, said he knew of no motive for a bombing.

The blast bulged the front wall and roof of the small brick building, wrecked the interior and shattered window panes. A window, usually latched from the inside, was found open. Police said they believed the explosive was dropped through the window. No particle of a bomb was found. The explosion aroused neighbors.

BILL ON LOSS OF LIFE AT SEA

Measure Fixing Responsibility on Ship Owners Passed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Congress forwarded to the White House yesterday a bill for financial protection of survivors of sea tragedies. The House passed the Senate-approved Copeland (Dem.), New York, measure which more definitely fixes responsibility of ship owners for loss of life at sea, sets up an insurance fund for the payment of claims and increases from 30 days to one year the time in which suit against a ship owner may be started.

SECRET OF HOW WOMAN MEDIUM 'CALLED SPIRITS'

'Voices' Clients Heard Were Someone Who Had Studied Filing System, Detective Says.

SOCIALLY PROMINENT PERSONS IN LIST

Foibles, Habits, Likes, Hopes and Fears of Each One as Well as Those of Forebears Catalogued.

Dorothy Curry (Mrs. Edward Mulligan in private life) could call spirits from the vasty deep—no doubt of it. The question was whether they would come when she did call for them.

Her clientele, a large part of which was taken over from her mother, the widely known "Madame" Curry, seemed to think she could and did. From its most fashionable to its most ordinary member, from debutante to domestic, it believed.

But Detective Sergeant Joseph Mathews, who arrested Mrs. Mulligan last Wednesday, in a narcotic raid on her flat at 3206A South Grand boulevard, thought otherwise. He was of the opinion that her elaborate filing system, seized in the raid together with an assemblage of spiritualistic paraphernalia, gave away the secret of how some professional mediums duped their clients.

"Spirit" Uncannily Accurate.

The "spirit voices" which emanated from an unattached folding megaphone and told with uncanny accuracy of the personal affairs of Mrs. Mulligan's clients, more likely were the voice of someone who had studied the filing system, the detective thought.

In the filing system were 972 names, most of them of St. Louisans. There were names of servants and socially prominent women, of bankers and bank clerks, lawyers and physicians and brewers and business men and policemen, a Sheriff, a former Alderman, a State Senator.

The foibles, habits, likes, hopes and fears of each one as well as those of forebears, descendants, collateral relatives and relatives by marriage, were catalogued carefully.

The information contained in the filing cards was gathered, presumably, in years of painstaking effort, through small gossip and perusal of newspapers and other local publications of all sorts.

Some of Notations.

A notation on the history of the family of a prominent manufacturer who killed himself in his office said in parenthesis, "See T——; he worked for him 20 years." (Although the filing system gave full names, only initials or first names are given here.) Thus, apparently, the compiler hoped to obtain further details about the family from T, a man listed elsewhere in the card index, who, it appeared, had passed the stage of a neophyte and was close in the inner circle.

Typical of the index was a card which read as follows: C K, hu (husband) Ollie, mo (mother) Jessie, Ollie's sister E just took veil, called Sister D, is a Catholic nun, bro (brother) H throat and lung trouble, H's da (daughter) E called Chubby, Ollie had auto acc (accident), he has seven bros two sis living."

Another: "Mrs. M, hu H, da H shot accid after school leading dog by boy shooting at target, mo asks about Greek dictionary."

Under a list of relatives of B M were the notations: "B M shot while driving car, gangsters from Chi shot him from Olds with machine gun, his shoulder will be all right."

Still another card read: "E A, hu H dd (died) from poison whisky, dog Buster guarded body, fr (friend) dd on way to hospital."

One Genealogy Extensive.

The Dr. W family had an extensive genealogy—"Dr. W wife R, her bros E W M and C, mo and fa I, unc (uncle) Rollo, his son H, son A dd Texas, her fa L P, da S, son R goes to same school M did—John Burroughs School, M music teacher, ant (aunt) Hett's da Mariah lives in old Kentucky homeplace, Mrs. W her son D boy had append operation dd gone 7 years, son B, sis B, bro F A, fa Rev. S. A. Presb minister dd 3 years (1929) officiated grandson D's funeral," etc.

Few facts were available, apparently, about some of the clients or prospective clients. It was known only, for example, that A had a brother, B; that P had a husband, J, and a sister, N, whose husband "passed out when they were just married;" that so-and-so was the only one not at his mother's funeral; that B had a sister, J, "across the water."

Homely bits of information were contained in cards which said B D's second husband had his overcoat stolen, the father of F McG had a finger with the tip cut off, the father of D A "likes corn bread and she always puts an extra plate on the table." One man had a "deformed stomach," another "lame kidneys" and a third was an "old bachelor" having an "old maid" sister.

Among the cards were some listing the names of members of a well-known family of brewers, the family of a banker who killed himself and the family of a wealthy shoe manufacturer. Following the names of several members of the family of brewers was the parenthetical word, "easy."

The cards on the banker and the brewers gave occurrences in the families which had been printed in newspapers, and listed the heads of the families, their near and distant relatives. They gave in some instances the occupations of the relatives and told whom they had married.

Another card said a housemaid, B. B., had an insane husband and her father's name was P. B.—" she was a B. and married a B."

Spiritualistic Lesson Books.

With the index were notebooks of spiritualistic lessons, of philosophic laws, Biblical quotations, advice, rules, definitions of automatic writing, levitation, materialization, mental mediumship, catalepsy, telepathy, trance control, occultism and telekinesis (the apparent production of motions in objects by spiritualistic mediums without contact or other physical means).

One of the rules said, "Mediums should be provided for so they would not need to worry about or struggle for a living."

$3,050,955 OF STATE FUND READY FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 24.—Apportionment of the first payment of $3,050,955 to the public school system of Missouri from State revenue during the 1935-36 school year was announced today by Lloyd W. King, State Superintendent of Schools.

This payment represents 25.5 per cent of the total apportionment of $11,955,850 approved under the 1931 State school law, or $556,163 more than was distributed at the corresponding time a year ago. A second distribution of funds for the coming school year will be made next March.

Distribution of the money will be made within the next two or three weeks, after requisitions have been properly filled out by county clerks, and returned to the State Auditor's office. With an increase in revenue anticipated from the sales tax, King estimated that the schools this year would receive about $7,000,000 in State funds, as compared with a little less than $6,000,000 for the 1934-35 year.

Of the $3,050,955 to be distributed, $2,084,942 will go to high schools, $925,208 to rural schools, $30,943 to schools teaching defectives, and $9860 for teaching orphans.

GIRL, TWO MEN HELD IN CLEVELAND KILLING

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Police said last night that Helen Herman, 19 years old, and Donald Eberle, 30, her alleged companion in a three-year career of crime, had made confessions solving the murder of 20-year-old Albert Wesosky, during the robbery of his father's meat shot at Cleveland April 11.

Eberle, acquitted here in 1934 in the killing of his wife, Lorraine, on a plea of self defense, also told police he had committed many Chicago robberies. He boasted, they said, that he had "pulled over 500 jobs."

Eberle and the girl were arrested with John Pleyer, 26, and Charles Gordon, 30, who made statements, police said, that corroborated the admissions of the other two. Gordon said he joined the gang after it left Cleveland but admitted assisting in about 200 robberies, mostly filling stations and stores in Chicago.

"It's all your fault I got into this. I hate you" the girl told Eberle at the Detective Bureau. She is the mother of a 2-year-old boy. Her father is a South Chicago steel foreman, officers said.

Her Story of Robbery.

She was quoted by detectives as relating the story of the Cleveland shooting as follows:

"I waited in front while Eberle went in. I heard shooting and Eberle staggered out. I rushed over and picked up the revolver he dropped."

Police said Eberle and another robber had taken $25 from the store's cash register and that they were backing out when Joseph Wesosky, the owner fired, wounding Eberle. The robber fired back, killing Wesosky's son.

With Eberle's pistol, according to the police version of her story, the girl covered their retreat to an automobile.

Assistant Prosecutor Mahon said Pleyer also admitted participation in the Cleveland robbery.

"Eberle and I held up the butcher, his son, and a man customer," he quoted Pleyer as saying. "The butcher sneaked out and got a .45-caliber automatic. He threatened us—even pulled the trigger twice, but the gun missed fire—and I shot him. Eberle shot his son after a fight over Eberle's pistol."

Police in Disguise.

Arrest of the four was credited to Sergt. Bernard Wolf of Cleveland, and Sergt. Thomas Brown of the Chicago force. They frequented a North Side district in disguise until they encountered an acquaintance of the girl. She was arrested at a rooming house.

Officers kicked a revolver out of Eberle's hands when they burst into his apartment. They said it was the weapon used in the Cleveland killing.

Police said Gordon would be prosecuted for the Chicago robberies and the others taken to Cleveland for trial. Police there held murder warrants against Eberlie, Pleyer and Helen Herman.

MIDDLEMEN'S PROFIT INVESTIGATION VOTED

House Sends to President Appropriation of $150,000 for Trade Board Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The House adopted yesterday and sent to the President for signature a Senate resolution ordering a Federal Trade Commission inquiry into middlemen's profits.

The measure directs the commission to find out not only why the farmer gets so small a share of the consumers' dollar but whether middlemen are making exorbitant profits through watered stock, fostering monoplies, fixing prices, and using fraudulent grading and warehousing methods.

To prevent the legislation returning to the Senate in the last minute rush of business, the House shouted down an amendment by Representative Dingell (Dem.), Michigan, calling for a study of the price spread in meats.

Dingell, who comes from Detroit wheer housewives are striking against high meat prices, said the amendment was intended only to insure that the meat situation would receive adequate attention.

Chairman O'Connor of the House Rules Committee said it was hoped the commission will "first take up the price of meat, about which there is so much agitation."

The resolution authorizes a $150,000 appropriation for the inquiry. The commission would be told to hand Congress Jan. 1 an interim report on its progress and on July 1 a final report embracing recommendations.

CITY IS SUED FOR $2030 BY COAL FIRM OVER CONTRACT

Action Is Result of Refusal to Pay Higher Price Than Stipulated Figure.

Refusal of city officials to pay the St. Louis & O'Fallon Coal Co. a higher price for coal than that stipulated in a contract, was made the basis of suit for $2030 filed yesterday by the concern in Circuit Court, alleging it is entitled to the increased price by virtue of a clause in the contract that the price could be increased to balance any increase in wages to coal company employes.

Filing of the suit followed decision of Budget Director Meyers, Associate City Counselor Senti and Comptroller Nolte that the city should not pay more than the contract price of the coal without court decision, in view of the fact that the alleged wage increase to employes was predicated on a shortening of hours under NRA, later held unconstitutional. Under NRA regulation, the working hours at the coal company were decreased from eight to seven a day without corresponding reduction in wages.

Five other coal contractors have similar claims for varying amounts against the city.

MOVE TO BAR WAITRESSES' DRINKING WITH CUSTOMERS

Excise Commissioner Anderson Says He Is Considering Order Against Practice.

Excise Commissioner Thomas L. Anderson told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he is considering issuing an order prohibiting woman employes of liquor taverns from drinking with customers. He believes that in some taverns woman employes drink with customers to induce the latter to purchase more drinks.

A ruling by Anderson, prohibiting women from being served at bars, went into effect Aug. 14. Yesterday, former State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, author of the old State bone dry law, now repealed, questioned Anderson's authority to make such a ruling, asking by what power the Excise Commissioner could make one rule for men and another for women.

Replying to McCawley, Anderson said today that his order was not an infringement on women's rights, but merely stated that he would revoke the license of any tavern owner serving a woman at the bar, a regulation which he was empowered to issue under local liquor ordinances.

MISS BLANCHE STAMP.

FARMER ACCUSED OF KILLING MAN AND WOUNDING WOMAN

Surrenders at Macon, Mo., Jail as Posse Hunts Him; Says He Fired in Self-Defense.

MACON, Mo., Aug. 24.—James Hunt, 48 years old, surrendered yesterday at the jail, as a posse with bloodhounds sought him for the fatal shooting Thursday night of Chester Noland, 42, a salesman of Savannah, Mo., and the wounding of Miss Blanche Stamp, 37, a neighbor of Hunt. Noland and Miss Stamp were shot while hunting in a wood.

Sheriff Williams said Hunt asserted he shot in self-defense.

"But I learned otherwise," the Sheriff added. "Hunt met the couple out in the woods and after asking them what luck they were having went on a little ways, turned and killed Noland with one shot. Then he started firing at the woman, wounding her in the side and leg. She fired at Hunt with a shotgun and inflicted a slight wound in the head.

Noland was a friend of Miss Stamp's family. He visited them on several occasions."

Hunt was named in a Coroner's jury verdict as the person who killed Noland.

Pine street, from Twelfth boulevard to Fourteenth street, is unpaved and covered with a light surface of gravel. Pine, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth, is paved with the exception of a portion of the south side of the street.

Other streets in the Plaza, which is bounded by Twelfth, Fifteenth, Pine and Market streets, and includes the block bounded by Olive, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Pine streets, are paved.

MAN SHOT TO DEATH; APPARENTLY SUICIDE

Body of C. J. Sutter With New Rifle Found Near Creve Coeur Lake.

The body of Charles J. Sutter, a resident of the North Side Y. M. C. A., was found in woods at Creve Coeuf Lake this morning.

Apparently he had killed himself. He had been shot under the right eye. His left hand held the stock of a new .22-calber rifle, which had fallen across his chest. The body was on its back on newspapers. Beside it were Sutter's straw hat, two boxes of cartridges and a canvas gun case. The store tag had not been removed from the rifle.

Charles Heldman, of Creve Coeur, found the body at 9 a. m. when hunting squirrels a block south of the Creve Coeur street car loop. He notified Deputy Sheriff Frank Lewis, who had the body removed to the mortuary of Baumann Bros. in Overland.

Sutter, who was 74 years old, was seen leaving the Y. M. C. A. with a gun case under his arm yesterday morning or Thursday morning by Harry Wemhoener, secretary, who was unable to fix the exact time. Wemhoener recalled asking: "Are you going rabbit hunting?" Sutter called back: "No, rabbits are no good at this season, but I will bring you a squirrel." Sutter lived at the Y. M. C. A. since April, 1932, and was a jovial and well-liked guest, according to Wemhoener.

Sutter was an electrical engineer and formerly was employed at the National Enameling & Stamping Co. on the East Side, according to associates. He was unmarried and is survived by a brother, Dr. Otto Sutter, 6360 Washington boulevard, and several nephews, one of whom, Orville Sutter, identified the body.

Agrees With Father Coughlin.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME, big Communists or Socialists, do not like Father Coughlin because he is not of them. Some, advocating a dictatorial form of government, which he has not advocated, do not like him. Some do not think that the 16 points which he co-ordinated as a platform for the National Union for Social Justice are what is or all that is needed to bring about a desirable economic order.

Some of his religious faith do not think it becoming of him to step outside his appointed sphere to discuss matters which they think he should consider temporal. Some, not of his religious faith, do not agree with him on anything, just for that and for no other reason. Some, being agnostics or atheists, do not agree with him because he is a religionist. Some do not support him because of their uncertainty as to his sincerity and as to his ultimate objective. Some cannot accord him any credit because it is he and not themselves who is discoursing and trying to bring about a change in human relations.

All of these, as individuals and groups, are entitled to their opinions, and what is more important, are entitled to express them to their satisfaction. Truth, driven into temporary obscurity, ever has a way of reappearing to the discomfiture of those who, through ignorance or with willful intent, attempt to suppress it.

When Charles E. Coughlin, in support of his advocacy of a central bank for the United States, makes the assertion that the bankers within the nation are but the retainers—at a price—of the international banker, he speaks the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and by so doing he renders a service to every citizen of this nation. An Auto Accident Victim's Views.

THE officers in Carondelet Township tell me that they are being severely criticised for arresting drivers passing on the wrong side of the center line, and that they are accused of speed-trap tactics.

My car was struck by another car which, in passing traffic, ran on the wrong side of the center line on U. S. 67 just north of Mehlville. This is a four-lane highway. A friend and I were painfully injured, and my new car is a total wreck.

I believe that these officers should have the fullest co-operation of the public and that every violator should be prosecuted in order to impress on drivers the importance of staying on their half of the road at all times, especially on four-lane highways, which are being built at great cost to make driving safer. R. J. RAMMING.

The Path to Despondency.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHAT is to become of single men without dependents? Should they join the army of bums, hoodlums, beggars, hijackers, bank robbers, starve or spend a useless life in a transient camp as a parasite upon the taxpayers of the nation?

Thousands of single men who were once honest and reliable employes have become discouraged because they were unable to find work and followed the line of least resistance. A vast number have lost self-respect and do not care for law, order or respectable society; in the end, they will be forced to pay society a debt by serving a term in prison, which will not be justifiable, because they were denied a right to earn an honest living by working for it.

It means despondency and despair, no chance, no hope for the future, for the unemployed single men. To avoid their utter ruin, why not give them a chance to earn an honest living? It is almost impossible for a single man without dependents to find work. The laws of nature requires that a person eat and sleep, but where under the present conditions? This is a question for respectable citizens to solve.

I belong to the multitude of homeless, penniless, ragged and unemployed single men. I am a victim of the special privileges for the favored few. I am not eligible for relief and if I were, who wants relief? Not I! Give me economic liberty or give me death. E. C.

Complains of Police Harassment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I HAVE made three short visits to St. Louis in the last 10 years and each time I was stopped by the police and apparently for no reason thrown into jail. This summer, about the first of June, I was given two weeks' vacation, which I decided to spend in your city. Not long after my arrival, two policemen stopped me on the street and, after questioning me, took me to jail in the patrol wagon. This was at 8 p. m. Saturday. I was then searched, accused of various crimes, including the Lansing prison break, and finally released after being held 16 hours. The police told me to stay away from St. Louis. I wonder why. I paid my way there. I have worked for a packing house for 10 years.

I chose the wrong city to visit when I picked St. Louis. BASIL SIMS.

THE COTTON SITUATION.

With presidential approval, the AAA has announced it will lend 9 cents a pound on the 1935-36 cotton crop, as against 12 cents on the 1934-35 crop. A concession, however, was made to the advocates of a higher loan figure by lowering the standards of cotton eligible for loans. Last year, loans were made on seven-eighths-inch middling cotton or better; this year, the minimum is thirteen-sixteenths-inch low middling cotton. It is estimated this reduction will permit loans on about 200,000 bales more than last year.

One of the immediate effects of the announcement was an indignant outburst from Southern Senators. Senator Byrnes of South Carolina proposes to circumvent the AAA action by an amendment to the third deficiency bill directing the Commodity Credit Corporation, through which the loans are made, to advance farmers 12 cents a pound. Senator George of Georgia accuses Messrs. Roosevelt and Wallace of yielding to the demands of shippers and shipping interests. Senator Bankhead echoes that sentiment. Another immediate effect was a large drop in the quotations on cotton futures. A third and most significant one was frenzied buying by representatives of Japanese and British textile manufacturers.

The crop loan program, begun in the fall of 1933, is designed to prevent the depression of cotton prices by enforced marketing on the part of farmers who find themselves unable to hold out for better prices. Under it, the farmer borrows money on his crop and then waits for an advantageous moment to market it. If he obtains a price higher than the loan, he reimburses the Government, pockets his profit and the transaction is completed. If he cannot obtain such a price, the Government keeps the cotton and the farmer's obligation is discharged.

In 1933-34, during a period of rising cotton prices, the Government lent $99,498,491, at the rate of 10 cents a pound. Of this figure, only $326,078 remains unpaid, meaning that farmers were able, by and large, to market their cotton advantageously. The reverse was true of the 1934-35 crop, on which $237,982,786 was borrowed, at the rate of 12 cents a pound. Only $3,338,021 of this sum has been repaid, meaning that the Government warehouses are stuffed with 3,846,434 bales of cotton from that crop alone. Cotton prices declined from 13.27 cents per pound in August, 1934, to 12.15 in July, 1935.

In other words, the Government has guaranteed the cotton farmer a definite return. It is like guaranteeing labor a minimum wage. If it continues the guarantee at a figure close to or above the market price, it will soon find itself overburdened with cotton, just as the Farm Board found its granaries glutted with wheat. It is easy to see that this course may be disastrous not only to the Treasury, but to the cotton farmers themselves, because the Government-owned cotton is bound to hang over the market like the sword of Damocles.

In reducing the loan figure to 9 cents, Messrs. Roosevelt and Wallace are evidently trying to withdraw gradually from the cotton experiment, which the latter, at least, has always regarded as a necessary, but dangerous, stopgap in a great emergency. Mr. Wallace knows it has succeeded, in the past two years, in making the South comparatively prosperous, but he also knows that that prosperity may be likened to the deceptive flush on the cheeks of a fever patient. For, while the price of cotton has been artificially increased, the South is losing its foreign cotton market, which, in the past, has always absorbed the greater part of the annual crop.

It is absurd to suppose that to maintain the American price of cotton at a differential above the world price can be good for the South. In the long run, it spells calamity. Symptoms of that calamity are already abundant. Cotton production in Brazil, Egypt and other parts of the world has taken a sharp spurt since the AAA experiment. Cotton machinery in England, historically a large user of American cotton, has been altered to handle the somewhat different fibers produced elsewhere than in the United States. These and other signs show that the foreign trade on which the South depends has been slipping away.

The United States can never absorb the entire cotton production of the South, nor is there any crop the South can turn to that will take cotton's place. It is, therefore, high time that the administration should take such steps as will tend to recapture the lost foreign markets and to retain those which the South still holds. The 9-cent loan means a more or less free market. It means an approach to normality. It means the administration is retreating from a policy ruinous in its ultimate possibilities.

The Southern Senators who declaim against the action, in their eagerness for immediate gravy, are false to the long-run interests of their section.

A SATISFACTORY ARRANGEMENT.

The Senate has approved the appointment of an additional Federal Judge for Missouri to serve in both the Eastern and Western districts. This is a satisfactory arrangement, one which should have the approval of the House. Creation of another judgeship in the Kansas City district, as proposed by Senator Truman, would have established a new Judge in a district which is so well up with its work that its Judges have time to help out elsewhere. Here in the more populous Eastern District, the dockets have been congested for a long time. Missouri needs not two more Federal Judges, but one more, free to serve where needed, and this is what the bill of Senator Clark now provides.

JOHN G. WINANT—A GOOD SELECTION.

President Roosevelt's appointment of former Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire, now assistant director of the International Labor Organization at Geneva, to be chairman of the new Social Security Board augurs well for the capable administration of the Social Security Act through which old-age pension and unemployment insurance funds are to be built up.

As we said last week in connection with the President's approval of this legislation, grave doubts exist as to the practicability of some of its provisions. Much will therefore depend upon the way in which the law is administered. Chairman Kennedy and his associates on the Security and Exchange Commission have shown how the wise administration of a law can dispel misgivings.

The selection of Gov. Winant as head of the Security Board is happy for a number of reasons. As a three-term Governor, he proved himself to be an administrator of vision and industry. Second, the security of the average citizen has been with him a special concern; under his leadership, New Hampshire became known as a trail blazer in social and economic legislation designed to attack the depression in a practical way. Third, he is a Republican, prominent enough in the ranks of his party to be mentioned frequently as a possible presidential nominee.

The implication in this last fact—that partisan politics will be kept out of the administration of the act—is highly welcome.

ST. LOUIS' HIGH DEATH RATE.

Two facts in the broad and detailed report of Dr. Joseph F. Bredeck, City Health Commissioner, stand out as provocative of serious thinking by St. Louis citizens and public officials. First, the St. Louis death rate for 1934—13.99 per 1000 population—was the second highest among the cities in its population group, those of 500,000 inhabitants or more. Second, the city's expenditures on public health—53 cents per capita—ranked near the bottom among these cities.

Is there a connection between these two facts? Barring minor fluctuations, there must be, or public health efforts will have to be dismissed as useless. Dr. Bredeck is convinced that there is such a connection. He asserts his conviction in the significant phrase, "Health protection is purchasable." For proof, he cites the figures for other cities in general, and specifically Detroit, whose death rate, 8.8 per thousand, is the smallest among the large cities and whose expenditure of 90 cents per capita for health protection is among the highest.

St. Louis, meanwhile, had a total death rate in 1934 that represented an increase over the 12.6 per 100,000 of 1933 and the 13.2 of 1932. It had an infant death rate in 1934 of 61.4 per 1000 live births, surpassed only by Baltimore, with 65.3. St. Louis' infant death rate was an increase over the 45.7 of 1933 and the 53.8 of 1932. The local death rate from diphtheria, a preventable disease, was 4.51 per 100,000, second only to Pittsburgh's 5.4.

Such facts and figures, and Dr. Bredeck's comment that "we seem to expect the health worker to deliver a $2,000,000 health protection service on less than half a million dollars," should be objects of grave concern for St. Louis. The total expenditures by the City Health Division for the last fiscal year were $449,661. This, Dr. Bredeck says, is inadequate to provide sufficient public health nursing personnel, for provision of important infant, child and maternal health service. It would be far better for the city to economize in other fields than to see this shocking record of public health continue.

QUERY.

Stockholders in Associated Gas & Electric have brought suit against Hopson and other officers to reimburse the company for the $1,000,000 spent in lobbying against the holding company bill. Are they employing as counsel former Secretary of War Hurley, who has insisted that he was "representing the investors"?

WE SING A REPORTER.

Meet Francis Stephenson, the White House correspondent of the Associated Press.

Lobbyist Bernard Robinson of Associated Gas & Electric is an engaging fellow. Our correspondent describes him as boyish, affable, with an ingratiating personality. What is more important, he was fully equipped, in the fight against the holding company bill, with the means of making his personality felt. He had two large cars and a small one, a generous supply of liquor, an unlimited expense account. He entertained high officials of the Government. No visitor to his apartment—presidential secretary, Senator or humble clerk—ever went away without a drink if he wanted one.

A grand fellow, Barney. That was the word that went around Washington. "Meet you up in Barney's room." "We'll stop by Barney's for a cocktail before dinner." That's how it was. The story's all there in Barney's testimony before the Black committee, some of it in terms, some between the lines.

But about Francis Stephenson. The ingratiating Barney asked Stephenson to apprise him in advance of the contents of a radio speech that the President was to deliver. It would be a ten-strike for Barney if he could tell his employers that he had a pipe line into the White House via the Associated Press.

But Francis Stephenson wouldn't tell him a thing. The lobbyist got the information he wanted, but he had to go elsewhere for it.

There would be no point, ordinarily, in recounting an episode of this kind. Reporters every day and everywhere are being true to themselves and their craft. Honorable conduct, happily, is still not news, of the man-bites-dog variety, in the panorama of human life. Our only reason for singling out the failure of Lobbyist Robinson to get what he wanted from Reporter Stephenson is the heartening contrast it makes with the success of Lobbyist Robinson in other directions.

Meet, therefore, a hard-boiled reporter, to whom it was all in the day's work to give Lobbyist Robinson a metaphorical kick in the slats. We don't know what Stephenson said to him, but we doubt whether we could print it if we did.

Italy may remember Adowa, but, officially, it has entirely forgotten Garibaldi.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE PENSION BILL.

A purported description of what caused President Roosevelt to sign the Spanish-American War pension bill is given by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen in the Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round. They say that Mr. Roosevelt not only fully intended to veto the measure, but had even outlined the details of his message. "Then the political boys got his ear and talked cold turkey." Mr. Roosevelt was told that the veterans were up in arms against him since the bonus veto; that the Rhode Island election was in part a demonstration of this fact; that a veto would unquestionably be overridden by Congress, to the further damage of the presidential prestige. After much talk of this kind, the President agreed to sign the bill.

It is a logical tale. Never since the President was inaugurated has he performed a more complete flip-flop than he did on the Spanish War pension bill. That bill completed the wreckage of the President's National Economy Act, passed at the outset of his administration. It reversed his oft-repeated opposition to the principle of the service pension. It flew in the face of everything he has said about the veterans' question since March, 1933. It is inconceivable that the President has changed his mind on this subject. The only reasonable explanation is the one given by Pearson and Allen, namely, that he was moved by political expediency.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Problem of Neutrality

REDUCED to its simplest terms, the problem of neutrality is this: How much are we going to insist upon our right to do in time of war the things we have a right to do in time of peace? In actual practice, because we are separated from Europe by an ocean and must ship our goods by sea, the problem of neutrality in a European war is bound to take this form: Shall we allow the belligerent with the stronger navy to regulate American trade in the war zone, or has American trade certain "neutral rights" which we are prepared to defend even if it means going to war with the stronger Power?

Consider, for example, the impending war between Italy and Ethiopia. Italy commands the seas and can, therefore, stop any shipments of goods to Ethiopia. If we acquiesce, we say in effect that whoever has the stronger navy may obtain American supplies. If we do not acquiesce, we would have to be prepared in the last analysis to go to war to break the Italian sea power.

Now, suppose that Great Britain should go to war with Italy. Since Britain has the stronger navy, Britain would assume the right to say what may be shipped to Italy. Having acquiesced in Italy's blockade of Ethiopia, would we then acquiesce in Britain's blockade of Italy? Or would we risk a war with Great Britain in order to preserve the right to trade with Italy?

This is very complicated, but the problem, though not the solution, becomes clear if we keep firmly in mind that the choice is between (1) letting the stronger naval Power regulate maritime trade, and (2) challenging the stronger naval Power in order to enforce "neutral rights."

This is an unpleasant dilemma. In a little and localized war, such as a war between Italy and Ethiopia, it would, however, present no very serious difficulties. There is no Ethiopian navy. No American shipment will be able to reach Ethiopia directly, and Ethiopia will be unable to stop any American shipment to Italy.

But in the large war that may develop out of this war, the difficulties would be formidable. Britain has no such absolute naval superiority over Italy as Italy has over Ethiopia. Therefore, Italy could attack trade with Britain while Britain was attempting to blockade Italy. This was precisely what happened in the World War when the Germans used their submarines.

Under such circumstances, it is hard to avoid being drawn into the quarrel. As long as one side is absolute master of the seas, it is easy to stay out of war by letting that side regulate trade. A one-sided neutral trade can continue under the protection of the stronger naval Power. But if neither belligerent is absolute master, if control of the seas is in dispute, neutral trade has to run through the zone of fire. Then there is violence, lives are lost and the situation becomes intolerable.

A neutral policy which is not prepared to deal with this situation is an unrealistic policy. It meets the easy cases and evades the hard and dangerous ones.

For a nation seeking to avoid any kind of diplomatic entanglement, there would seem to be only one logically consistent way to deal with the situation. It would be to take the position that all trade with belligerents is a private risk; in other words, that the flag does not protect trade with nations at war. This is a revolutionary principle in the United States, though it is in fact the principle by which the Scandinavian countries, Holland and Switzerland maintain their neutrality. They simply do not attempt, except by words, to defend "neutral rights." It is the only neutral policy which is reasonably certain to keep a nation out of war under almost all conditions.

But even this policy is not a simple one for a country like the United States. For the question will inevitably arise as to whether we should protect trade between America and some other neutral as against the claim of a belligerent that the goods are going to be reshipped to his enemy. Thus, if we renounce the "neutral rights" to trade with Ethiopia, what would we do about our right to trade with Egypt when Italy stopped it on the ground that the goods were going to Ethiopia? The only complete solution of this problem would be to renounce the defense of neutral trade rights in the whole European and African world.

A policy of this sort would never be popular. It would mean the destruction or the disorganization, not merely of war trade, but of perfectly normal trade. The worst aspect of it is, however, that a great Power which so completely renounces its rights would be regarded, the world being what it is, as so utterly pacific that anyone could safely injure it or dishonor it. Someone would sooner or later carry insult too far, and then suddenly the nation would throw off its pacifism and strike out violently to avenge its honor and restore its pride.

Yet so long as our supreme purpose is to stay out of wars rather than to prevent them, it is on these lines that a policy will have to be framed. The practical question is: How much of the system of neutral rights has to be renounced in order to avoid trouble? Congress seems to think that if we give up shipping munitions and stay off the ships of belligerents, that is all we shall have to renounce. But it would soon be plain in the event of an important war that no line can be drawn between munitions and raw materials or food, and that the most dangerous entanglement has not been avoided by a mere munitions embargo.

A policy of withholding protection from trade with belligerents would work out curiously in Europe. It would enable the League Powers, that is, Britain and France, to use the League's machinery without interference by the United States. It would be a left-handed way of co-operating with them, by removing the obligation to interfere with them. They are the stronger naval Powers. If they decided to blockade an aggressor, the fact that we were not enforcing neutral rights would enable them to obtain American supplies and to withhold them from the "outlaw" nation.

It may be, therefore, that those who wish to preserve neutrality by avoiding entanglements and those who wish to preserve it by encouraging the League to prevent war could find common ground in the principle that America would not fight to protect its trade with nations that are at war. In European wars, at least, such a policy would probably tend to support the League Powers, with a minimum of entanglement for this country. How it would work in Asia or in South America might be a very different matter.

Recognition for the Caddy

From the Mobile (Ala.) Press.

LET the world of golf divert its attention for the moment from its Joneses, Sarazens, Cruickshanks and Littles, those god-like figures everybody knows, and pay tribute to a name obscure in life but far too splendid to be forgotten in death. We are referring to the late Walter H. Saunders of St. Louis, an attorney who was wont to pursue the elusive par on his city's courses before the grim reaper struck him down.

Of Mr. Saunders' ability as a golfer, we know less than nothing. Our guess, though, is that he played even as you and I, which is nothing to boast of. But that Mr. Saunders was a great gentleman we have positive proof. In his will he established a $500 trust fund, the income of which is to go annually to the Bellerive Country Club caddy with the best record for "honor, courtesy, efficiency and who sets the best example for his fellow caddies."

That is all the St. Louis Post-Dispatch tells us about him, but that is enough.

The caddy is ordinarily the forgotten boy. It's caddy this and caddy that, but seldom more than a meager tip when the last game's over. The caddy has inherited the sad mantle of the whipping boys the British Kings once employed for their royal sons.

When no other alibi is in sight, the caddy will do excellently. He can always be accused of rattling your clubs when you dubbed that drive. You can blame him for throwing you off your game because he failed to find the ball you drove into that water hazard and holes back. You can load him down with equipment formidable enough and heavy enough to stagger a Western burro, but all you say to that is that he probably steals balls when nobody's looking.

How he gets out to the club is none of your business, and how he gets home again concerns you not at all. You don't reprimand him, but you would blush to thank him when he slyly moves your ball into a better lie in the rough.

A golfer who remembers the caddy in his will is deserving of a memorial himself. Mr. Saunders has made an ancient and honorable game still more honorable.

KENTUCKY SCENTS A PLOT.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

MISSOURI, "daughter of Kentucky" having commercialized bluegrass seed on a large scale, evinces an inclination to covet the mother Commonwealth's title of the "Bluegrass State."

The boast is made by a grower that he exports seed to Kentucky. The report is that the original Missouri crop sprang from seed carried out and planted by homesick settlers from Kentucky. The tradition is more than plausible.

That the pioneer Americans out there came from Kentucky is well known. Daniel Boone moved across the Mississippi. General Doniphan went out from here. Names of places and political divisions reveal their origin. Missouri has 40 counties bearing distinguished names similarly honored by Kentucky.

Missouri will never wrest the name of the "Bluegrass State" from her mother, not only because the title is too ancient and rooted for transplanting. The Kentucky bluegrass is a distinctive region within itself, encircling knobs, so unique in its singular beauty as to require some designation by which the picture of it left on the memory can be recalled.

Northwest Missouri may raise quantities of bluegrass, and good bluegrass, at that, but the Missouri River plain, leveled during the Ice Age, is typical prarie, and nobody driving through would inquire how far it was to Lexington, or Paris, or Versailles, Ky.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.

THE eight-months' session of Congress was like the World War—the victor was almost exhausted by the struggle, and much of the conflict was behind its own lines.

Legislatively, the administration emerged on top of the heap. With justice New Deal ballyhooers can "point with pride" to the fact that there were enacted:

The $4,000,000,000 works-relief program.

A tax bill.

The central bank bill.

The Wagner labor disputes bill.

The Guffey coal bill.

On the surface this is an impressive record. Few sessions can equal it. Yet, when the legislative tally sheet is examined in detail, it becomes clear that the President actually fell short of his goal. The laws on the statute books were put there only after terrific battles, and in some cases are drastic modifications of the acts Roosevelt desired.

This was the case despite unprecedented majorities in both branches of Congress.

The Reasons.

EVEN some of Mr. Roosevelt's close friends believe he has himself chiefly to blame for this.

They point to the momentum of the record-breaking popular indorsement in last November's elections and to the tremendous majorities in the House and Senate. The fact that despite this, he was able to wring only compromises from Congress, they attribute to three factors:

1. Roosevelt's failure to backstop himself on Capitol Hill with able, loyal, fighting leaders.

2. His lack of carefully thought-out plans and objectives.

3. His failure to stand firm on his demands, plus the impression among his own ranks that if he were resisted with sufficient vigor he would give ground.

Weak Leaders.

AMONG New Dealers there is much private resentment against Speaker Joe Byrns, Chairman John O'Connor of the Rules Committee, Democratic Whip Pat Boland and other House leaders who went against administration measures.

This could have been a different story if the President had asserted his authority last December.

The scramble for the leadership posts was a wide open fight, and Roosevelt was strongly urged by some of his advisers to throw his weight behind men who believed in him and would fight to the last inch. But he did not do so.

The result was that reactionary, back-slapping Joe Byrns grabbed off the honors—and the President paid for it every day of the session.

Lack of Plans.

THE President's failure to formulate specific programs and measures is graphically illustrated by the tax and central bank bills.

Early last December, Treasury advisers urged him to include a tax plan in his legislative program. They submitted a comprehensive and detailed list of desirable enactments. Roosevelt was sympathetic to the objectives, but did nothing about them.

Then in May, when talk of adjournment was on everybody's lips, he suddenly sprung a tax message on Congress.

It was a stirring declaration, but that was all there was to it. Behind the bold words there was no substance. It was followed by no bill, no schedule of rates, not even a demand for immediate action.

It was three days later, after Senate liberals had announced there would be no adjournment without a tax bill, that the President added his voice to the demand.

In the weeks of tax hearings that followed, the White House refused every request from floor leaders for an indication of its desires. Secretary Morgenthau, closest Cabinet officer to the President, was summoned before the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees. He expounded at length on generalities. But about rates and schedules he would not say a word.

Central Bank Bill.

THE history of the central bank measure closely parallels this record.

As drafted by Marriner S. Eccles, young, able Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, the President permitted it to be sent to Congress. But that was as far as he went. For months he refused to have it branded as an administration measure—even though it was one of the most vital and far-reaching reforms of his regime.

As a result Senator Glass and other Old Guard monetary spokesmen were able to rifle the bill of part of its potency. As enacted, it is still an advance over the existing privately-controled credit system, but falls short of what it might have been had the President supported the form proposed by Eccles and put through the House by Representative Henry Steagall, Chairman of its Banking Committee.

Poor General.

A CLOSE friend of the President recently described him as "a Happy Warrior but a poor general."

Few Presidents have stood up under the terrific ordeal of that grueling office with as much good humor, high spirits and excellent health as Mr. Roosevelt. His personal charm still works its magic.

But the politicos, canny judges of men, discovered the weak point in his armor.

If they yelled loud enough, if they raised enough fuss and furore, if they sabotaged an important administration bill in committee, they knew they could wring a concession on something else from the White House.

Merry-Go-Round.

HERBERT HOOVER will not remain in Palo Alto very long. His friends have heard that he expected to be East again next month. . . . When Harry Hopkins asked Hallie Flanagan to leave Vassar and direct theater projects under WPA, she asked a salary of $10,000, explaining that her professor's salary plus lecture engagements netted her that much. Hopkins offered her $6000. She took it. . . . The Navy now plans to establish an air base in the Virgin Islands. The harbor, St. Thomas, is half an hour by air from San Juan, Puerto Rico, a full day's flight from the Panama Canal. . . . One of Tugwell's big problems is where to send all his new little children to school. Having taken over Subsistence Homestead projects, he finds most of them have no school facilities, and nearby towns don't want the children because the homesteaders, on Government land, pay no taxes. Tugwell is trying to raise tuition money for them by applying to his friend Aubrey Williams, director of Youth Administration. . . . Charley Curtis, ex-Vice-President, wants to see for himself whether anything really happened in Rhode Island. He has packed his bags and left for Providence "for a vacation." . . . The 175,000 persons on relief in North Dakota have received 300,000 pounds of prunes since Aug. 1, supplied by the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation.

BILL AMENDING FARM ACT SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT

Measure Designed to Broaden Powers of AAA and Strengthen Its Legal Position.

SEEKS TO RATIFY PROCESSING TAXES

Pushed Through Congress After Supreme Court Test This Fall Became a Probability.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt today signed the bill amending the agricultural adjustment act.

The measure, a result of efforts begun in Congress 18 months ago, is designed to broaden AAA's powers and strengthen its legal position. It was pushed through this session after the Supreme Court killed NRA codes and a Supreme Court test of the farm program this fall became a probability.

The measure seeks to ratify the processing taxes under which $900,000,000 already has been collected. It authorizes continuation of rental or benefit payments in connection with acreage and production adjustment agreements.

Statement by Roosevelt.

The President made the following statement in signing the bill:

"This legislation supplements and strengthens the original Agricultural Adjustment Act, enacted May 12, 1933, which unquestionably has been of great value to American farmers. It carries forward the agricultural program on the broad economic basis of the original act.

"This act as a whole will enable the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to move forward in its constructive and essential work in behalf of agriculture."

Processing Tax Clause.

Should the Supreme Court hold the processing taxes invalid, the bill provides that a processor may obtain a refund only on taxes which he can show to have not been passed on to consumers in increased prices, nor to the producer in decreased prices.

The processor would have to file a claim with the commissioner of internal revenue and a transcript of hearings and findings of the commissioner would constitute the court record when suit was filed.

The President is authorized to impose an import limit on any commodity found to be interfering with the effective operation of the farm program.

Thirty per cent of customs receipts under the tariff laws—estimated at $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 annually—may be used for premiums on exports of farm products, indemnifying losses on exports, paying additional benefits to farmers in connection with the adjustment program, and diversion of farm commodities into channels into which they would not go ordinarily. Cotton would be exempt from this provision.

Other Provisions of Bill.

The measure also is designed to:

Extend the cattle purchase act and provide $10,000,000 to be used with unexpended balances to eliminate diseased cattle.

Let the President use for public purposes submarginal lands acquired with work relief funds.

Extend the Bankhead cotton control and Kerr-Smith tobacco control acts for two years with approval of producers.

Enact a similar potato control measure, providing for production quotas and taxes on production in excess of quotas.

Put into operation the so-called "ever normal granary plan," authorizing the Government to acquire agricultural commodities pledged as security for Government loans and to make payments "in kind" to producers who co-operate in the adjustment programs.

$25 a Month Party Chief In Alberta Outlines Plans

Evangelist Who Is Expected to Be Premier, Tells Capital Not to Worry—Plans Tax on Farm Products.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 24.—William Aberhart, Calgary evangelist and teacher, whose Social Credit League defeated the United Farm Party in the election Thursday, told business leaders today that they had nothing to fear.

"There is no need for capital to be alarmed over the election of a Social Credit Government," he said. "Nothing detrimental to their interests will be introduced so long as capitalists are not exploiting the people."

Aberhart's answers to questions about the $25 monthly payment is: "No person can say how soon we will be able to pay the basic dividend because we do not know what difficulties may arise in the pathway of building the foundation of a new social order. Such matters will need now to be investigated by experts."

Losers in Power 15 Years.

The balloting, which ousted the United Farm Party, in power for 15 years, and ignored the Liberals who were considered the opposition, netted the Social Credit League, unheard of two years ago, At least 58 seats out of a total of 63.

"The voting has manifested to the world," he said, "that the people of Alberta are determined to put an end to the great problems of depression."

As business men studied the platform of the Social Credit League, 750,000 Albertans awaited fulfillment of the partys' promise of $25 monthly in credit certificates for every man and woman. The plan is intended to eliminate the dole. It has been estimated the scheme will require the raising of $120,000,000 a year.

Each citizen eligible for the monthly payment will be given a book of certificates to be cleared through a "State Credit House." The certificates will have the purchasing power of money within the province. No new money will be issued.

Plan of Finance.

The money necessary to finance the payments, the new political leader of the province said, will be raised by extracting a percentage of the price paid for farm products after a "just price" has been set for the producer. The payments will never decrease, but rather will increase, he said.

A wife will get the payment as well as her husband, and children between 16 and 20, will receive from $5 to $20 a month. Any person refusing to work will not receive the dividend.

Aberhart, although not a candidate in the general election, had stated that he would accept the Premiership if his followers invited him to do so. That this will be done, no political leader doubts, as Aberhard has at all times been in complete control of the situation as far as his party is concerned. He personally selected every social credit candidate who offered himself in the election.

The platform to which the Social Credit candidates are pledged:

Banish poverty from Alberta. Pay a basic dividend—tentatively set at $25 a month to every citizen. Establish a "just price" for both producer and consumer. No new money would be used. Non-negotiable securities would be used for the purchase of goods and services. The basic dividend would be collected by levy.

YOUTHFUL DEMOCRATS HEAR HOOVER ASSAILED

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 24.—The national convention of Young Democrats entered its second day today with the Constitution a favorite topic with speakers. A reply by party leaders to former President Hoover's criticism of the Roosevelt administration also marked the opening session yesterday.

Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania last night told the delegates that "if it appears the nation cannot be rescued without another amendment, then amend we must." He made his statement after saying "we've changed the Constitution with 21 amendments and regretted only one of them."

Gov. Earle assailed the Hoover foreign trade policy and praised the New Deal for turning "the eyes of the country in upon itself." The fundamental change wrought by the New Deal, Earle said, was that "the center of gravity has swung away from New York toward the Middle West, where it belongs."

Duffy Cites Hoover on Power.

Previously United States Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin asserted New Deal policies were mild as compared to emergency powers for the President advocated by Hoover in an appearance before a House committee planning legislation in 1924.

Referring to a recent statement of Hoover that "for two years the liberties of the people have been trampled on," Duffy said 10 years ago, when the Republicans were in power. Hoover "was all for giving the President unlimited power in an emergency." Further, Duffy declared Hoover at that time wanted even "absolute suspension of even such guarantees of liberty as the writ of habeas corpus" and "unlimited despotic power in a time of national emergency."

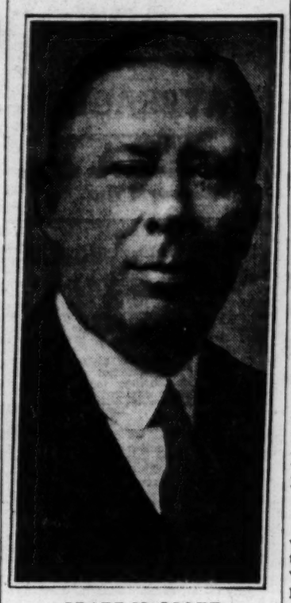

As Gov. Earle finished speaking, John Roosevelt made an unexpected entrance after flying from the East. Stepping to the speaker's stand, he said his father was unable to come because of the press of business and his brother, James, because of illness.

Delegates to Choose President.

Interest today centered around the selection of a national president to succeed Cliff Woodward of Des Moines. A late but intensive campaign was started for George Williamson of St. Paul. Others who were in the field early included Ralph Chambers, Picher, Ok.; Joe Carr, Nashville, Tenn.; Frank Wickhem, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Joseph H. Leib of Washington and South Bend, Ind.

Prospects of a convention floor fight over Roosevelt patronage policies dimmed when the Wisconsin delegation in caucus voted down a resolution criticising "the recent trafficking with the La Follette radicals." The resolution finally adopted commended the President for "his ability and his administration."

BRIDGE EXPERT DIES

GRATZ M. SCOTT.

GRATZ M. SCOTT, HEAD OF CAVENDISH CLUB, DIES

Former St. Louisan, One of Country's Leading Bridge Players, Was 53 Years Old.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Gratz M. Scott, former St. Louisan, president of the Cavendish (contract bridge) Club, died last night at his Park avenue residence, after a month's illness of complication of ailments. He was 53 years old.

He was considered one of the country's leading bridge players. He became president of the Cavendish Club in 1926 and was credited with bringing it to a position as one of the most influential bridge clubs in America. He was born in St. Louis and educated in public schools there.

He served during the war as field director for the American Red Cross at Jefferson Barracks. Before that he was a salesman for a wholesale bakery concern.

His wife, Mrs. Mabel G. Hanna Scott, five brothers and three sisters survive.

OLD AGE PENSIONS START IN DECEMBER

Local Board Will Be Ready to Receive First Applications About Sept. 1.

The newly-appointed Old Age Assistance Board for St. Louis will begin receiving applications for State old age pensions about Sept. 1, Dr. R. Emmet Kane, one of the three members of the board, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today. An office for the board will be established on the first floor of the Municipal Courts Building in quarters formerly occupied by the city's psychiatric clinic.

Dr. Kane, Mrs. Fred A. Reid and Charles Hertenstein who constitute the board will meet to organize about Sept. 3 when Hertenstein returns to St. Louis from a vacation. Dr. Kane said.

To Recruit Volunteer Staff.

Dr. Kane conferred yesterday with W. Ed Jameson, chairman of the State Eleemosynary Board, which, under the State law, is empowered to administer the provisions of the old age pension act. Following the conference, Dr. Kane said that inasmuch as no funds were provided for local board employes under the law, a volunteer staff of about 25 would be recruited from the employes of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Provident Association and Jewish welfare organizations.

It is expected that about 15,000 applications will be filed in St. Louis, Dr. Kane said. He estimated about half of this number would ultimately receive pensions. He said the first pension payments would be made in December.

Applicants must have passed their 70th birthday and must make applications on forms supplied by the local board. Maximum payments are $30 a month for a single person and $45 for married pairs, but Dr. Kane pointed out that not all would receive the maximum amounts, as the amount needed in each case will be determined by the local board consulting with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Rule for Hospital Patients.

Patients in private hospitals and public institutions except the jail, workhouse and sanitarium, will be eligible to receive pensions, provided they withdraw from these institutions, according to Dr. Kane. Blind persons receiving a State blind pension, who are more than 70 years old, may receive an old age pension if they give up their blind pensions, but may not receive both.

Inasmuch as no funds have been provided locally for maintenance of the Old Age Assistance Board office here, applicants for employment in the office must apply to the Eleemosynary Board at Jefferson City. The members of the local boards in St. Louis and other cities and counties of the State receive no compensation.

ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, Aug. 24.—While the Orphir rode at anchor yesterday in Little Cove, Kinsale, Capt. Henry Russell and Second Officer Horne made a trip in the ship's launch to the mainland to pick up John Hurley, a farmer. He led them to the spot near Charles the Second Fort where he was standing when he saw the Lusitania sink.

Capt. Russell, using a compass equipped with an azimuth mirror, charts, parallel rulers and other paraphernalia, took bearings which indicated the Lusitania's position as lying somewhat eastward of the locality which the fishermen, James Hurley (John's brother), William Kerby and Tim Coakley had pointed out.

The whole success of the expedition, when it is resumed after coaling at Swansea, depends on narrowing the area of the search to reasonable limits, and Capt. Russell is almost satisfied now that this has been done. Officers of the ship and William Stephens, echo sounder expert, believe that progress has been made in eliminating false clews and that the way has been cleared for greater activity.

"I see no reason why we should not find the Lusitania next week," Stephens said. "I feel certain that the hulk we first found is the Lusitania. The new lines of search suggested by the fishermen lead us back to the bank on which the wreck was charted before."

When the Orphir rounded Sovereign's Rock, the sea was very rough. We will be in Bristol Channel, across the Irish Sea, today, and will take on coal at Swansea, Wales.

AMERICANS HELD AS SPY SUSPECTS IN JAPAN, FREED

Police Confiscate Camera and Pictures Taken on Ship in Tokuyama Harbor.

By the Associated Press.

The two men, identified as Phillip Maas, a Stanford University graduate, and William Felix, received official permission to resume their journey to Kobe from Tokuyama, Rengo News Agency dispatches said.

Police said they found and confiscated aboard the ship a small camera and three rolls of exposed film belonging to a member of the crew. The pictures were amateurish, they said, indicating espionage was not intended.

General Johnson's Article

Organization of Relief Workers' Strikes Is Shameful and Contemptible, He Writes.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.

THE reaction of some people on relief, to the Government's efforts to supply them with some kind of work to tide over the emergency of this depression is almost beyond belief.

Due to the creaking of bureaucracy, there are just complaints of great and unnecessary hardships that would bring tears to a brass Buddha. This piece is not about that. That will be remedied or I will be kicked out. This piece is about what follows:

Four billion dollars was appropriated by Congress to last a year. There are about 21,000,000 people who must somehow be kept alive out of this fund. That is about 50 cents per day, or $15 per month, per person. On the census available of 4.4 persons per breadwinner, that averages about $60 a month per worker. That's all there is; there isn't any more.

The arithmetic is by no means as simple as that, but that is a fair paraphrase. When the most expert people available have been assembled and put to work on the problem the resulting WPA wage scales varied from $55 to $93.50 a month.

Those figures were arrived at with no thought in the world except justice and equality to the sufferers from this depression. Nobody had an ax to grind. It was like a siege, where scanty rations are divided with an equal hand to keep people alive until the relieving forces of prosperity arrive.

In this effort to be fair, regional differences in cost of living were considered. In the final results, New York City got by far the most generous share of all.

Furthermore, due to excellent foresight and planning by its Mayor and his associates, New York City was far ahead of all other localities in preparation to distribute this work and these funds. It is a literal fact that the machinery is ready now to rid the city of all employable jobless by Oct. 1—our largest city relieved of its curse of unemployment.

The bulk of these sufferers want to get their just share and go to work. But not all.

Elements in some labor unions say: "We won't work unless we get full union rates per hour—the same pay that we get from regular private employment in times of prosperity."

There is a good deal more to their case, but that is the way it filters out.

There are certain groups, like actors and artists, for whom work in their line had to be "invented," against a storm of popular protest against "boon doggling." Communist agitators, whose primary purpose is to create unrest and resentment against government, and who care nothing for the fate of individual workers, organize these people to "strike" against their share of relief funds and demand more.

You can't give one group more because their complaints are louder, without taking away from others who need it as much and have to work harder for it, and so far as I am concerned that will never happen.

Well, it's a new experience to add to a varied collection. I suppose that the old French proverb is true, that to know all that people suffer is to understand all that they do—but it looks like something pretty shameful and contemptible to me.

Son Says Body May Not Be Taken to Oklahoma for Two Months.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24. — Will Rogers Jr. indicated last night that it would be a month or two before his father's body is taken to his native Oklahoma for burial.

At the request of Mrs. Rogers a committee of women from Los Angeles and Glendale churches took flowers presented at the funeral services of the humorist, made them into thousands of small bouquets and gave them to invalids.

The Twentieth Century-Fox studio, where most of Rogers' pictures were made, announced a new $200,000 sound stage now under construction would be named the Will Rogers Stage.

STOCK LIST DEPRESSED BY WEAKNESS IN UTILITIES

Ticker Falls Behind Near Close as Power Shares Sales Increase in Volume and Bring Offers in the Industrials.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Some of the recently strong industrials reversed themselves in today's stock market, under profit-taking pressure eapparently indused by continued weakness of the utilities.

The power issues sagged from the start, and other groups joined them in the final hour. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 1,100,000 shares.

With Congress on the home stretch and the financial sector somewhat confused and nervous regarding repercussions which may follow the passage of hotly contested bills, there seemed to be a disposition on the part of commission house customers to lighten commitments over the week-end.

Cotton was again on the losing side, with the 9-cent government loan the principal motivator. Grains were listless. Bonds were mixed. U. S. Government securities received a little more buying. Foreign exchanges were steady, sterling recovering moderately.

Shares down fractions to around three points included American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, Public Service of New Jersey, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, North American, United Gas Improvement, U. S. Steel, Case, Auburn, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, U. S. Smelting, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, United Aircraft and Montgomery Ward.

The most active selling came just before the close when the ticker tape dropped behind floor transactions.

Further unloading of the power stocks reflected the street belief of holders that the modified "death sentence" in the utility bill may harm many companies more than was at first anticipated.

News of the Day.

No especial importance was attached to the drop in automobile production during the week. Cram's estimated output at 50,585 units compared with 56,386 estimated in the previous week and 52,351 estimated in the corresponding week a year ago.

One explanation advanced in brokerage quarters for the poor comparison with the 1934 week was that a number of plants which were operating at that time shut down earlier this year in order to retool for new models to be exhibited in automobile shows, the dates for which have been put forward.

Recovery forces expressed satisfaction with the statement of the Commerce Department indicating that retail trade is still holding a margin of gains over the same period last year. Wholesale operations were said to be pushing ahead briskly and considerable improvement was seen in the heavy industries. The Department also reported an increase in both exports and imports from June to July, usually a period of decline.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity climbed to 73.7 from 73.1 last week, with better than seasonal expansion shown in steel, cotton, electric power production, residential building and freight shipments.

Wheat became reactionary near the close and ended ⅝@1 cent a bushel lower. Corn was unchanged to ¼c off, while oats lost ⅝@⅞. Cotton declined $1.05@25 a bale. Imported bar silver at New York was reduced ⅛ of a cent an ounce to 65⅝ cents.

The British pound closed with a gain of ⅛ of a cent at $4.97⅝, and the French franc was .00¼ of a cent up at 6.62¾ cents. The guilder, belga and Swiss franc advanced .01 to .07 of a cent. Canadian dollars were 1-32 of a cent improved, at 99.81¼ cents.

Overnight Developments.

Attention of market analysts was still divided between Washington developments and news from the business sector.

Some financial observers pinned hopes for the market's long-term health on the near-by adjournment of Congress. Their view was that with Congress in recess until January, investors and traders would be able to chart the course of shares mainly in terms of news from the trade and industrial front.

Refunding operations to the extent of $50,000,000 by the Socony-Vacuum Co. and $36,383,300 by American Smelting and Refining Co. emphasized the promise of a certain amount of support for stocks, commentators declared.

The new registrations with the securities and exchange commission brought the total for the month to nearly $300,000,000 and the aggregate for the year to more than $1,800,000,000.

Wall street's expectation is that the bulk of registrations up to the end of the year will consist of refunding operations. In some circles the feeling prevails that a substantial part of the proceeds of called bonds may possibly find its way into the stock market, provided the tone of business news remains satisfactory.

Closing price and net change of the 15 most active stocks: United Corporation, 4⅝, down ⅝; Commonwealth & Southern, 1⅞, down ⅛; Anaconda, 19⅝, down ⅜; Columbia Gas & Electric, 10¾, down 1⅛; North American Co., 19¼, down 2½; Otis Steel, 15¼, down ¾; American Power & Light, 6, down 1½; Electric Power & Light, 4⅞, down ⅞; General Gas & Electric A, 1, down ¼; International Telephone & Telegraph, 10½, down ¾; Consolidated Gas, 29⅝, down 1⅝; Radio, 7, down ¼; United States Steel, 44⅜, down 1⅜; National Power & Light, 10¼, down 1⅜; American Water Works, 14½, down 1½; American Smelting & Refining, 45⅞, up ⅜.

COMMODITY INDEX AVERAGES

Other statistical data showing economic trend.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Associated Press weekly index of industrial activity advanced further today.

Better than seasonal gains in steel, cotton, electric power production, residential building and freight movement, boosted the index to 73.7, compared with 73.1 the previous week, and 65.0 a year ago. These gains more than offset a slackening in automobile output.

The index, based on 1929-30 as 100, and adjusted for seasonal variation, follows with corresponding index figures for its six component factors:

WEEK'S AUTO PRODUCTION

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—Cram's Reports, Inc., in its weekly survey of the automobile industry places production for the week ending today at 50,585 cars and trucks, compared with 56,386 estimated for the week ended Aug. 17. A year ago this week the total was estimated at 52,351.

WEEKLY WOOL REVIEW

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—The "Commercial Bulletin" says:

"The movement of wool continues very broad and probably will equal that of a week ago when well up towards 15,000,000 pounds were sold, altogether. The reported sales this week are almost as heavy as they were a week ago.

"The demand includes all grades, but more especially worsted wools. Scoured and pulled wools are rather slow. The trend of the market is against the buyer and medium qualities in particular are higher, slightly.

"The piece goods market is healthy and prices for goods are slightly dearer. Operations in the West have been broader and prices are back to the peak level of a month or more ago.

"Foreign markets are steady, though rather quiet.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The dollar depreciated 13-16 of a point on a quiet market today, closing at 4.97⅝ to the pound, the same as the overnight New York rate. The francs closed at 75.10 to the pound, two pence down.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The volume of bankers dollar acceptances continued to decline during July and at the end of the month the amount outstanding was down to $320,890,746, the American Acceptance Council reported. This figure compared with $343,285,933 outstanding at the end of June and $515,604,714 at the end of July, 1934. The council pointed out that even in normal times when the acceptance volume totaled $1,000,000,000 or more, July was always the low point of the year in acceptance credit demand.

DAY'S FINANCIAL BAROMETER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Additional gold imports lately have expanded the total gains in the country's monetary gold holdings since the end of 1934 to more than $900,000,000. The country's holdings, as shown in the weekly Federal Reserve System statement, compare as follows:

Week ended Aug. 21	$9,189,000,000
Preceding week	9,184,000,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—All dividend changes reported last week were on the favorable side, Standard Statistics Co. announced today. This was a duplication of the record of the previous week. Favorable actions numbered 23 compared with 14 in the period ended Aug. 16.

Domestic customers served by manufactured and natural gas utilities totaled 14,929,000 on June 30, an increase of 91,000 during the six months interval, according to the American Gas Association. Revenues of manufactured and natural gas utilities aggregated $385,795,800 for the first half of the year, an increase of 2.7 per cent over the corresponding period of 1934.

For the period Jan. 1—Aug. 17, the 13 domestic sugar refiners had a total melt of 2,670,000 long tons against 2,250,000 for the like period of 1934. Their deliveries totaled 2,425,000 tons against 2,130,000 in the 1934 period.

Since midweek copper sales both in the domestic and export market have shown some contraction from the volume reported at the beginning of the week. Trade interests assert, however, that the decline in activity has had no effect on prices, which show firmness here and abroad. Domestic metal remains at 8½ cents a pound.

New state and municipal bond offerings scheduled for next week total $24,798,064, says the 'Daily Bond Buyer.' This schedule includes $15,208,500 of bonds of 28 municipalities to be offered for sale on Thursday by the Reconstruction Finance Corp. The revised total of offerings for the past week was $19,892,258.

The New York Stock Exchange has received notice from Armour & Co. of Chicago, that the privilege of exchanging Armour & Co. (Illinois) 7 per cent preferred stock for $6 cumulative convertible prior preferred stock and common stock, under terms of the plan of recapitalization has been extended from Sept. 10 to Dec. 10.

FOREIGN CROPS AND MARKETS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Indications that world wheat production will not expand to former levels during the present year is reported by the Department of Agriculture's foreign crops and markets division.

Government reports show that from October, 1934, to June, 1935, New Zealand shipped more than 16,000 quarters of beef and 23,000 bags of frozen boneless beef to the United States, compared with none during the corresponding period a year earlier.

The total volume of agricultural exports from the United States moved up 15 points during June, due principally to a sharp increase in foreign sales of cotton. In contrast this country imported 3,600,000 bushels more of wheat and wheat flour than it exported during the past crop year.

The volume of all agricultural products exported during the past fiscal year was the lowest in almost 60 years, dropping to an index of 54 with the 1909-14 volume used as 100. The decline in cotton exports was chiefly responsible.

WHEAT MARKET RANGES LOWER ON GRAIN BOARDS

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 24.—Wheat prices were marked down today as securities and cotton declined. Corn also was lower. Wheat was up from day's low at close.

Winnipeg opened ⅛c off to ⅛c up and early was ⅜@½c better. The close was ⅛@⅜c lower.

WHEAT MARKET LOWER ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Declining wheat prices today accompanied selling in the grain market induced partly by the heavy tone of securities and weaknes in cotton. Scattered stop loss orders were forced into the pit on the dip.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 30,803,000 bushels, corn 4,803,000. Open interest in wheat was 105,871,000 bushels and in corn 28,491,000.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent lower compared with yesterday's finish, December 90⅞@91c, and corn was unchanged to ¼ off, December 56½c. Oats lost ⅝@⅞, rye ⅝@⅞, and barley was unchanged to a cent higher. Provisions were lower.

Trading in the wheat market was light early today and prices held about steady.

Sentiment was mixed, would-be buyers being discouraged by failure of Liverpool wheat to reflect yesterday's sharp rally here.

Opening unchanged to ½ cent lower, Dec. 91¼@½, wheat later fluctuated around the previous close. Corn started unchanged to ¼c up, Dec. 56¾@⅞c, and then moved higher.

Hedging pressure acted as a weight on the market and in addition the aggressive speculative buying that appeared yesterday was absent.

Fractional losses in wheat were witnessed during the first hour and were extended later.

There was a disposition among traders to stand by, pending adjournment of Congress, where further commodity exchange regulations legislation is awaiting action.

Cables said forecast of rain in Argentina was a depressing influence on the Liverpool market. Expectations are that Argentina's wheat production will be below last year because of a reduction of acreage and because of moisture deficiency in some sections.

Corn had a steady tone, but the market was thin. Forecasts were for rain over parts of the belt. Oats eased with wheat and provisions were lower.

IRREGULAR REBOUND IN U. S. GOV'T BONDS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—U. S. Governments came out of their decline today to register an irregular recovery. The corporate section of the bond list was mixed. Selling in the final hour of the short session depressed many of the low-priced issues.

Treasury 3⅜s and Home Owners Loan 3s were backward, but other Federals registered gains ranging from 2-32ds to 8-32ds of a point at one time. Federal Farm Mortgage 3s showed the best advance.

Bonds of speculative rating moved in sympathy with the downward drift in stocks, and investment demand for high-grade corporate issues showed some pause in the new wave of refunding operations, in which Socony-Vacuum Corporation and Southern California Edison are taking a leading part.

Rails showed a heavy tone from the start and utilities also felt another selling movement. Industrials had no definite trend. Polish and Italian loans were weak features of the foreign sector.

$50,000,000 Debenture Issue.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Securities Commission announced today the filing of refunding security issues by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co.

The Socony-Vacuum proposed a $50,000,000 debenture issue, bearing 3.5 per cent, due Oct. 15, 1950, to redeem the outstanding 25-year 4.5 per cent debentures of the company (formerly Standard Oil Co. of New York). The company proposes to redeem the old securities at par and accrued interest plus 1 per cent, requiring payment of $50,500,000, the additional $500,000 to be provided from the company's general funds.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES OVER DOLLAR A BALE OFF

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Cotton was lower today under further liquidation combined with foreign selling and not only lost the rallies of yesterday afternoon but made new low ground for the movement. There was covering and trade buying on the scale down but the closing tone was barely steady at net declines of 21 to 25 points.

Cotton futures opened barely steady, 7 to 13 lower under Southern and foreign selling and on disappointing Liverpool cables.

Oct. opened 10.57c, Dec. 10.48c, Jan. 10.47c, March, 10.48c, May 10.50c, July 10.48c.

Business was only moderately active at the start, being restricted apparently by a disposition to await the outcome of the 12-cent loan proposal in the Senate or the effect of the 9-cent loan offer on the marketing policies of farmers in the South.

Prices stiffened up a few points after the call on trade buying and covering but this demand was supplied by further liquidation, together with some Far Eastern selling and a little selling from the South.

Pressure from these sources eased the market off again and before session had gone far October was selling around 10.54 and May 10.47 or about 10 to 14 points net lower.

Cotton future closed barely steady, 21@25c lower; Oct. $10.43@45; Dec. $10.34; Jan. $10.35; March $10.34@35; May $10.36. July $10.36. Spot quiet; middling $10.85.

Memphis Spot Cotton.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 24.—Spot cotton had a steady tone. Middling closed at 10.65c, compared with 10.85c yesterday. Sales amounted to 1300 bales.

New Orleans Spot Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—Spot cotton closed steady, 25 points down. Sales 3131; low middling 9.95; middling 10.70; good middling 11.15; receipts 1285; stock, 250,449.

ALCOHOL BILL REPORT ADOPTED BY HOUSE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Although it was called a "surrender to the liquor and glass bottle lobby," the conference report on the Federal alcohol control bill was approved today by the House. Senate acceptance will make the measure ready for transmission to the President.

The House approved the conference report, 277 to 24, on a roll-call vote.

The critic was Representative Fuller (Dem.), Arkansas, who objected that the final draft forbids the sale of liquor in bulk and exempts breweries from Federal control.

"After this bill has been in effect a while," Fuller told the House, "we will have a bigger liquor scandal than we ever had before prohibition."

Chairman Doughton of the Ways and Means Committee denied Fuller's accusations, remarking that breweries would be subject to state laws.

The compromise of the conferees was a partial victory for each house and indicated speedy enactment of the measure.

The Senate's victory lay in elimination of the House provision which permitted the sale of liquor in kegs and barrels. Some legislators held such sales would throw the door open to illicit practices, though others contended the present setup in the bottled goods trade led to high prices which incouraged bootlegging.

In return for the concession by House members, Senate conferees agreed to permit the new Alcohol Commission to function as a division of the Treasury instead of as an independent agency as provided when the bill originally passed the Senate.

Senators also agreed to permit control of beer with an added provision that Federal beer regulation should extend only to such states as have laws as stringent as Federal laws.

Only this week the House Ways and Means Committee voted 20 to 4 to insist on permitting bulk sales, but shortly after Charles West, former Congressman, now presidential liaison man, conferred with committee Democrats yesterday the group agreed to yield.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN NAMES OF MISSOURI FEDERAL FORESTS

Land Purchase Program Resumed; Options Already Obtained on 867,000 Acres of Land.

Changes in the names of three Federal forest units in the Missouri Ozarks have been announced by Paul D. Kelleter, State Supervisor at St. Louis.

The Table Rock Unit, in Stone and Barry Counties, will hereafter be known as Kings River Range District; Pond Fork Unit, in Christian, Taney, Douglas and Ozark Counties, will be known as Beaver Creek, and the Gardner Unit, in Howell, Ozark and Douglas Counties, will be called Spring Creek in the eastern section, and White River in the western part.

The Federal Government's land purchase program has been resumed in Missouri and landowners are urged to co-operate with the local Federal Forest Service in pushing forward more rapidly the land purchase activities. The allotment of CCC camps in these areas is based on the acreage approved for Government ownership, and with each CCC camp, it means that three to five hundred individuals are taken off the relief rolls. Options on 635,000 acres of Missouri land have already been secured in four of the original forest areas of the State, while options have been obtained on 232,000 acres in other State forest areas, a total of 837,000 acres already obtained.

MAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY IN MAINE GIRL'S MURDER

Crowd Gathers at Biddeford When Young Sawmill Hand Is Arraigned.

By the Associated Press.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 24.—Alexander Cloutier, 25-year-old sawmill hand, pleaded not guilty today to a charge of murdering Florence Grenier, 17, mill worker, who, it is alleged, rejected his attentions. Municipal Judge Lausier remanded Cloutier to jail without bail pending a hearing on Sept. 3.

The girl, missing since last Tuesday morning, was found dead yesterday in a brush pile near here. Cloutier, arrested Thursday, maintained his innocence.

Brought here from the County Jail at Alfred, where he was taken last night, Cloutier was taken through a side door of the Municipal Building while a crowd gathered about the main entrance.

As Cloutier was taken from the courtroom through a crowd in the corridor someone shouted, "grab him," but a sharp push by an officer prevented any possible demonstration.

TYDINGS TIES UP FLOOD CONTROL BILL

$500,000,000 Measure Back in Committee After Threat of Filibuster.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — The $500,000,000 flood control bill is back in a Senate committee, sent there by a three-hour filibuster conducted by Senator Tydings (Dem.), Maryland.

Denouncing and ridiculing the measure as a "graft" bill, Tydings threatened to talk all last night unless it were recommitted to stay at least until next session.

His threat was effective. Near midnight the Senate quit, but Senator Copeland (Dem.), New York, changed his vote at the last minute so he could move for reconsideration of the motion to recommit today.

The bill, passed by the House Thursday and considered briefly yesterday by the Senate Commerce Committee, which added more than $100,000,000 to it, would authorize—but not appropriate—$500,000,000 to be spent on flood control work in all parts of the country, including $30,000,000 for the area recently swept by floods in New York State.

Tydings wound up his filibuster with the assertion that the votes for the bill would constitute a "roll call of shame" and would be so regarded by the country. Crowded galleries burst into frequent laughter.

Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, also fought against the measure with the assertion that "it is an outrage that the Senate should pass a $500,000,000 authorization tonight in 10 minutes without any more consideration than has been given it."

Unless engineer approval of the projects is required, he said, the bill "becomes nothing more than the most gigantic pork barrel legislation in this or any other session."

EVICTED WIDOW SITS ALL NIGHT IN OPEN

Mrs. Anndora Custer, 86, Keeps Watch Over Furniture and Pets, Refusing to Move.

Mrs. Anndora Custer, 86-year-old widow who was evicted by the city yesterday from her rented home at 4024 Gratiot street, spent the night in a rocking chair on the sidewalk, amidst her belongings—three rooms of furniture, some rabbits, chickens and a dog.

She had refused since last May to move so wreckers could raze the house, which was acquired from the owners by condemnation to make way for street widening for an express highway.

After all the other houses on her side of the street had been razed, the city obtained an eviction order against Mrs. Custer. A Deputy Constable set her things on the sidewalk.

"Wrapped in a blanket, I was very comfortable, thank you, except for a draft under my chair," she told reporters today.

She had three suppers, the last at 2 a. m.—sent by sympathetic persons—and some callers, patrolmen who paused on their rounds to chat.

Mrs. Custer, who had lived in the house since May, 1934, the Relief Administration paying the rent and giving her $1.60 a week for food, would have been moved to another house yesterday, but she would not consent when the van appeared at 1 p. m. The movers left, believing she would relent at nightfall, but she remained steadfast in her determination to have her own way.

As soon as Mrs. Custer was out, workmen began dismantling the house, a two-story flat, while she looked on.

A house in North St. Louis, near Lee avenue, has been obtained for her, and the Relief Administration patiently awaited her capitulation.

The Relief Administration is her only means of support. She has a daughter living in Chicago, who, she says, is unable to work.

Tarring and feathering of two alleged Communists recently in Santa Rosa, Cal., was commended yesterday by the Belleville chapter of The American Minute Men, which sent telegrams to the town's Mayor and to the Attorney-General of California.

The Attorney-General was commended for refusing a request of the American Civil Liberties Union to investigate the incident. Santa Rosa's Mayor was praised for representing a city containing "a citizenry sufficient aroused to actively combat subversive activties."

Arthur Eidman, cashier of the St. Clair National Bank, is president of the Belleville organization. The Rev. Howard R. Kelley, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, is secretary.

$6000 PAID FOR RARE STAMPS AT AUCTION

More than 2500 stamps, many of which are classified as exceptionally rare issues, were sold for about $6000 last night during the annual auction of the Society of Philatelic Americans, meeting here in its forty-first annual convention at Melbourne Hotel.

Several hundred persons crowded a small meeting room to attend the auction. The most of the 840 lots of United States and foreign issues offered were purchased by collectors and dealers throughout the country, who submitted their bids by mail.

The highest price paid was $37.60 for a horizontal pair of 1-cent United States stamps, issued in 1851. The catalogue listed the value of this pair at $750. Georges Creed of Philadelphia, veteran stamp expert and auctioneer, who was in charge of the saile, said the stamps were bought so cheaply because one was damaged.

Another rare stamp, a United States 5-cent issue of 1847, accompanied by the original envelope, was sold for $28.50. The value of this issue is catalogued at $115. A pair of this same variety of stamp sold for $20. However, one was badly damaged.

The bidding was spirited for several of the less expensive issues. A block of 2-cent Lincoln commemorative stamps, issued in 1909, sold for $6.40, nearly $ 2above the value listed in the catalogue. Most of the lots offered, however, brought from 30 to 40 per cent of the list price.

Byron L. Wilcox, 5349 Cabanne avenue, received the grand prize for his exhibit of defective stamps, resulting from faulty printing from cracked plates. Wilcox has discovered flaws in the smaller issues of United States stamps, in which only one stamp on a sheet of 200 was printed imperfectly.

Final business sessions were held today and the convention will close tonight with a banquet at which Postmaster W. Rufus Jackson will speak.

PRESIDENT NAMES BOARD TO ADMINISTER WAGNER LAW

Joseph Warren Madden of Pittsburgh, Former Law School Dean, Appointed Chairman.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt named the board to administer the Wagner labor law yesterday.

Joseph Warren Madden of Pittsburgh was appointed chairman. The other two members are John Michael Carmody, now on the National Mediation Board, and Edwin S. Smith of Massachusetts.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said labor could indorse Smith without reservation, but woudl have to give further study to the background of Madden and Carmody.

Madden, a Pittsburgh lawyer, formerly was dean of the law college t West Virginia University. He also taught law at the Universities of Chicago and Ohio. He was a special assistant to the Attorney-General in 1920.

Carmody, an industrial engineer, was chairman of the National Bituminous Coal Labor Board and chief engineer of the Civil Works Administration.

Smith was Commissioner of Labor in Massachusetts, chief labor compliance officer for Massachusetts under NRA and one of the sponsors of the Massachusetts minimum wage law.

Leaders in the steel and automobile industries have indicated they would challenge the constitutionality of the Wagner act.

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORTS BILL TO STUDY FISCAL SYSTEM

Measure Proposes Effort to Find a "Sounder and More Scientific Basis."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The Senate Finance Committee reported favorably yesterday on a bill by Senator Gore (Dem.), Oklahoma, for a study of the fiscal system of the United States with a view toward placing it "on a sounder and more scientific basis."

The measure, which would appropriate $50,000 for the inquiry, calls for a report by Feb. 28, 1937, on the advisability of making "such changes in the revenue laws as will effectuate a more equitable distribution of the burdens of taxation."

It would determine whether "increases in taxation based primarily on ability to pay" were necessary toward this end and also recommend "such decreases and retrenchments in public expenditure as will ultimately and at the earliest practicable date bring revenues and expenditures into balance."

The measure now goes to the Committee on Contingent Expenses for approval of the appropriation for the inquiry, which would be made by a joint committee of 10 Senators and 10 Representatives.

THIS robot information clerk the young woman is operating in Charing Cross postoffice, London, promises to take a load off many a weary employe's shoulders. It answers, at the pressing of a knob, some 50 questions which are asked a hundred times a day in a busy postoffice. When the knob is pressed, after the question has been found on a chart, a card with the answer rises from the well of the machine into the glass-partitioned top.

CONFERENCE ON COAL MINE PAY NEXT MONTH

Passage of Guffey Bill Clears Way for Resumption of Negotiations.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — With the Guffey bill to stabilize the soft-coal industry on President Roosevelt's desk for signature, the way was open for new negotiations early in September on a wage scale for miners in the Appalachian region.

Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, said operators and union leaders would resume conferences after Labor day.

The Senate and House lost little time in whipping the Guffey bill through yesterday, once an agreement had been reached in conference.

Final House Vote.

The House, the last to act, approved the conference report 186 to 150, the 36 vote margin being 10 more than that by which the bill passed originally.

Just before the vote, Representative Reed (Rep.), New York, again raised the question of constitutionality. He said "an attempt is to be made to rewrite the Constitution' and asked members to remember their oaths to support that document.

As finally enacted, the bill contains the Borah amendment prohibiting suspension of the anti-trust laws in behalf of complying operators.

MOTHER OF FOUR SHOT TO DEATH AT OWN DOOR

Decatur (Ill.) Police Take Estranged Husband in Custody for Questioning.

DECATUR, Ill., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Sadie Sunderlik, 47 years old, the mother of four children, was shot and killed last night as she entered the rear door of her home.

Her 11-year-old daughter, who was standing at her mother's side when Mrs. Sunderlik was felled by two blasts from a shotgun, told the police that the shots apparently were fired from the alley as she and her mother opened the screen door.

Mrs. Sunderlik's estranged husband, Stanley, 54, who lived next door, was taken in custody for questioning. A shotgun was found in his house, but the police said they had not been able to determine whether it had been recently fired. Sunderlik said he did not know who shot his wife.

WOMAN TO OBSERVE 104TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Helen Van Amburgh, Webster Groves, Has 13 Great-Grandchildren.

Mrs. Helen Jane Van Amburgh will celebrate her 104th birthday tomorrow at her home, 451 Lee avenue, Webster Groves, with four generations of her family gathered around her. She is 100 years older than the youngest of her 13 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Van Amburgh, who sewed for the soldiers of three wars and recalls Gen. Grant before he became famous, resides with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Salveter. During the past year failing eyesight and hearing have compelled her to forego her former pastimes of reading the newspaper and listening to the radio.

On her 100th birthday Mrs. Van Amburgh reviewed for a Post-Dispatch reporter the recollections of a century.

"I'm glad I have seen the things I have seen," she observed, "happier still that my path has been close to friends and loved ones. But I can't say why I've lived so long. All I know is that I take each day as it comes. I have eaten what I wanted and as much as I wanted. And I do not fear the future. Just another wonderful, wonderful world."

MRS. ZOE HODGES SAYS SHE DOESN'T OWN TAVERN

Merely Employed There, Asserts Woman Arrested Charged With Contributing to Minor's Delinquency.

Mrs. Zoe Hodges told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday that she did not own the tavern at 6948 Manchester avenue, but merely was employed there. The Post-Dispatch stated Thursday that she was the owner, in an account of her arrest under a warrant charging her with contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl. The account was based on a police report referring to "Mrs. Zoe Hodges' tavern" at that address.

The girl, Mrs. Hodges said, was not employed at the tavern and was a sister of her son's wife, who was separated from him.

Dykes Signs to Manage the Sox Again Next Year

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Louis Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, American League baseball club, announced today the signing of Jimmie Dykes to continue as manager of the team in the 1936 season.

FINE FIELD ALREADY ENTERED IN 15-MILE MIDGET AUTO FEATURE

The "Catfish Special," reputed to be the fastest midget racing car in the country, will be driven by Harold Shaw of Chicago, in the 75-lap, 15-mile Welcome Inn Sweepstakes Tuesday night on the final program at Walsh Stadium.

This racer, which is designed along the lines of a catfish, will also be driven by Ronney Householder when he will attempt to establish a new speed record for midget racing cars on the salt plains of Utah. The Catfish will be put to the test in one of the early events leading up to the feature when Sir Malcolm Campbell will try and make his six-ton Bluebird move at a 300 mile clip.

The Welcome Inn Sweepstakes, with a purse of $1000, already has attracted one of the greatest fields ever to compete in a tiny car race. Besides Shaw and Householder and Nalon, who was the first to enter, Reflow has received signed entry blanks from Tony Gulotta, down to drive a new creation built by Leon Duray; Frank Brisk, veteran of eight Indianapolis races; Lou Schneider, winner of the 1931 Indianapolis Speedway Classic; Jimmy Snyder, Tony Willman, Cy Drew, Pat Warren, Art Foley, Paul Russo, and six local enthusiasts, including Marshall Lewis.

OPERA STAR WINNER IN MOTORBOAT RACE

SHUTE RETAINS LEAD IN $4000 GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 24.—Denny Shute produced his third par-breaking round in succession today to hold the lead in the $4000 Hershey open golf tournament with half the field reported in the third round.

Shute roamed the treacherous Hershey Country Club course for a 71, two under par, and wound up, with only 18 holes to go, possessing a three-stroke advantage over his nearest rival.

The holder of second place, Jimmy Hines, of Garden City, L. I., posted an even par 73 today, after a spell of erratic putting on the last four holes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Giants preserved their hold on the National League leadership here when they stopped the Chicago Cubs and took the third game of the series, 9 to 4.

Hank Leiber led in the uprising by hammering out two home runs in two times at bat in one inning, his nineteenth and twentieth of the year. Mel Ott also hit a home run in the second inning and Leroy Parmelee contributed a triple. Ott's clout was his twenty-eighth of the year, giving him the National League home run leadership.

Parmelee, despite the big lead given him, failed for the fifth straight time to finish a starting effort.

Tex Carleton started for the Cubs and was routed in the second. Roy Henshaw and Clyde Shoun were also pummeled during that second inning before Kowalik came in and ended the inning, Casey finishing for the Cubs.

DISCOVERY WINS WHITNEY STAKES AT SARATOGA

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—With only two days of rest following his first defeat in nine starts, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery came back today to win the eighth running of the Whitney Stakes at Saratoga. Mrs. William Ziegler Jr.'s Esposa was second, and Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Good Goods third while Hindu Queen, stablemate of Discovery, completed the field.

Discovery, held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 10 to win the purse of $3125, let Eposa, the outsider in the field, set the pace for the first half mile. Then Jean Bejshok shot the big chestnut to the front and he merely breezed the remainder of the distance. At the finish he was two lengths in front of Mrs. Ziegler's three-year-old and was clocked in 2:04 3-5 for the one and one-quarter miles.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The Fighter, winner of three straight races for Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way Farm at Arlington Park, today won the $10,000 Grand Union Hotel Stakes at Saratoga. Ogden Phipps' White Cockade was second and Snark from the Wheatley Stable third in the field of 14.

Held at 4 to 1, The Fighter lived up to his name as he ran second during the early stages of the race, took comamnd at the three-quarter mark and then pulled away to finish with one and one-half lengths to spare over White Cockade. The latter, running coupled in the betting with Snark as the James Fitzsimmons entry, stuck his head in front at the three-quarter pole but was unable to hold his advantage and just managed to beat his stablemate by a half-length.

The victory was worth $8700 to the Chicago owner of The Fighter, which now has won five of his six starts.

BISMARCK UNDEFEATED IN SEMIPRO TOURNEY

The other surviving teams are: Shelby, N. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Negro Red Sox, Yuma, Ariz.; Shawnee, Ok., and the Denver Negro Stars.

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 23.—The "Never-Give-Up" Cardinals lived up to their name this afternoon and their four-run rally in the ninth defeated Casey Stengel's Dodgers, 10 to 7, for their third straight victory in the series.

James "Ripper" Collins was the big hero in the big rally. With two down and the bases filled, Joe Medwick beat out a grounder to drive in the typing run. The "Ripper" followed with a double to right center which scored Martin and Rothrock and Medick.

Trailing 7 to 6 as they went into the ninth, the Redbirds chances looked slightwhenJordanthrewoute looked when Jordan therw out Durocher, the first batter. De Lancey batted for Hallahan and slashed a single to center. Martin doubled off the left field wall, sending De Lancey to third. Van Mungo, pitching, purposely passed Rothrock, filling the bases. Whitehead was sent in to run for De Lancey. Frisch popped to Frey. It looked as though the game was over, but Medwick came through with a grounder to deep short which he beat out, and the fleet Whitehead was across the plate with the tying run, and the bases still filled. Then Collins delivered his three-run double.

The Cards had overcome a five-run lead early in the game. The Dodgers jumped on Paul Dean for a run in the opening inning and drove him off the mound in the third when they scored four runs. Haines followed Paul on the bill, but went out for a pinch hitter in the fifth and was replaced by Hallahan who was knocked out of the box by the Dodgers yesterday.

Medwick hit his eighteenth home run with one on in the fourth to give the Redbirds two runs. They added another in the fifth on three doubles by Davis, Moore and Durocher while the Dodgers also scored a run. The Cards made two more in the sixth and tallied another in the seventh. The Dodgers came back in the eighth and made a run off Hallahan to take the lead and then came the Redbirds' big ninth.

The game:

FIRST—CARDINALS — Martin fouled to Lopez. Rothrock flied to Bordagaray in short center. Frey threw out Frisch.

DODGERS — Bordagaray's grounder took a bad bounce against Durocher's shoulder for a hit. Frey singled to left, sending Bordagaray to third and took second on the throw to get Bordagaray. Stripp flied to Moore, Bordagaray scoring, Frey holding seoond. Leslie popped to J. Collins. Taylor struck out. ONE RUN.

SECOND — CARDINALS—Medwick grounded to Jordan. J. Collins popped a single to short center. Davis lined to Frey, who threw to Leslie doubling J. Collins.

DODGERS—Boyle flied to Moore. Jordan bunted to J. Collins and was put out, J. Collins unassisted. Durocher threw out Lopez.

DODGERS — Benge singled to left. Bordagaray sacrificed, J. Collins to Frisch, covering first. Frey singled to left, Benge stopping at third. Stripp singled to center, scoring Benge, Frey stopping at second. Leslie singled to left, scoring Frey, Stripp stopping at second. Taylor walked, filling the bases. Boyle singled to left, scoring Stripp and Leslie, Taylor stopping at second. P. Dean was taken out and Haines went in to pitch for the Cardinals. Taylor reached third and Boyle second on a double steal on first ball Haines pitched. Jordan was purposely passed to fill the bases. Lopez popped to Durocher. Frisch threw out Benge. FOUR RUNS.

FOURTH—CARDINALS—Martin struck out. Rothrock walked. Frisch flied to Taylor. Medwick hit a powerful drive off the left-field wall. The ball bounded back over Taylor's head and before the Brooklyn outfielder could recover it Medwick raced around the bases and scored behind Rothrock. It was his eighteenth home run of the season. Incidentally, it was the hundredth run scored by Medwick this year. J. Collins popped to Frey. TWO RUNS

DODGERS—Hallahan went in to pitch for the Cardinals. Taylor singled to left. Boyle fouled to J. Collins. Jordan bunted safely toward third, Taylor stopping at second. Lopez walked, filling the bases. Benge flied to Rotchrock, scoring Taylor, but Jordan was trapped between second and third on a cut-off play and retired, Rothrock to Hallahan to Frisch. ONE RUN.

SIXTH — CARDINALS—Frisch grounded to Jordan. Medwick lied to Boyle. J. Collins was safe when Frey fumbled his grounder. Davis doubled to right center, the ball going through a gate which happened to eb open next to the score board. Davis was on his way to third, and J. Collins had scored when Umpire Quigley held up two fingers, indicating that he had ruled it a two-base hit. The Cardinals protested it should be a triple or a home run and all the umpires went into a conference among themselves. The chief point at issue seemed to be whether Collins was entitled to score. Play was finally resumed with Davis on second and Collins back on third. It was announced that the game was being played under protest, Manager Frisch contending that the drive should have been ruled a home run when the ball went out of sight of the playing field. Moore tripled to right center, scoring J. Collins and Davis, making the ruling of the umpires unimportant, but when Moore tried for a home run, he was out, Bordagary to Jordan to Lopez. TWO RUNS.

FLORIDA SHOOTER WINS THE GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP

ROYALL SCORES 145 OF 150 TO TRIM CANADIAN STAR FOR TITLE

By the Associated Press.

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 24. — From Tallahassee, Fla., comes America's new trapshooting champion—Jordan B. Royall, 51-year-old railroad conductor.

He won his new laurels yesterday when he defeated 614 of the nation's best clay target marksmen in the Grand American Handicap — the blue ribbon classic of the trapshooting sport.

It was his first attempt at big time marksmanship, but he broke 98 out of 100 targets from the 20-yard mark, in a roaring wind, to prove that he had arrived.

To keep the championship in the United States, and to give Florida its first champion, Royall was forced to turn back Sam G. Vance of Tillsonburg, Ont., wholesale grain and seed dealer. Vance broke 98 targets of the 100-bird regulation event but shattered only 46 out of 50 in the shoot-off while Royall hit 47.

89 Breaks for Mrs. Hall.

Royall, Florida State Game Commissioner from 1925 to 1929, has won the Florida 16-yard target championship four times, the handicap twice, and the all-around three times since he took up the target game nine years ago.

Mrs. Bunny Sanders of Keyser, W. Va., who lost her North American crown to Mrs. Lela Hall of East Lynn, Mo., early in the week, turned the tables on the Missouri markswoman in the handicap by turning in 90 out of 100 from the 18-yard line to lead the feminine contingent.

Mrs. Hall broke 89 yesterday for a second place tie with her fellow club member, Mrs. Russ Elliott.

Royall received $500 prize money and a diamond medal for his victory. About $20,000 in prize money was distributed during the week, with almost $9000 of it being on the Grand American Handicap.

Stevens Wins Pro Honors.

C. T. Stevens of Zanesville, O., won the professional championship by breaking 94 out of 100 from the 23-yard line.

Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., national singles and doubles champion, wound up in third place after a shoot-off with Albert Suttle of Petersburg, Va., and Dorsie Arnold of Lebanon, O. The trio was knotted at 96-100 in the 100-target class. Arnold took fourth place, and Suttle fifth.

After the five money winners in the handicap, eight were tied with 95 out of 100. They were Oscar B. Franz of St. Louis; Frank M. Smith of Iowa City, Ia.; Harold Artberry of St. Charles, Ill.; P. R. Peterson of Dillion, Mont.; George M. Rosenberry of Ashland, O.; Harold Ward of East Alton, Ill.; Ray Zweiner of Blooming Prairie, Minn.; and J. H. Kretschman of Hamilton, Ont.

Hiestand, during the week of shooting, won the North American Clay target title, the national doubles crown, and the overall championship.

St. Louisan Gains Title.

The champions from the various handicap yardages today with their respective handicaps in yards, were: Walter Beaver, Berwyn, 25; Bill Eldred, Cincinnati, 24; O. B. Franz, St. Louis, Mo., 23; J. H. Kretschman, Hamilton, Ont., 22; J. D. Claypool, Kenton, O., 21; F. M. Smith, Iowa City, Ia., 20, H. Artenberry, St. Charles, Ill., 19; Joe Schuhardt, Newcastle, Ind., 18; J. A. Sargent, Akron, O., 17, and Scott Lyons, Bucyrus, O., 16.

The five winners of the Grand American were ineligible to compete for handicap-yardage prizes.

Six former champions took part in the handicap classic, but the best of them, Walter Beaver of Berwyn, Pa., victor in 1933, came only within five targets of the new king. Beaver had 93, Dana 81, Charles Young of Springfield, O., 88, Mark Arie of Champaign, Ill., 92, Arthur E. Sheffield, Dixon, Ill., 83, and Ike Andrews, Spartansburg, S. C., 91.

Golf Balls Not Standard.

BALTIMORE, Md.—A Baltimore golf professional has discovered that a majority of the balls used today are below weight. The standard weight is 1.62 ounces, but in a test of a dozen different balls he found some as light as 1.44.

Complete Averages, Published Tomorrow, Will Aid Entrants In Babe Ruth's Team Contest

Attention, baseball fans! Complete batting, pitching and fielding averages, the last that will appear before the conclusion of the Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth All-America team contest, will be published in the Sunday editions of the Post-Dispatch.

The figures will include all major league games through last Thursday, and thus will inform baseball fans just how big league players rate this season.

Averages are important! Babe Ruth has shown, in picking previous teams, that he bases his judgment of players on what they have done during the current season. Big names of the past don't count, with him.

Thus, fans who expect to submit teams and get in the running for cash prizes totaling $700, would do well to study the latest available averages before drawing up batting orders.

Remember, these will be the last major league averages to be published before the conclusion of the contest, which ends next Saturday at midnight. Postmarks must show that the letters were mailed before that time to be eligible when the judging starts.

Yarosz has held the title since 1933. He was knocked out by Babe Risko of Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 1 in a non-title bout.

Pirrone outpointed Risko in a match July 8, and Mead said he attempted shortly thereafter to get a match with Yarosz, but that the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission insisted Pirrone "build a reputation" and indicated it looked upon Tiger Joe Randall of Pittsburgh as the logical contender. Pirrone knocked Randall out in a fight last night in Philadelphia.

Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth All-America Contest Rules

The competition is open to everyone, except employes of the Post-Dispatch and their families.

Entries will close Aug. 31 at midnight, and letters bearing postmark up to that time will be considered eligible.

Babe Ruth will list his selections in the order in which he thinks they should go to the plate, and entrants must do likewise.

An explanatory letter of not more than 250 words must accompany each entry and will be passed upon by the judges. This is as important as selecting the players. Babe himself will write an explanation of his choices. In event of a tie, excellence of the compositions would determine the winner. (Write on one side of the paper only and make your selection on a separate sheet.)

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight other players, one for each position. Only one team may be submitted by each contestant.

No corrections will be accepted once an entry has been received and filed.

Players must be selected on the basis of their play in the 1935 season only. Performance of previous years do not count.

A player may be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has played such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field unless he has played there at least once in 1935.

The prizes will be $150 cash for first, $100 for second, $75 for third, $50 for fourth. Then will follow five prizes of $15 each, 10 of $10 each, 15 of $5 each, 20 of $2.50 each, and 25 of $1 each. The next 25 winners will receive baseball bats autographed by Babe Ruth, and the last 25 winners will be awarded league baseballs, autographed by Ruth.

JOE WEBER SETS NEW RECORD FOR DISTANCE CAST

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 24.—Three world records went by the board in the National Casting Tournament here yesterday. One of the new marks was hung up by Joe Weber, St. Louis, Mo., who took the ⅝-ounce bait distance-casting championship and moved up into second place in the race for the allround title. The other two records were broken by Ed Braddon, Cleveland, Ohio, in the salmon fly event.

In the allround competition, Braddon leads with only 10 demerits and Weber has 17. Tony Accetta, defending champion, is out of the race. Accetta won the ⅝-ounce distance event last year. He still has to defend his title in fly casting for accuracy.

Weber beat a fellow townsman, Dr. J. R. Higgins, in the distance bait casting event. Of Weber's three casts, only one fell short of the 344 foot record of Karl Kinnear which had stood since 1931. Weber threw 343, 352 and 359 for an average of 351 1-3 feet, Kinnear's record average was 321 2-3. Dr. Higgins averaged 317, with a best cast of 319.

Braddon cast the salmon fly 164 feet and averaged 158 1-3 to excel the record distance of 162 by Fred N. Peet, Chicago, and the record average of 154 1-3 set by Jules P. Cuenin of San Francisco. Results in the ⅝-ounce distance bait casting event:

Second place in the salmon fly event went to Judge E. E. Cavanaugh, Fort Dodge, Ia., national president, with an average of 145 1-3 and a best cast of 152. Joe Weber, St. Louis, Mo., took third place with 145 1-3 and 152, and Ralph Lyttaker, Seattle, Wash., was fourth with 143 and 149.

Mrs. Ernest Liotta, Cleveland, won the women's accuracy contest with ⅝-ounce bait, scoring 95, one short of the record of 96 set last year by Mrs. Walter Mewes of Milwaukee. Mrs. Mewes was second with 94 and Mrs. Howard Chatt, Chicago, third, with 92.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Going to the Dogs Profitably.

A MAN may go to the dogs profitably, it seems. Take the case of Edward J. O'Hare of St. Louis. Eddie went to the greyhounds. Now look at him. He owns racing plants in three states, all of them money-makers and is in the money to a total of seven figures (estimated).

O'HARE

Only recently one of O'Hare's enterprises rather amazed St. Louisans who happened to see the report that his greyhound racing plant at Taunton, Mass., handled $135,000 on a single night, with 20,000 persons attending the events. That's almost as much as Fairmount race track handled back on Derby day in the period when Matt Winn operated it.

In Massachusetts greyhound tracks are permitted to take out 15 per cent of all money wagered, so that O'Hare's enterprise, in this case had a gross revenue of $20,250 from the mutuels for one day, plus admission and concession profits.

A few such evenings should put a dog track, which operates under an overhead of about $2000 a night, on easy street in a few days. It was an axiom in local greyhound circles, a few years ago, that with 30 days of racing a dog track should pay for itself and make a profit besides.

• • •

He's a Big Shot Now.

SELDOM mentioned in news dispatches, but always active in the interest of greyhounds, O'Hare is probably the "big shot" of dog racing today.

Besides his Boston connections, he is the principal owner and operator of the Miami Beach Kennel Club, about the handsomest greyhound plant in the country, purchased by O'Hare, the late Phil Ball and others from the Tex Rickard estate.

It has been a steady profit producer, despite the fact that it cost several times the investment required for the average greyround establishment.

• • •

It was across the Mississippi River at Madison, that O'Hare first obtained a toe-hold on the dog racing game. This plant, operated in violation of a statute which prohibited mutuel betting after sundown, produced more than a million dollars (estimated) in profits before it finally was closed by enforcement officers.

O'Hare, however, still had a greyhound plant at Chicago, at Cicero, near the Hawthorne racetrack. When the heat was turned on in Cook County, and this track also closed, O'Hare converted it into a half-mile horse racing plant. It continued to be a money-maker and is still operated by O'Hare.

• • •

Active in Lobby.

WHEN efforts to pass bills legalizing mutuels came up in the Missouri Legislature, Eddie's weight was always thrown into the scale in favor of the dogs, although his name seldom appeared in print. It was O'Hare who helped the lobbying forces put a horse and dog mutuel bill through both Missouri houses this spring. But the Governor's veto cut it down and out.

• • •

A Peak of $200,000.

GREYHOUND racing for good or ill, is progressing. In England it is almost epidemic. On one holiday in London THIRTEEN greyhound racing meets were operated, some of them being run off in the morning!

The growth of dog racing has been fought bitterly in this country; but recently the bars have been lowered in several states. The biggest gain noted in this country was when Massachusetts opened its arms to the greyhounds.

In fact, in admitting both horse and dog mutuels to legality, the Bay State placed the dogs in the position of favored child. For, where the horse tracks are permitted to take out only 10 per cent and breakage, the dogs take out 15 per cent of the mutuels.

That seems to be playing favorites. First-class horse tracks have a five times greater investment and a six or seven times greater overhead.

Recently, at the Wonderland greyhound track, Boston, the maximum "handle" ever recorded at a greyhound track was noted. It reached something over $200,000 and of this, the track took out $30,000, of which the States received $7500.

Some 35,000 persons attended and the admissions plus concession and other profits, must have made that night at Wonderland worth at least $35,000 to the track.

With small investments and large profits in greyhound promotion, horse racing sems to be in for more or less of a dog's life.

WILMER ALLISON AND VAN RYN IN DOUBLES FINAL

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 24. — Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, Davis Cup team veterans, rallied at Longwood today to gain the final round of the men's national doubles tennis tournament with a 2—6, 6—2, 4—6, 6—4, 6—3 victory over Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., and Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal.

LOUIS' RISE KNOCKS OUT TEXAS PLAN FOR CENTENNIAL BATTLE

HOUSTON. — Texas will stage a centennial celebration next year and a most elaborate sports schedule is being made. Originally it was hoped to stage a heavyweight championship fight, but now, with Joe Louis looming big in the title picture, Texas is about ready to give up the idea. The State law forbids a ring meeting between white and black. And Texas wouldn't seek any bout other than a championship affair. However, it may be that Jimmy Braddock will still be holding the crown in 1936 and a white opponent located.

NEW SPORTS PLAN AT MARYLAND UNIVERSITY

BALTIMORE. — With the elevation of H. C. (Curly) Byrd to the acting presidency of the University of Maryland, changes in the athletic administration had to be made. Curly for years was head football coach and athletic director. Two years ago he relinquished the coaching job to Jack Faber, but kept on with the duties of athletic director even though he was the institution's vice-president.

There will be no athletic director for the present. Maryland athletics will be controlled by a committee of which Dr. L. B. Broughton a member of the faculty, will be chairman.

Each sport will be handled by the head coach, who will make the schedule and be responsible for everything.

Jack Faber, head football coach will be in full charge of football and a new coach, the veteran Frank Dobson, 20 years at Richmond, has been designated as field coach.

POPPIN' OFF

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.

PARDON me if I repeat myself, but I get burned up again when I see a story in a New York newspaper how the Giants are all tired out, physically weary and that's why they're blowin' their big first place lead. How do they get that way? I haven't heard about any exhibition games they played, while we hit Madison, Wis.; Battle Creek, Mich.; Rochester, N. Y., and Lewiston, Maine, since we left home.

I says to one of the New York writers what do you mean the Giants are so tired, do you know we only got 21 men and have played all these games? And he says never mind the extra games and while you only have 21 men, what men they are. I guess that is the answer.

The way the race looks to me, the Giants probably will finish third. Don't overlook the Cubs too much. Any club that can take six straight from the Giants has to be considered dangerous. And here's a tip. The dark horse of the 1935 race is Ed Heusser.

MYRTLEWOOD FAVORED IN $5000 HANDICAP

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Brownell Combs' crack filly, Myrtlewood, holder of the world record for six furlongs and with one stake victory at a mile racked up, was after a triumph over the mile and a sixteenth route in the $5000 added Lincoln Handicap at Lincon Fields today.

The fleet three-year-old was considered strictly a sprinter when she set the world mark of 1:09 2/5 for six furlongs at Arlington Park. However, she won the Francis S. Peabody Memorial Handicap at one mile at Lincoln Fields. On the basis of her recent triumph she was expected to go to the post favorite at 5 to 2.

Tearout and Ted Clark were the likely second choices, at 5 to 1, with Clang, J. F. Clark's speedster, at 6 to 1. Fifteen were named for the race, and at least 12 were expected to start.

St. Louis Women's Doubles Team Advances to Final in National Parks Tennis Play

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Virginia Baer Dueker and Frances Jacobson, St. Louis representative, entered the final in the women's doubles in the National Public Parks Tennis tournament here this morning, when the Buffalo team of Lydia Kayser and Marie Coogan defaulted its unfinished match of yesterday.

When rain halted play yesterday, Mrs. Dueker and Miss Jacobson were leading, 4—6, 6—2, 5—2.

The St. Louisans will this afternoon meet Esther Politzer and Constance O'Donovan of Detroit for the championship.

Schommer Meets Welsh.

William Schommer of Minneapolis, University of Minnesota and Big Ten Conference champion, opposed the defending champion, Barnard Welsh of Washington in the men's singles final. So far Welsh has marched through the tournament with straight set victories.

In the women's singles final, Lydia Kayser of Buffalo, N. Y., who yesterday eliminated Mrs. Ruth Bailey Prosser, the defending champion from St. Louis, 6—4, 4—6, 6—2, faced the hard-striking Elizabeth Delke of Pasadena, Cal.

Paired with Charles Britzius as the champion doubles team, Schommer lost to Billy Hughes and Cecil Metz of Memphis, Tenn., 6—4, 6—4, 7—5. The latter play Welsh and Ralp McElvenny of Washington, D. C., in Sunday's men's doubles finals.

Mrs. Prosser started off with a careful game, returning consistently while Miss Kayser was whaling away with terrific power, putting everything in each stroke.

When the match was over, Miss Kayser was practically out. Mrs. Prosser was as fresh as a daisy when the match ended.

The Buffalo girl had a fine, hard, low drive and was accurate with her placements. Time after time, her long drives hit the base line sending up small puffs of white. She was deadly with her control, and was hitting the side lines as often as the base lines.

Mrs. Prosser's soft service was no weapon and Miss Kayser tore it to pieces with a vicious driving attack.

Miss Kayser's whole game was speed and power and she was weakening fast. If Mrs. Prosser had been able to change to a fast game instead of the safe return game she was playing she would have ended Miss Kayser's bid in a hurry.

While Mrs. Prosser went down in defeat and surrendered the title she has held for the past two years, the gallery admired her for her game stand and her fine display of sportsmanship.

Mrs. Prosser	—	—153	415	641	3—33	—4
Mrs. Prosser	—	—412	144	354	4—32	—6
Miss Gayser	—	—	—	441	450	47—29—6
Mrs. Prosser	—	—	—	124	234	15—22—2

Baer Will Win From Joe Louis, Dempsey Says

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.

JACK DEMPSEY, former world's heavyweight champion, surprised the fistic world today by declaring his belief that Max Baer would knock over Joe Louis when the pair meet at the Yankee Stadium, Sept. 24. Dempsey is the first expert of note thus far to concede Baer more than an outside chance with the sensational brown boxer. Dempsey qualified his selection of Baer, however, by saying the Livermore larruper must be in shape.

MARYLAND PRODUCES THE LACROSSE COACHES

BALTIMORE. — Another Maryland lacrosse star has taken a coaching job with a big college. Princeton has named William F. Logan to succeed Al Nies. Logan starred at Johns Hopkins.

Happy Middleton at Penn, Bobby Pool at Harvard and Dinny Moore at Navy, are other head lacrosse coaches who starred in Maryland, the hot bed of the ancient Indian sport. At Army is another old time Marylander, F. M. Touchstone.

Princeton has made several coaching appointments this summer. William J. Clarke, veteran baseball coach has been returned to that job. He once was a member of the famed Orioles in the McGraw-Jennings-Keeler days. Ken Fairman was named basketball coach and Dick Vaughan, hockey coach. Logan will be head coach of lacrosse and soccer.

Cards Confident They Will Win Pennant; Ed Heusser's Showing Bolsters Morale

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Imagine the Cardinals when it doesn't matter whether one of the Deans wins or loses and you have the Cardinals of today. Time was when no imagination could be so stretched. But that was before Edward B. Heusser, the Wild Elk of the Wasatch, became a winning pitcher. And that was before Phil Collins got a shot in the arm and became a peppery member of the Redbird hurling corps.

Edward, the Wild Elk, won his second successive start in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Collins, going to the mound after Bill Hallahan had been shamefully supported and the Dodgers had taken a four-run lead in the first two frames, held the enemy to three hits in seven frames and registered one of the twin victories of the day.

No Strain or Tension.

The Cardinals are not worried about today's game. They figure they can lose several now and still be in such a fine startegic position that kind September will see them making their way to another world series.

It may be all wrong. They don't pay off that way in August and they never have paid off in September. But the Cardinals are ready now to wager money, marbles or chalk that the Giants won't represent the National League in the world series and that there will be no traveling between Chicago and the city that wins in the American League. That means that the Redbirds of Frankie Frisch are supremely confident that they will fight once more in October for the honor and glory of the senior major league circuit.

If Paul Dean can show something like the form that made him a sensational figure in the 1934 pennant stretch drive, so much the better, or so much larger will be the winning margin. If Paul is suffering from pains in the sacroiliac region as a result of an accident two years ago, it will make no difference. Bill Hallahan, Heusser, Dizzy Dean, Willie Walker and Jess Haines will be able to take care of the pitching chores. At least that's the way the boys feel now.

What is the reason for all the confidence? Why, a devastating batting attack that has lasted through the last three games. There were 19 hits in the final in Boston, 15 in the opener yesterday and 17 safeties rang off Cardinal bats as the world champions overcame an early Brooklyn lead to capture the second game for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Fifty-one hits in three games is considerable hitting, even against Boston and Brooklyn pitching, and the world champions will be surprised, but not worried, if they don't barge into St. Louis Labor day leading the National League procession.

If there is one man responsible more than any other for the new confidence in the Cardinal camp, that person is Heusser. The young right-hander whipped the Giants in the fifth and rubber game of the recent series at the Polo Grounds and yesterday he looked like a champion as he held the Dodgers to eight hits and one run, blanking them after they turned a pass and a single into a first-inning tally.

Before Heusser showed that he could pitch and win, there was a feeling in the St. Louis camp that the Cardinals were under-manned, that they lacked pitching strength. But Heusser is a hull, a strong-armed young athlete of no imagination and a side-armed fast ball that sinks. He can work every three or four days and if he has control—and he has had it in his last two—the Redbirds think he is unbeatable.

Cuccinello Injured.

Cuccinello was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball in the fifth inning and X-ray photographs showed that a bone in the hand was fractured. Cuccinello will be out for the rest of the season.

THREE OUT-OF-TOWN SOFTBALL TEAMS IN GAMES HERE TONIGHT

Having won six of their last seven games, and displaying a devastating punch in each conflict, the Alpen Braus, tonight, will face the Missouri Pacific Boosters of Kansas City, who open a two-game series at West Side Park. Tonight's battle starts at 9:30 o'clock. The Mo-Pacs end their series tomorrow night against the Lennemans. Duke Kalinich, star of the three pitchers on the visiting team, is expected to face the Alpen Braus.

A two-night series of inter-city softball games will get under way tonight at the National Softball Park, Kingshighway and Arsenal, at 7:30. Tony's Back in Town.

Tony Kaufmann of blessed memory has been recalled from Rochester by the Cardinals. We always thought Tony would pull a comeback.

The Redbirds and the Red Wings have much in common. They comes and they goes.

Al was the victim of circumstances. He was hired to pitch exhibition games and when the exhibition season ended there was no place for him to go but out.

The Cards obtained Eckert from the House of David, the team that specializes in exhibition games and donkey ball. They have been carrying on for years despite the fact that they have been declared unfair to organized labor by the Barbers' Union.

Fisherman's Luck.

"St. Louis Fifth in Casting Event."

Our St. Louis fishermen shine.
But on an inanimate target or mark
They have trouble in getting a line.

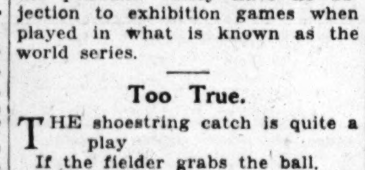

Larry MacPhail who takes more than an academic interest in his ball club objects to having synthetic doubleheaders foisted on him without due notice. Larry thinks he is entitled to know what is going on. He's funny that way.

Max Baer's hands have been examined and pronounced sound by boxing commission physicians. So if Max will cut out the clowning and get down to brass knuckles he might win that fight.

With the exhibition schedule out of the way the Dean boys will have nothing to do the rest of the season but bear down and concentrate on the pennant. They have no objection to exhibition games when played in what is known as the world series.

Too True.

THE shoestring catch is quite a play
If the fielder grabs the ball.
But when the pellet gets away
It rolls out to the wall.

In which event it's just too bad
For him who made the muff;
It gives the second guessing lad
A chance to do his stuff.

A Chicago woman is threatened with jail for being behind in her alimony. Who was it said it is the woman who pays and pays and pays?

Too bad the Shaughnessy plan isn't in effect in the American League. The way they have been going lately, the Browns might be world champions instead of tail-enders.

That's nothing. We know a baker who can cut out and frame the hole in a doughnut like nobody's business.

Stein to Bowl Newton.

The Washington Alleys will open for the coming season today. As an opening attraction the management has booked Ray Newton, formerly with the Wooster Lamberts but this year a member of the Budweisers to bowl a seven-game total pin match against Otto Stein Jr., who lost his world's match game championship to Hank Marino of Milwaukee last season. The match will start at 7 p. m.

NINE WITHDRAW FROM WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 24. — Many of the nation's leading women golfers, who have been tuning up all week at Interlachen Country Club's 6672 yards course, rested today for the opening of the annual tournament Monday with 18 holes of qualifying play.

The total of 94 entrants was reduced to 85 yesterday when tournament officials were advised that nine entrants would be unable to make the trip.

In this group were Marion Fisher, Tuckahoe, N. Y.; Mrs. Philip T. Atwood, Chicago; Mrs. Gregg Lifur, Pacific Palisades, Cal.; Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa.; Miss Betty Peitsch, Mount Bellew, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Herb Kottek, Deal, N. J.

Arrival yesterday of Miss Mary K. Browne of Cleveland, former National tennis champion who turned golfer, brought the number of contestants who already have checked in for practice rounds to 65, with a score of others due today and Sunday.

Miss Peggy Wattles of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake of New York, also reached Interlachen yesterday.

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, five times National champion, and among the favorites to win the title again, carded an 81 on a 40-41 in her second practice round yesterday, while Dorothy Straung of San Francisco had a par 78. Mrs. Vare's 81 was matched by Miss Betty Jameson, Dallas, Tex., star, despite a 7 on the ninth and a 6 on the eighteenth hole. Another Texan, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, had an 83.

Among other strong contenders on the ground is Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, chairman of the National U. S. G. A. committee. Maureen Orcutt Crews, another pretourney favorite, played only a few holes, a trouble from hooks bothering her much of the time.

The finals will be reached next Sunday with 36 holes scheduled for the survivors of the week's play.

Trainer Sietas Is Arrested on Narcotic Charge

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Ernest J. Sietas, a trainer, was charged by Federal authorities today with unlawful possession of narcotics as an aftermath of an investigation of a horse race here last Aug. 13.

Sietas was arrested by Federal agents of the Bureau of Narcotics, acting under the instructions from United States Commissioner H. J. Anslinger. He was the trainer of the mare, Fluffy Lee, in whose saliva morphine was found after she won a race on the thirteenth. The horse is owned by Mrs. C. W. Williams of Glaydon, Md.

The State Racing Commission notified the Federal Bureau of Narcotics of the findings of the commission's laboratory and investigators were sent to Saratoga. A search of the Sietas stable disclosed six bottles of a patent colic mixture highly impregnated with morphine, the Federal agents said.

Sietas was picked up in Albany yesterday and taken to the county jail. He later was released in $1000 bail. Before his arrest the commission had suspended Sietas and his horses, including Fluffy Lee.

200 FOOTBALL COACHES EXPECTED TO ATTEND CONZELMAN'S SCHOOL

The coaches are going to school again.

Jimmy Conzelman's second annual football coaches' school will open its session Thursday, Aug. 29, at the hilltop stadium of Washington University. Approximately 200 coaches of the gridiron sport from the prep schools, colleges and universities of surrounding states will attend.

Among those assisting Conzelman are Cecil Muellerleile, St. Louis U. mentor; Don Faurot, Missouri U., and Gale Bullman, Conzelman's able assistant at Washington.

Last year's blackboard talks and dummy drills will be back again this year augmented by motion pictures of the Bruin varsity in action during spring practice last April. Through the eyes of the movie camera, Professor Jimmy has pictured the different technique involved in the execution of cross bucks, off tackle plays and other phenomena of the gridiron.

The highlight of the three-day school is the coaches' dinner Friday night. Entertainment such as only Jimmy Conzelman can prepare will be one of the features of the evening.

Lectures and discussions of the school will begin at Francis Gymnasium Thursday at 10 p. m.

TENNESSEE'S COACH TO DIRECT PRACTICE FROM 9-FOOT TOWER

By the Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Tennessee's new football coach, Bill Britton, has always favored an elevated post from which to observe the game.

When Maj. Bob Neyland, his predecessor, was sitting on the bench with the Tennessee squad during home games, Britton retired to the press box where he watched enemy plays and telephoned them to Neyland.

Now, as head coach, Britton has erected a nine-foot tower on the playing field from which he watches practices and scrimmages.

"The movable perch,' says Britton, "will be a fine spot to observe scrimmages and pick out the false moves of backs and linesmen as they are drilled.

A "Lucky" Catcher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Anthony Leitz, Minneapolis second string catcher, is lucky to work with. In a Florida semi-pro league he caught three no-hit games in one season. "His pitchers" are winning regularly this season.

TOO FEW HOGS; MANY MAY LOSE AAA CHECKS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 24.—Approximately 16,000 Missouri farmers are in danger of losing 1935 corn-hog benefit checks because of failure to keep production up to the required 25 per cent of their normal accepted base swine crop.

J. W. Burch, State AAA Administrator, pointed out today that "the 1935 contracts not only provide for a reduction of 10 per cent in the base number of hogs but also specify individual production must be 25 per cent of the individual 1932-33 production base."

A State-wide AAA survey on Aug. 15 showed 15,943 hog producers are below the minimum, largely as result of the drouth-induced corn shortage. In order to meet the emergency in aiding farmers to reach the required minimum for benefit payments, State and local corn-hog committees and the Agricultural Extension Service are making surveys to locate surplus breed sows and gilts.

Farmers with hogs on hand under the AAA minimum requirement have until Dec. 1 to bring up hog numbers. Compliance check of 1935 corn-hog contracts will be made then.

"Provisions of the 1935 corn-hog contract are based on the common sense idea of protecting both consumer and producer," Burch explained. Due in part to the abnormal 1934 and 1935 seasons, present hog supplies are short and emphasize the importance of the 25 per cent minimum requirement as a protection to consumers as well as producers."

THREE SUSPECTS CAPTURED AFTER CHICAGO HOLDUP KILLING

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Three men, named by police as members of a robbery gang who slugged to death a country-club watchman, were in custody today. Two others were sought.

Daniel Slattery, 34-year-old cripple, was wounded last night in a running fight with police, as he sat at the wheel of his car, which crashed into a ditch. With him was James Whelan, 24. The third prisoner, Edward Ryder, 25, was found later in a daze, his head creased by two bullets.

William Barry, 55, watchman of the Hickory Hills Golf Club, where the holdup occurred, died a few hours after he had been thrown unconscious on the golf course. He was slugged with pistol butts when he resisted.

TEXAS VOTING ON REPEAL

Proposed Constitutional Change Would Bar Open Saloon.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 24.—Texas is holding an election today on the question of repealing the provision in the state constitution forbidding the sale of hard liquor. The proposed amendment would prohibit the open saloon but would leave it to the legislature to decide what an open saloon is, and would permit local option. There are 800,000 voters registered.

Bishop H. A. Boaz of the M. E. Church, South, has led the speaking campaign against repeal. Supporters of repeal have charged that bootlegging is widespread.

Will Rogers Not There.
Vigilantes Return.
Rosicrucian Mountain.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1935.)

McCLOUD, Cal., Aug. 24.

WHAT is the news? Thousands pass in silence the body of Will Rogers, lying in his flower-covered coffin, with Will Rogers far away. We are creatures of little imagination, content to see the hollow shell and ask no questions.

Ten thousand caterpillars, slowly crawling past an empty cocoon, never asking or thinking about the butterfly escaped from the cocoon, would imitate well a human funeral community.

Where is Will Rogers now? That is the only important question.

Californians disapprove of Communism and Communistic propaganda, and will not tolerate it in their state.

At Santa Rosa alleged Communists are seized, beaten. Two, Jack Green and Solomon Nitzberg, were tarred and feathered.

Dispatches say that "unofficial night riders" are expected to seize and deport Communists.

To the objection that those using tar and feathers had shown contempt for a law the vigilantes reply that, in that direction, the Communists set the example.

It is an unpleasant situation, in a country where every man may vote.

Who can offer sound objection to a plan that permits of majority rule? Is there any better system? Would rule by a small minority, say by the 30,000 registered Communists in this country be preferable?

More interesting than anything in this northern part of California, only 50 miles from the Oregon border, is tall, snow-covered Mount Shasta, rising toward the sky more than 14,000 feet.

When you come here, be sure to visit that mountain; you will find it worth while. All around its foot the great pines and firs are crowding, as though seeking refuge and protection from the giant sawmill which eats trees by the hundreds of thousands every year.

You could imagine the old mountain that has watched the growing trees through thousands of generations, sorrowful, in its inability to help.

About 10 years ago, old Shasta did what it could, and sent pouring down from the lower end of its great glacier a sudden torrent of water, mud and huge stones, that would have wiped out this small city and its lumber mill, had the torrent gone far enough. It spread, slowed down, stopped just in time and the mill goes on, feeding great tree trunks, 10 feet in diameter, to the cruel ribbon saws that dispose of the beautiful trees in a few seconds. Changed into lumber, they make homes for men, which might comfort them.

As a matter of duty, your narrator went to visit Mount Shasta, planning to tell you all about it. To visit a mountain and go 6000 feet up its rocky side is easy, but to tell about it is, unfortunate, impossible.

There is a towering mass, covered with ice and snow, rising upward to a sharp point. From that point, you are told, there once poured fire, smoke and lava. Now it is whitecapped and as quiet as a gray old man telling how wonderful he used to be.

You find it hard to believe the old man, and you find it hard to believe that the mountain, now holding in a fold on its side a glacier with ice 1000 feet deep, was once a roaring volcano.

You cannot tell about a mountain; it is too big. You cannot even believe, although you know it to be true, that a 14,000-foot mountain in proportion to the earth's diameter, is not as high as a slight roughness on the skin of an apple. The earth, with all its peaks, Mount Everest included, is more nearly round than any apple.

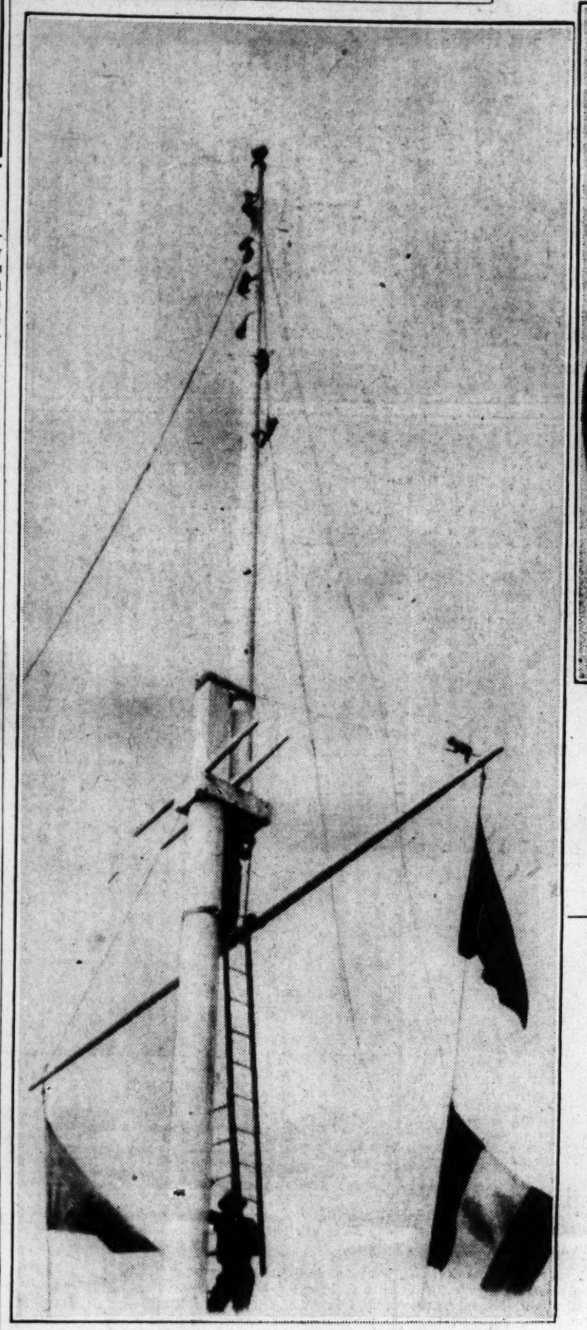

One thing you can say, and will say, after seeing Shasta, close by: Man is a vain creature, and it does him good to look at a mountain that stood a million years ago and will stand a million years hence, as it stands today. The sun's light changes and flashes on the snow slopes, and still lights the mountain top when forests and men below are in the after-sunset shadows.

Man needs to be rebuked for his littleness, and comforted with the knowledge that his struggle will matter little 1000 years hence. A mountain does that, for him.

FUGITIVES FROM A ZOO

Seven of the monkeys that escaped from the Massapequa, Long Island, compound of Frank Buck were "treed" on the animal dealer's 100-foot flagpole. Two attendants, one on a ladder and the other standing on the crossbar and partly hidden by the mast, are attempting to persuade the simians to surrender.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE little fellow is going to school today—for the first time. He's 5 now—the baby days are behind him. Life begins in earnest.

He is to have tasks. He must prove himself. More important than anything else, he will meet competition. He will begin to associate with his fellows.

Dr. Clendening

How will he stand the test? It is a frightening thought, but also an ennobling one, a stimulus for all of his parents and well-wishers.

Certainly he should have every chance to do it well. His body, as well as his mind, will be tested. And he must try to realize the old Greek ideal—"mens sanus in corpore sano."

Too Much Fuss.

Now, I am not one of those who thinks that the little fellow should be overhauled like an automobile about to take a journey, before going to school. If he is plainly healthy, with a wholesome mind and understanding, delighting in play and activity, I certainly do not think it is necessary to send him to a jury of specialists in dentistry, and nose and throating, and heart and lungsery, and eyes and earsery, and everything else. Lots of us went to school before the word "orthodontia" was invented, and some of us did very well. Not that these fellows are not useful in their place and when their time comes—but it seems to me sometimes we fuss too much with the machine.

But there are some things I think most evidently should be remembered for the little fellow before he starts his first day in school. Your family physician will give you all the advice you need about special treatments.

Eyes and Ears.

First, let's be sure he can see and hear well. He has never had these senses really tested in his baby days. No one would notice if he were nearsighted: he himself would not know what it means. Now he has to hear questions distinctly and begin to decipher letters and words. Perhaps he has a slight eye defect or is just a little under normal in hearing. And he might go and fall behind in classes and nobody understand why, with his bright, eager brain.

Then, let us remember his many new human contacts. He has been comparatively alone, up to now. Suddenly he is thrown with several hundred children. Some of them may be just coming down with a contagious disease. Some come from households where there has been diphtheria—they may, all unwittingly, so far as they or their parents are concerned, be carrying around some of the germs in their own mouths or throats. So let us immunize the little fellow to diphtheria, typhoid fever and smallpox, perhaps whooping cough, before we send him off.

dealing with Mussolini. England wants no war. Many typical young Englishmen of education have vowed that they would never again fight for "King and country."

Mussolini has no objection to war, he likes glory and bluntly reminds Englishmen, in private conversation:

"You should not be foolish. You have everything you want; hang on to it. You have magnificent colonies that others would like to have, Hitler, Russia and myself included. Let me peaceably enter Ethiopia and make that vast territory useful to the white race and to civilization.

"Be grateful that I am content to keep busy in Ethiopia. And do not talk of forming a bloc against me, when, with greatest ease, a disastrous bloc could be formed against you."

Stamp Issues By Nations in Latin America

THREE Latin American countries are issuing commemorative stamps for various occasions. A set issued by Costa Rica in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the Virgin of Los Angeles, in Cartago City, consists of five denominations in three designs.

These stamps were on sale for only three days, after which they were turned over to the Archbishop of San Jose for resale. There were 250,000 of the 5c issued, 250,000 of the 10c, 200,000 of the 30c, 150,000 of the 45c and 100,000 of the 50c.

The 400th anniversary of the departure of the Spanish Conquistador, Diego de Almagro from Cuzco, Peru, will be commemorated by Chile. This expedition led to the conquest of Chile and the founding of Santiago. These stamps will be on sale for three months, during which period the current issue will be suspended.

The designs will picture the progress of the expedition and also the modern progress of Chile. The values and quantities of each to be printed are of the 5c 1,500,000, of the 10c 4,500,000, of the 20c 4,500,000, of the 25c 100,000, of the 30c 5,000,000, of the 40c 100,000, of the 50c 400,000, of the 1 peso 300,000, of the 1 peso 20c 200,000, of the 2 peso 100,000, of the 5 peso 50,000 and of the 10 peso 50,000.

Two stamps will be issued by Brazil to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the founding of the governorship of the State of Pernambuco. The stamps will portray the original city of Pernambuco. The values and colors will be 200 reis purple and yellow brown and 300 reis violet and gray black.

WILL ROGERS -:- -:- Sidelights on His Life

By JACK LAIT

Novelist, Short-Story Writer and Playwright.

CONCLUSION.

(Copyright, 1935.)

BROADWAY, where Will Rogers was as familiar as he was in Hollywood, best remembers him in his Ziegfeld "Follies" days. He was a personal as well as professional phenomenon to the "hardened artery."

Single, good-looking despite his ranch mannerisms of dress and carriage, prosperous (he was in four figures weekly from the start of his engagements with Ziegfeld) and easy of approach and easily approached, he was no more a member of the glamorous nightlife of New York's most brilliant era than a New Jersey commuter who never missed his 5:14.

He was the star on the New Amsterdam roof, the most sophisticated rendezvous in American history, where cavorted the scantily draped pick of the glorified dazzlers, where gathered the cream of the metropolitan spenders, and all these idolized and pampered the nimble-witted cowboy whose whimsical quips and effulgent smile and intimate personality won him the town.

When he wasn't working, Will was in retreat. Not that he was a recluse at all, but he shunned the gay places as a "customer," the word he always used in referring to paying patrons. For a while he lived in the Whitehall apartments, on West Forty-Third street in New York where the Times annex now stands; at other times, in the Friars Clubhouse, called "The Monastery" because no feminine foot was ever allowed across the threshold.

Never was his name linked with that of any women—in New York. But in Oklahoma and Arkansas the home folks knew right well that Will was in love with Betty Blake. Their courtship has been pictured as a brief one, but it was far from that. Will and Betty "went together" for at least eight years. I have a picture of them on a picnic in 1902, six years before they were married, and they were smiling into each other's faces oblivious to all the rest.

IN truth, Will was starring in the 'Follies," rehearsing, working and daily and nightly meeting with the most attractive assemblance of young women that the most famous connoisseur of feminine fascination could find after searching the globe, when he ran out on all that, seizing a few days' interim while a new show was being set, to rush to Rogers, Ark., and marry his Betty, a backwoods village school teacher.

She, however, rarely came to the theater, either front or back, but on occasions when the company had community gatherings, such as are customary in big troupes to mark the closing of a run or the hundredth performance or the like, Mrs. Rogers accompanied Will.

In Hollywood, later, when her husband was a world figure, a millionaire and an immortal, she remained, as he did, simple, amiable, devoted to the family. Only when he traveled and at widely separated instances when there were company or group gatherings, was she seen with him. The rest of the time she was at home, a housewife, a mother and a gracious hostess to the handful of intimate friends whom he asked into his domestic retreats, for he had so little privacy and time with his family that his almost stolen moments of home life were priceless to him.

The "Follies" was always in excellent taste, but it was high-spirited and at times spicy, yet Will never delivered a naughty line or worked in such situations as were often found in what the trade called "blackouts" in the smart revues.

Ziegfeld, himself, who rather resented his own comedians in his own show because he took first pride in his spectacles, effects and beauties, all but loathed every other "comic" who ever worked for him. I stood with "Zieggy" one night, behind the last row, as Will Rogers was convulsing the high-paying audience that filled the theatre.

"You know," he said to me, "I'm not supposed to have a very quick sense of humor. Half the great comedians I've had in my shows that I paid a lot of money to and who made my patrons shriek, not only were unfunny to me, but I couldn't understand how they could be funny to anybody. But this Rogers—I never miss him—and you'd be surprised how many of my expensive comics I've run out on and locked myself up in my office while they were on the stage."

ROGERS not only kidded for Ziegfeld, but was one of the few who ever kidded Ziegfeld, himself, a serious, dignified and preoccupied man. What from anyone else would have been impudent, from Rogers was a delight. Rogers could do any uncanny imitation of Ziegfeld. During rehearsals Ziegfeld, impetuous and impatient, would at times leap up from the dark fastness of the theatre, somewhere, and shout "Stop it! Stop it!" And now and then, when everything was serene, Will would jump up and do a startling imitation of him.

Since those "out front" could see on the stage and those on the stage could not see "out front," everything would be stopped instantly, the whole company and crew in panic. Laughter from Ziegfeld, himself, a rarity, would show them that they had been "sold" by the star who was breaking up a hard session with a welcome laugh—a laugh even from Ziegfeld himself.

Nowhere in the memory of the oldest newspaper man I can find is there a record of the passing of a private, civilian citizen rating an eight-day "follow up" series in the national press.

Will, dying instantaneously in so sudden a crash, together with his only companion, left no "last words" for posterity. The last words he uttered that were heard by human ear of any now living person came over the long distance telephone from Juneau to Seattle and thence by radio to Skowhegan, Me., to Mrs. Rogers. He told her then that he might fly on with Post into Siberia and would probably part with him at a coast port to sail for England, where he had an appointment with Winfield R. Sheehan for some time late this month.

Anecdotes about his generosity, modesty and simplicity might be multiplied and repeated ad infinitum. His ready wit fitted all situations and occasions, his big heart comprehended them all. But one, never before written may serve as a closing to this series:

On the morning of Jan. 1, 1934, I was in Los Angeles, assigned to report the football game on that afternoon at the Rose Bowl between Columbia and Stanford. Torrential rains had swept down upon the Southern coast. Landslides had swept trees and rocks into the roadways. In the softer roads, cars were sunk down to their tops. Streets off the main arteries of Hollywood were waist-deep in water and shut off from traffic.

New Year's eve, nevertheless, was reasonably gay. Many who might have gone home earlier, played out the night so that sun-up would help them make their return journeys in the light of dawn. But the dawn came up gray and foggy.

My son and I had undertaken to drive some friends back to Malibu Beach. We turned into wide, splendid Sunset boulevard. But when we reached the low portion near the Botanical Gardens and the polo field, we were warned that the street was inundated, and a Deputy Rangr suggested that the only way whereby we might get through would be to turn to the right, up the high road winding through the mountain foothills and rising a mile and a half.

It was hard driving. We skidded and we skirted precarious ledges. Debris had been washed down and some of the rocks and chunks of earth were as high as our radiator-top. We crept and crawled and twisted and turned. As our headlights, cut through the fog and the rain, at a curve leading to a bridge high in the canyon, they showed up the silhouette of a man. He wore a soggy old felt hat, a raincoat, high rubber boots. In his hand, waving through the almost opaque weather, was a lantern.

We pulled up. He sloshed over and shouted:

"You can't get through . . . bridge is down . . . have to turn back!"

Something in the voice and figure and manner of our animated lifebuoy struck me. I got out of the car and peered more closely. It was Will Rogers!

This star, this millionaire, this crony of kings and geniuses, stood there on that storm-bound mountain-pass, turning strangers back from danger. We shook hands. Will was chewing gum and smiling.

"Pretty sloppy weather," he said. "Hope it stops raining so's it won't spoil the rose parade in Pasadena."

"Foreman of my ranch woke me up," he told me. "I snuck out so's not to wake Betty. Y'see, it's New Year's eve—or morn—and maybe some o' the young folks might have been imbibing, and then they might be inclined to drive through hills and high water. And, say, this is fine fun. I've been here for hours. And you're the first one's come along who penetrated my disguise. Doggone you reporters—you find out everything, don't you?"

It was one thing I found out that I didn't write.

"Please don't," he asked me. "Ev'rybody 'round here's doing his bit in a pinch like this . . . besides, if eBtty don't wake up before I get relieved and back in the ranch-house, she won't find out and be worried for fear I've caught cold or somethin'."

Problems of Social Usage When Dining

Service and Bread and Butter Plates Should Match or Harmonize.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

MUST service plates and bread and butter plates match? (2) What sized plate is used at a buffet meal?

Answer: (1) They should match or at least look enough alike to go well together. It is because of the difficulty of making the place plates for each course look well with the stationary bread and butter plate that I so strongly approve of either glass or silver bread and butter plates. (2) One that is of ample size to easily hold the food you are serving. Nine and a half or even 10 inches is not too big for a main course—especially if there is only one (not counting dessert).

Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: Is a tea wagon a tabu of conventional service? I would like to buy one, as I am a hostess who is greatly handicapped by having only one inexpert and apparently untrainable servant, who must be tolerated because she is inexpensive.

Answer: I don't quite see how a tea wagon helps your untrained servant. She can hardly trundle it around the table, can she? And it is absolutely incorrect for the use that its name implies. As a sideboard on wheels to hold pitchers and bottles and ice for cold beverages at a cocktail party, it might be useful. Otherwise its suitability is limited to the servantless house to carry things from kitchen to dining room and back again. But even then it should NOT be used for afternoon tea.

Dear Mrs. Post: You have written recently that under no circumstances was a hostess to be served first when a woman guest is present. If this is true and the hostess is not served first, then the food on the guests' plates would be cold by the time it could be eaten. If the hostess were served first, the guests' food would at least stand a better chance of being warm by the time they may start to eat.

Answer: The point you make is outside of the precepts of etiquette, because it is not considered necessary to wait longer than until one other, or at most, two others at table have been served, before beginning to eat. On the other hand, the hostess who has herself served first, when there is a woman guest at table, commits the serious breach of courtesy that is often spoken of by foreigners as the great American rudeness. Some time ago I prepared a leaflet giving the history of this behavior, which was sometimes admirable and sometimes not. I am only too glad to send it to anyone who will send these lines to me in care of this paper, and enclose a stamped (3c) self-addressed envelope.

Women Who Are Seeking Business Openings Are Finding Opportunities From Day to Day in the Business For Sale Columns in the Post-Dispatch Want Ad pages.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23.

WE ARE off the "Happiest Marriage in Hollywood" stuff. Maybe they have some perfect wedded bliss now and then but, especially among the younger element, you never can tell. Just a few weeks ago, in writing the story of Joan Blondell's life we bumped into what looked like a lasting romance between Miss Blondell and her husband, George S. Barnes, a firm cameraman. Married less than two years ago and with a bouncing baby boy to cement the union it looked as though the wedding was going to stick. Every one else thought so, too, but, suddenly, out of the clear skies came the Blondell application for a quick divorce. Her chief complaint, at least her chief legal complaint, was that her husband spent too much time reading, even indulging in that pastime when guests were present, thereby causing Joan so much mental anguish that she had to take to a sanitarium.

IDA LUPINO . . . may profit by "Lloyd luck."

You see, the Blondells, father, mother, daughter and her grandparents before her, come of an old vaudeville family. Reading is sorter looked down upon as a sissy trait among vaudevillians and Joan just couldn't stand for it.

• • •

They Try It Though.

Still the movie boys and girls continue to go in for matrimony in a big way and most of the romances go on the rocks in some such trifling way. After a couple of years, which is considered a fair average out here, the romancers just lose their taste for each other and split up. Usually they continue to be pretty good friends even after rushing into another tie-up with some other partner.

There are rumors of other crashes coming in the near future. One of them involves a young star, noted for her flashes of temperament, who married her director and announced that she had at last gotten her outbursts under control. Apparently she has, on the set, but home life may have been something else again.

Harold Lloyd, himself a really happily married man, has put the good luck sign on his marrying leading women and so, following all precedent little Ida Lupino ought to get wedded soon and be happy. All of his previous leading women, including his wife, Mildred Davis, have set Hollywood records for domestic bliss. Now Miss Lupino is in that spot in "The Milky Way" and although her reported engagement to Jackie Coogan seems to have cooled off there are plenty of youngsters hanging around.

Seven girls have preceded Ida in the history of Lloyd films. First was Bebe Daniels, who has been happily married to Ben Lyon for a long time as such things go in Hollywood. Mildred Davis succeeded Bebe and became Mrs. Lloyd. Then came Jobyna Ralston, who retired from the screen when she became Mrs. Richard Arlen. Ann Christy followed, took the vows with a Texas oil man also to retire.

Lloyd's fifth leading woman, Barbara Kent, married Harry Eddington, an artists' manager, and is now enjoying her greatest screen fame. Constance Cummings, number six, married Benn Levy, the playwright, and gave up her career. Una Merkel, Lloyd's most recent co-worker, is happily married to Robert Burla. The record, to date, is perfect.

Among His Souvenirs.

Charles Laughton, who commutes between London and Hollywood, usually travels light. When he arrived here last time he brought along only one traveling bag but when he left for England after finishing his Captain Bligh role in "Mutiny on the Bounty" he was loaded down with baggage. To avoid the mishap of a few days before when his Cyrano de Bergerac nose for the part he is to play in London, blew up, he took six Hollywood made Cyrano noses back with him. Also he took along a half dozen Cyrano wigs for his forthcoming British picture and all the Captain Bligh uniforms which, by the way, were made by a London tailor. Laughton is thrifty and by taking the costumes out of the country he saved the duty on them. True MGM would have paid the duty but Laughton couldn't stand seeing cash going out from even a producer's pocket when it wasn't necessary.

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I START letters and then never finish them. Because, after all, what good can come of repeating conditions that cannot be changed? Reading some of the letters, though, makes me want to just write.

Unhappy? Perhaps. Weary? Much. Yet life is interesting to me and brings me food for thought. I even get tired of thinking. Introspection is not good if it forces brooding.

I was married. That marriage was not destined to last. I will not go into detail except to say it was graced by three beautiful children.

As usual, I lost. My children, by a strange manner, were swept out of my hands. Something over which I had no control, happened. I suffered intensely—indeed, do yet. But even then I took a vow—that no matter what happened, I would never hurt those wee tots.

I think the worst part of it is, the fact, my children do not dream I am alive. And the time might come when I would never get to see them. I might wait too long. For a while I wanted to go home. But that would not help. It would affect their discipline. I would like a congenial arrangement where I could get acquainted with them and have them little by little until they know their own hearts.

By the way, Mrs. Carr, I like to write. Are there any places one could send short stories for the experience? I would not expect pay. At least, not for some time. I have not had journalistic experience nor studied and writing. But my writings are of the things I have seen and heard.

ONE WHO HAS LIVED.

Your letter interests me more than I can tell you. That you have seen clearly your faults makes it all the more difficult for me to feel that even a suggestion from one outside your horizon can explain to you your emotional self and then tell you what your reasonable self should choose. I believe there are such contradictions in every being who is not a moron or a phlegmatic machine. Those who have chosen self-sacrifice, self-immolation believe they have won, out of all the turmoil that life has brought; some settle down in serenity and spiritual satisfaction. But there are others to whom this self-denial and self-effacement brings the death-dealing self-pity of the martyr; and the end to spirituality and even achievement. It is unthinkable that you should be punished to the end of your days for some early mistake, no matter how tragic and with the thought of your children paramount.

I believe a way may be found, which you may not see just now, for you to give yourself a mother's place with these children and win understanding perhaps through them. You say nothing of their ages. I think you know, unless you can reach them through a friend who is a marvel of loyalty and understanding, you yill have to wait, perhaps, for their mental maturity. Meanwhile, you have got to live as fully and finely as you would have them know that you live.

• • •

My Dear Martha Carr:

I AM coming to you for a few answers which I need as I live in a very small place. I would like to know what colors will be worn this fall. Are solid color or printed silks next the rage?

VERY UNDECIDED.

The dark shades of green, wine, brown will be most in vogue with black, of course, greatly in favor as it always it. Gray for fall, done in knitted sports things, looks very smart, but is not likely to last much through the season, as it is a spring and fall color suggestion. Navy blue and the printed things (all of the blues, in fact) belong to the spring and summer fashions; this year particularly having seen a real rage for blue. But this color is not at all a general favorite for winter, as it is a cold color; however, some women choose it and cling to it the year round.

• • •

Dear Martha Carr:

I WONDER if you would be so kind as to tell me whether or not there is a law school in St. Louis or vicinity which offers evening classes to working students.

A. READER.

I think I am not mistaken in saying that Washington University has evening classes, for those unable to attend law school in the day time. If the University has not just the opportunities necessary or adapted to your time and needs, I am very sure you can get the information by inquiring there. The St. Louis Legal Aid Bureau, Municipal Courts Building, also might furnish you with information of this kind.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

DAVID, who has written the story of himself and his brothers.

THE MDIVANI BROTHERS

A HISTORY OF THE THREE GEORGIAN PRINCES WHOSE ADVENTURES AND MARRIAGES HAVE AROUSED SO MUCH INTEREST

AS TOLD BY DAVID MDIVANI

CHAPTER ONE.

HEADLINES across the nation have painted a lurid, truthless picture of my brothers, my sisters and myself. It seems, for some years past, it has been open season to besmirch the Mdivani name, Mdivani traditions. Carelessly and sometimes maliciously, critics have had great sport at the expense of our lives, our careers, our ambitions. Men and women who have never known us, never taken the trouble to inquire into our history, our ancestry, have taken their pens in hand and written their own fables of the Mdivanis.

We have been tagged "the marrying Mdivanis." We have been called "fortune hunters," "phonies" and "fakes." Charges have been hurled we came to America to look for wealthy women. Even our glorious country of Georgia, in that strip of the Caucasus where was born the white race, has not been immune from the attacks of those misguided persons who have made the Mdivanis the target of their baseless slurs and innuendoes.

We have been called pauper princes with the word princes bracketed in quotation marks so the world might gain the impression that the title was fictitious. We have been called embezzlers, crooks and thieves by persons who lived to see the day when they came voluntarily to offer abject apologies, implore for a chance to right a vicious wrong.

Out of these cruel imaginings a public has gained a strange and untrue picture of my brothers and myself. The average person, because of these fictional accounts, has gained the impression that we sit around hotel lobbies, wearing white gloves and carrying a cane, waiting for an heiress to wander by.

And when the heiress appears on the horizon, these fables would lead you to believe, a Mdivani steps from behind a potted palm, clicks his heels in military fashion, bows low from the waist and raises a fair hand to lips. During this musical comedy scene, the heiress throws millions at the feet of the Mdivani, becomes his bride and in a very short time tosses him a couple of additional millions.

Out of such rot, authored by persons who refuse to keep a rendezvous with truth, have come the myriad, baseless tales of "the marrying Mdivanis," as cruel and untrue an epithet as was ever fastened against a decent name. As a result of this vicious phrase the impression has grown in various circles that we have been married countless times; that marrying is almost a weekly habit; that marriage has become our profession.

We have been married and divorced no less and no more than the average family. Our immediate family consisted, up to poor Alexis' recent and tragic death in that auto accident in Spain, of three brothers and two sisters. Alexis, the youngest—he was 25 years old when he died—had been married twice. First to Louise Van Alen and then to Barbara Hutton. Later on in this series I shall write in detail of Alexis and Miss Hutton, their romance, marriage and divorce. And when this unknown chapter has been told the world at large will know what friends have always known, that Alexis, at the expense of his own pride, his own being, steadfastly remained, to the moment of his untimely death, the loyal, square-shooting gentleman he had always been. I began these articles before poor Alexis died, and the reader will see that the memory of my brother will be completely vindicated before I have finished.

It will be known, too, that Alexis was not "the penniless prince," as he was described by persons who had a better sense of drama than they had of facts.

• • •

ROUSSADANNA, my younger sister sas been married eight years to the only husband she has ever had—Jose Maria Sert, Spanish kin of the Duke of Madrid and perhaps the world's foremost mural artist.

My brother Serge has been married twice: to Pola Negri, the actress and Mary McCormic, the opera singer.

I have been married once—eight years to Mae Murray, and of the union a son, Koran, now 9 years old, was born.

My sister Nina has been married 10 years to Charles Henry Huberich, former university professor and now an international lawyer. It has been her only marriage.

My mother and father were married for 35 years, a sacred union that was ended only by death.

Perhaps it has been our misfortune to have loved women whose names made news. It may have been the blaze of publicity, fed by countless lies, magnified and distorted out of all proportion the true story of events. Whatever has been the case, all charges, lies and slurs are to be paraded on these pages and answered for the first and last time.

If our title had been fraudulent we would have been jailed years ago in Europe, where it is a felony to masquerade under a false title. Rightfully we would have been exposed as imposters in America had our title of Prince been without foundation.

Today the passports we carry from the Georgian Government bear the title of Prince, passports that have been attested to by the French Minister of Foreign Affairs and the American Ambassador to France. It is not that we wish to stand in the reflected glory of a title, but it is a rightful heritage that has been in our family since 1752 when Irakyle II, King of Georgia, bestowed upon our forebear, Saloman Mdivani, the title and dignity of Prince because of his distinctive valor in the Battle of d'Evrivan.

• • •

THE title of Prince, which was won in war and bloodshed, has been kept alive by members of my family in the same manner. If untrue bad things can be said of my family, I am going to avail myself of the liberty to say the true good things that for hundreds of years have distinguished my family in our native land.

I can and will say them because I am deeply proud of my ancestors, deeply proud of every member of our living family. On other pages to come I will for the first time in behalf of the Mdivani clan tell in detail whence our title came.

Some present-day accounts would indicate that Serge and I came to America within the last few years, came with our titles waving before us; came with our eyes on the heiress market.

This story is as untrue as all the rest. These stories are told by persons who either do not know the truth or do not care to tell it.

They don't know that Serge and I came to America 16 years ago when my brother was 16 and I was 15. They don't know that we came over here to make our way in a new world, make our way by sweating and slaving and battling in paper factories and in the boom oil fields of Oklahoma, Texas and California.

Perhaps they don't know that we worked our way through school at Andover, outside of Boston; Serge washing glasses and serving the other students at the table while I worked in the kitchen washing dishes.

Too proud to work! hotels! lobbies, white gloves and cane and on the look-out for heiresses!

We have known the meaning of "working like dogs" until we have collapsed under the strain of sheer exhaustion. We have laid miles of pipe line in a blizzard-blown oil field for $6 a day and slept five men to a bed in an oil company bunkhouse. We have pawned our watches to eat, gone hungry, worked as carpenters.

And we haven't kicked. It was part of the great experience we sought, when, out of a spirit of adventure, we left our ancestral castle-like home in Tiflis, capital of Georgia, for the United States. We didn't have to suffer these privations. We could have had ample funds from our father and mother who, after 1924, had fled to Paris because of the revolution that absorbed Georgia as a portion of Bolshevist Russia. Or we could have had all the financial aid we needed from Marshall Z. Crane, millionaire paper manufacturer, under whose wing we had come to the United States.

But we were young and we were thrilled with the feeling that we were making our own way. It was the way, we had heard, American boys started on the road to fortune. If it was good enough for American boys it was good enough for us.

And from bitter experience we learned the American boys' way of starting was the right way. Sarge and I wouldn't trade our early experiences in America for all the tities in Europe.

As a matter of fact, we had come to the new land, of which we had heard so much about from our tutor in Georgia, Monsieur Four, to trade our Georgian titles of Prince for that of "Mister." Both Serge and I have taken out our first citizenship papers and before the year is over we happily hope to become American citizens.

Perhaps when the title of Prince is stricken from our names forever we will gain some surcease from the flow of libelous articles that have been written about us. Really, our title has been more of a liability than an asset.

So on that day we become American citizens, parting forever with the honor so valiantly won and deserved by a Midivani of the dim past, perhaps we can look forward to a glorious future in which we will be treated like any other ordinary human beings.

For years we have heard and read the unfair charges. For years we have lived under a dangling sword of Damocles, never knowing at what moment of the day some word or untruth would come to crush us, belittle us, ridicule us.

Not long ago when unkind hands brought about the receivership of our oil company—a company in which a human being never lost one red cent—I used to ride out at night on horseback into the Santa Monica hills wondering how such an unfair thing could ever have happened. I would ride until daybreak that I might be jarred awake from the awful nightmare that enveloped my brother and me.

And when baseless charges of embezzlement were lodged against us—it seemed the world—at least for us—had come to an end. Before our eyes we saw smashed the thing of which we had dreamed and planned so long. It was the culmination of a great enterprise.

Good Patterns For Children Are Necessary

By Angelo Patri

CHILDREN learn all they know about the world through their senses. They see, hear, taste, smell, feel life and so begin to learn what is going on. But after that they must do something about the things they learn and doing is different from learning. It requires a different technique. You have to organize your body and mind and center them on an idea and DO something.

Angelo Patri

Actions have to be learned. They do not come fully grown. Hands are fumbling, awkward things, and so are legs and arms and feet. They have to be trained, by their possessor, through long and trying stages until they arrive at power. This means children have to struggle to learn to do the simplest things, and they have to be shown how to do them by someone who knows how.

There is a short cut to this teaching and learning. The children imitate what they see other folk do. They imitate the motions and gestures, and so learn to make them. That is why it is important to set them the best possible example in every way. Manners are copied. Ways of working, of doing things, of living, are imitated by the children.

Children come in close contact with others beyond home. They must play with children their own age. This is nature's way of teaching them to adjust themselves to others, to live harmoniously among their fellows. They give certain impulses to other children and receive from them in return. Each imitates the other.

The most dramatic gesture is the one they learn first. The word that is shouted is learned before the one that is said in ordinary tones. The unusual word or action is noted and copied. Again nature is teaching the child to expand his horizons by taking in the experiences of the others. If the companions are intelligent and healthy these lessons, copies of others' behavior, help. If they are uncouth, ignorant children, this learning is a loss, a tax on the child's future.

All children learn to say dramatic words, to repeat colorful phrases, to try strange mannerisms like lisping, making faces, performing strange antics for applause. All these are fluff that is soon blown away. If nothing more serious shows up one can afford to pass these by.

The thing is to try to provide good patterns for the children to imitate; at home first, then at school and on the playground. It is no easy matter. One cannot sterilize life. There must be a certain acceptance of folkways, of community opinion and custom, but there remains the bulwark of home and family tradition.

Children imitate the ways of others, but they hold fast to the ways of home. Home is strongest always. The speech, manners, principles, customs of the family become those of the children. Let them be good.

rozen Tomatoes With Caviar Dressing.

Peel desired number of firm, ripe tomatoes and place in a bowl and cover with crushed ice and let stand in refrigerator for several hours. Salt and pepper and place on hearts of lettuce. Cover with caviar dressing and serve with Saratoga crisps.

Caviar Dressing.

Saratoga Crisps.

Beginning at end of crackers, wrap bacon diagonally around crackers. Place in a slow oven and bake until the bacon is crisp. Drain on paper and serve very hot.

Panned Breasts of Guinea Chicken.

Remove wing tips and cut breasts from plump young guinea chickens and lard with salt pork. Season with salt and pepper, rub with butter and pan broil for 15 minutes, turning every five minutes. On a pyrex platter place thin slices of sauted ham and on this place the guinea breasts. Continue broiling and basting with drippings in pan for 20 minutes longer, with heat reduced. Surround with a border of mashed spiced sweet potatoes. Garnish with halves of canned sliced pineapple, and run under flame to slightly brown the potatoes and pineapple. Surround with watercress.

Spiced Sweet Potatoes.

Two tablespoons or more of butter.

One-half cup of cream and milk mixed.

One-fourth teaspoon each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg.

Boil and mash the potatoes, add liquid, butter and spices. Beat well and pile around platter. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter.

Green Corn.

Remove husks and threads just before dropping into boiling salted water, adding a little sugar, and cook about 10 minutes. Cut corn from the cobs and serve heated, with butter, salt and pepper.

Cinnamon Rolls.

Dissolve one cake of yeast in one-third cup of water, with a pinch of sugar. Pour one cup of scalded milk over four tablespoons of sugar, three tablespoons of butter and one teaspoon of salt. Let cool; add yeast and enough sifted flour to make a soft dough. Let rise; pat down, then let rise again. Roll out no thicker than one-fourth inch. Sprinkle lightly with brown sugar and cinnamon and melted butter. Cut in one-inch slices and twist around twice. Butter along edges of rolls to prevent sticking together and place on a buttered pan. Let rise in a warm place, then bake in a quick oven about 15 minutes.

Peach and Red Raspberry Shortcake.

Take one pint of red raspberries and one quart of ripe sliced peaches and cover with cup of sugar and the juice of one lemon. Stir until sugar is dissolved and let stand for an hour.

Roll out flaky pie dough thin. Cut in rounds to fit bottom of pie tin and prick well with fork. Bake five or six of these rounds. Stack together with fruit between, and a thin layer of sweetened and flavored whipping cream. When serving, slice as for cake.

Anna and Jimmy Take Tanya to the Beach, Where Jimmy Tells of His Break With Mitzi.

CHAPTER SIX.

IT WAS broad daylight when Anna crept into the flat and to bed, but it didn't matter. Impossible to sleep under any circumstances that first morning after she had admitted her love for Carey.

She lay quietly with her eyes wide open dreaming over and over those beautiful moments in his arms. Love was such a terrific thing. Frightening as well as ecstatic. It left you so vulnerable to pain. If Carey should ever stop caring for her now, she coudn't bear it.

"I wouldn't want to live," Anna thought, amazed that she who had always prided herself on her emotional independence should feel this way about any man.

Now at last she could understand how Peter had felt about Connie. Could appreciate the strained look in Jimmy's eyes when Mitzi quarreled with him. It was fear which made them look like that. Fear of losing the person who meant more to one than anything in the world.

Nothing definite had been said about marriage, but she felt instinctively that Carey would wait to make any definite plans until he had signed his new contract. It would have spoiled the romance of those first glorious moments to have been too practical. Enough just to close her eyes and drift, secure in the knowledge that she had won the love of the only man she had ever wanted.

"May I get up now?" the child asked.

"Yes, if you'll be very quiet. We'd better take your clothes into the bathroom where it is warm."

"You needn't get up, Anna! Auntie Steele said to let you sleep this morning."

Anna smiled. She knew now it would be impossible to sleep.

"I'm ready to get up," she insisted, as Tanya crawled over the bars of her bed. "But we mustn't be noisy and waken Jimmy."

With elaborate precautions Tanya tiptoed to the bathroom where Anna buttoned the scanty little garments she couldn't manage for herself.

"What are you getting dressed for, Anna?" she asked.

Anna hadn't been sure herself until that moment, but it suddenly occurred to her that she would like to go to the ocean where she could think.

"How would you like to have a glass of milk and go to the beach for awhile?"

"I'd love it," Tanya replied, dancing up and down. "We will pretend we are two little mouses and Auntie Steele and Jimmy won't know we're gone."

Intent on their game they opened the door into the kitchen to find Mrs. Steele, fully dressed, having a cup of coffee. When she saw their surprise, she smiled, but pressed a finger against her lips and whispered, "We must be as quiet as we can so as not to waken Jimmy. He didn't get in until 5 o'clock."

Mrs. Steele shook her head.

"Such hours would have been scandalous in my day but all the young people seem to do it. Of course, it does make a difference when you don't get started until so late. All these radio people have to wait until their programs are over."

"We didn't get out to Edgewater Beach until after midnight," Anna agreed.

She was preparing to lift Tanya from her high chair when the door opened to admit Jimmy, wearing old gray trousers and a sweater.

"We've been trying not to wake you up, Jimmy," Tanya said.

• • •

JIMMY'S eyes were bloodshot. He wore the harassed, nervous expression his mother and Anna recognized instantly. Only Mitzi could make Jimmy Steele look like that.

"What's the matter, son? Why didn't you sleep?"

"Come to the beach with us," Tanya cried. "Anna says she can't sleep either."

Mrs. Steele said sadly, "I don't know what this generation is coming to, having nerves and such at your ages. You'd better have some coffee, at least, before you go."

Jimmy took the cup she offered him with hands which shook, visibly.

"Care if I come along, Anna?" he asked. "I can drive you in the car."

Although she had planned to be alone with Tanya, Anna could not refuse. So the three of them climbed into Jimmy's car and drove to the beach.

It was a warm, springlike day, fulfillment of the golden dawn. Jimmy parked the car, bought a little pail and shovel for Tanya, and threw himself full length on the sand staring out to sea. Anna made no attempt to comfort him. She let the sun-swept water and cool fresh air do their work, unaided, until presently the tight lines around his mouth relaxed enough for him to smile wryly.

BEGIN HERE TODAY:

Beautiful ANNA STAHL is of Russian parentage. For years her chief interest has been her little half sister, TANYA. Now, suddenly she finds herself in love and engaged to romantic, handsome CARRY DENNISON, radio singer. The rest of Anna's "family" is made up of JIMMY STEELE and his widowed mother. Jimmy is an announcer at Station KPC where Carey sings, and his mother is Anna's landlady and co-sharer of the care of Tanya. Jimmy is engaged to MITZI LA RUE, fiery, jealous radio singer, who resents even Jimmy's love for his mother and his fondness for little Tanya.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"I guess I'm the prize sap," he said.

Anna raised herself on one arm so that she could look at him.

"Quarreling again, Jimmy?"

"Everything's all off this time," he blurted. "The wedding and everything."

"Why?

"You can't prove it by me. Things were perfect at the party so far as I could see."

"Mitzi was beautiful and she looked so happy . . ."

"That's what I thought. But we had no sooner started home than she was telling me she didn't want to be married on Valentine's day. She wants to put it off now until next Christmas."

"But why did she change her mind, Jimmy? She must have a reason."

"Not Mitzi. She doesn't have to have reasons. Except the fact that she isn't sure she loves me enough and she might meet someone else she'd like better."

"Did she say that?"

"She did and a lot more. About how she had just realized last night that these were the best years of her life and how could she tell whether it was wise to tie herself up to one man?"

"If she feels that way about it, I think she's right. It would be a lot worse to marry her and have her find it out afterward."

"That's what I told her," Jimmy said grimly. "I also said if she didn't marry me when we had planned, she wouldn't marry me at all. No girl is going to make a fool out of me forever, not even Mitzi."

Brave words!

• • •

BUT his blue eyes were so troubled, Anna couldn't bear to look at them.

"Oh, hoole! If you'd ever been in love you'd realize that it doesn't help a bit to know that. I realize that you and my mother don't approve of Mitzi. I admit that there are times when she seems utterly selfish and irresponsible. But I'm crazy about her. Crazy about her—do you understand? It may not be sane to be in love like that, but that's the way I am."

Seeing how useless it was, Anna fell silent. Eyes remote and dreamy, she looked far out to the passing ships, thinking, "It would be terrible to feel uncertain of the one you love."

The absolute certainty she felt in her own sweetheart made Jimmy's plight more pitiful. If only he could stay with this decision to give Mitzi up, but she suspected that all the temperamental little singer would have to do would be to change her mind again to have Jimmy at her feet, as adoring as ever. Anna was so concerned about him she could not concentrate on her romance as she had planned, but nothing she could say seemed to help.

Then Tanya ran up to them crying, "Lie real still, Jimmy, so I can bury you in a big pile of sand."

"Go ahead," he said, "and when you get through just leave me there."

"Oh, no! When I get through I shall dig you up again," Tanya promised.

He lay very still while Tanya trotted back and forth with her pailfuls of sand. But while she was patting the long mound into shape Jimmy sat up like a nervous dog.

Tanya shouted, "Not yet, Jimmy! I wasn't ready."

"I'm tired of being a buried treasure," he protested. "You're getting sand in my ears."

Always agreeable, a trait she had probably inherited from her mother, Tanya seated herself at his feet begging, "Tell me a story then?"

"About what?"

"I don't care. Your stories are always lovely," she said politely.

"Well," he said, "once upon a time there was a beautiful princess who was shut up in a castle by a naughty old witch."

"It was Anna," Jimmy said, smiling mischievously.

Catching the spirit of the game, Tanya cried delightedly, "And I'll bet the naughty old witch was named Mitzi."

"Perhaps you are right," agreed Jimmy, not daring to look in Anna's direction. "And when a handsome young knight named Jimmy came to rescue the beautiful princess the naughty old witch killed him."

"Oh, no, Jimmy, dear, she only tried to," Tanya corrected. "But he threw the naughty old witch into a dungeon and married the princess.

Jimmy grinned for the first time that day.

"Sure that's a much better ending. And did they live happily ever after?"

"Of course!" she replied.

Anna said, "And now children, that will conclude our fairy tales for today. We must be going home or Auntie Steele will wonder what has become of us."

She was glad to see that Jimmy was looking more like himself. And as they climbed back into his car, he said, "Thanks for the companionship, Anna dear! Also the good advice."

"Not that you have any intention of taking it," she smiled.

"I'll try," he promised.

But all his good resolutions were forgotten when he saw a messenger boy riding away from the flat as they drove up.

Jimmy leaped from the car and into the house crying, "Hey, Mom! Did that boy leave a message for me?"

Brief Remarks On Things Of Everyday Life

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

A READER sends me a handful of truths picked from life—tiny gems which her vivid touch keeps from being trite:

Beware of a half-way house. They also pause there who travel the other way.

Facts as well as faces are often made up for the glare of footlights.

Capacity without purpose is as empty as a cylinder without any steam.

In love trust must be absolute—drop but one letter and it is rust.

We should not be put out so easily if the fire is in us had a better start.

True religion sets us free; false religion ties us all up in tiny "nots."

To have beauty within we have only to let in light—it does the developing.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

» by WYNN «

For Sunday, Aug. 25.

IF YOU have talent in the arts, sciences or in mechanics, trot it out now and for the coming three days. Today: Excellent for analyzing your future as far ahead as you want to look and plan. Be a big timer a year hence.

Estimating Character.

Perhaps you have noticed that one of the quickest ways to estimate the character of people is to note what they are hoping for. And what they are hoping for is to be seen in what they actively work for—it is what they really expect. What they merely talk about may mean nothing; what they do means everything. For instance, note well those who expect to become independent.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is a good time to apply this remedy; whenever it seems that you're stuck, try something entirely new, if born on this date. Work harder, think ahead. Danger: Sept. 12-Oct. 22; Jan. 4-Feb. 20; and May 9-June 23.

For Monday, Aug. 26.

ONE of the best days of the entire year for those who are alert and willing to do their share for and with others. Use best judgment; deal with superiors for the good of the order, yourself included. Be worthy, decide wisely.

Independence.

When you find someone who intends to become independent in business and in other ways, you have a mighty good prospect of finding that person's natal Moon in one of the leading signs: Aries, Cancer, Libra or Capricorn. This will be especially true if the individual was born with the Sun in a sign not of this leading group, for the Moon is the source of expectation.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead, if you celebrate today, carries emotional, affectional, matrimonial and domestic tests, needing wise decisions. From Oct. 26 build up estate. Danger: Sept. 14-Oct. 24; Jan. 6-Feb. 21; and May 11-June 25.

Tomorrow.

Top Notch Goes To Visit With His Neighbors

By Mary Graham Bonner

TOP NOTCH looked at himself in his new little mirror. "I'll brush my feathers and go and make some calls," he said. So off he strutted to talk to his friends in the neighboring barnyards.

He talked over affairs in the business world with the roosters.

"Times are much better," said Sir Grey Rooster.

"Indeed they are," agreed Top Notch.

"I pick up seeds wherever I go," said Grey Roooster.

"Have you heard the latest?" asked young Miss Brown Hen.

"No, do tell me," cackled Top Notch.

"Well, Mrs. Brownie Hen—a cousin of mine, has a most interesting family. You should go and see her."

Top Notch walked magnificently over to speak to Mrs. Brownie Hen.

"Good-day, Madame," he said. "Have you got your family hidden under your wings?"

"Fur?" questioned Top Notch.

"Yes, fur," said Mrs. Brownie Hen. "They hadn't any at first. But they're growing up. They won't be babies much longer. Their whiskers are so funny and nice, too."

"Whiskers?" questioned Top Notch once more. "I am very much puzzled. Great Roosters and Little Chickens, won't you let me see your family."

"Just a peep," said Mrs. Brownie Hen.

Top Notch peeped and saw that Mrs. Brownie was taking care of a family of little motherless rabbits. What a kind hen she was. Top Notch was proud of his fine friends.

Graham Biscuits

One cup flour.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Four teaspoons baking powder.
Four tablespoons fat.
Two-thirds cup milk.

Mix flours, salt and baking powder. Cut in fat with knife. Mixing with knife, slowly add milk. When soft dough forms, put it out until one-third inch thick. Cut out biscuits and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven on greased pan. Serve warm.

Discarded House Dresses

It is nearly always the waist of the house dress that wears out first, leaving a perfectly good skirt. These skirts may be utilized by cutting them into good sized aprons for kitchen wear or cutting into strips to form colorful interest in the hand-crocheted rag rug.

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

1.—An executive who is a "boss" instead of a "leader" often takes an arbitrary attitude, giving as his "reason" that the executive knows best what is good for the employes; his real reason being fear of his authority. Other unwise executives often hide behind the excuse for arbitrary acts and mistakes by saying, "Well, this is the policy of the company," while still others refuse to reduce agreements to writing, so as to leave room to blame failures on others. Truth and open dealing is the only way to become an executive leader.

2.—This is quite often the case, due chiefly to heredity. Biologists believe each of one's many characteristics is represented by a "chemical package" or "gene" (pronounced jean) in the germ-cell from which he was born. These packages mix up in all sorts of ways from one generation to the next so it sometimes happens—indeed fairly often—that a child is born from a germ-cell that contains almost the same kind of packages that the germ-cell contained from which his or her grandfather or grandmother were born.

3.—If she does not she is usually in for trouble. A small-gauge husband will find fault with her apparent "neglect" of him for "outside interests" which he does not appreciate or understand. At times she will be fatigued when he wants to go to a movie or she will be so occupied with her own plans she will not give what he thinks is proper attention to his plans. Unless she is fortunate enough to secure a husband who understands her passion for self-realization and who is willing to meet it half way, it is likely to end in disaster.

JUDY

By Rita A. Bunyan

JUDY had heard! Daddy must never know she had, of course. It would hurt him; and to Judy hurting daddy was the worst thing anyone could ever do on this earth. He was so big and gallant and kind, so tender and protective to little things, that one could not endure the looks of bewildered hurt in his eyes.

No, he must never dream that she knew that Eloise didn't love her—didn't want her. Daddy and Judy had been so happy that they were to have someone to mother them after so many years. Judy hadn't even minded much that an outsider was to share their enchanted life together. For though their evenings and Sundays had been precious singular moments for them, days were sometimes lonely for Judy with no mother to run to and laugh with.

And now how disappointing it all was. Judy felt terribly, terribly sorry for daddy; if only she might cling to him and tell him how sorry she was. But, no, daddy must not know she had heard that conversation in the library.

"Don't expect me to mother the child, David," Eloise had said. "It's enough that she should be here between us—to take a great part of you away from me! Don't ask me to pamper her or listen to her foolish prattle. I'm not meant for that, David."

Judy wished she could have seen daddy's eyes then. She would have better understood what she ought to do about it. His eyes would have told the whole story. But she couldn't see him—she could but hear his low voice speaking rather wearily:

But, Eloise, I thought—I really believed you loved her. I hoped that the three of us . . ."

"Yes, David, always the three of us. Oh, can't you see? I wanted you—your love; I didn't intend to step into the position of the home-loving mother. I'm too young, too fond of living for that. Judith is a queer child; you know that. I can't understand her, nor she me. We can't set up a mother-daughter relation. You're her father, David, she's your daughter. I'm your wife. That is all it can ever be—I can't do anything more."

Eloise had cried then and Judy ran out to her swing to think it all out. She must do something about it. Oh, there was no question, daddy had to be made happy and gay again. Nothing must mar his happiness.

Right now she would run and play with Bobby and Lois and Jean at the playground. It would help her to stay light-hearted till dinner, when she would have to face them at the table and act as though things were all right.

The kids were loads of fun today. They told Judy she might be high flyer on the maypole. Anyone who's never been high flyer has certainly missed a lot. It was great sport. You just hold on ever so tightly while the others swing you around until all of a sudden you went up in the air, higher, higher, faster—'way above everyone.

Judy just remembered that when your hands are sticky from peppermint you can't get a tight grip on the bar and soon you feel yourself slipping. You frantically try to tell the others, but they are enjoying themselves too much to notice.

• • •

AND all of a sudden you can't hold on any longer and your fingers slide from the handle and you feel sort of dizzy in your stomach. Finally you hit the gravel with a headachy thump and then you don't remember anything more. After just ages you open your eyes and you're in your own bedroom feeling rather tired and cozy, the darkness and the muffled sounds all making you feel drowsy and nice.

Judy felt very, very contented with her new clean little hands in daddy's big, firm, comforting ones. Oh, but here was something she hadn't noticed till now—a dreadfully harsh pain in her back. She guessed she must have fallen or something.

Oh, and there was Eloise's voice again, different somehow this time. Almost like a mother's voice. But no, she mustn't even think of her as mother ever again. It would be unfair to that lovely memory with whom she used to associate that name.

Judy didn't know what Daddy said. She knew only that he did not move—didn't take his hands from hers. She was so grateful for that. He seemed to belong so much to her right now. Things were going to be all right again.

Suddenly Judy was sure of that. How silly of her to think—was it this morning?—that things would never be right again! Judy was going to sleep. Soon she would wake up with her real mother's hands where daddy's rested on hers.

She would tell her all about it. Perhaps they would cry together. Judy was afraid that in a minute she would be crying and daddy wouldn't understand, and that wouldn't do. Daddy must understand.

This was good night. She felt daddy's hands hold her more tightly. She wished she might see his eyes.

It was just as well she couldn't, though. Under the pain in daddy's eyes there was—Judy couldn't have said the word, but she'd have recognized the quality — bitterness. Eloise saw it. Standing by the door, her hands clasped tightly, she watched. She saw the pain, and the bitterness, too.

Judy's small hand fell limply from its resting place in daddy's big palm. Daddy bent to kiss her pale forehead. The arms that should have arisen to encircle his neck lay still. Daddy knew then.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BIG POT—The Big Pot of Bunzlau, in German Silesia, which furnishes the emblem of this city of potters, has a romantic background. In 1753, a potter's assistant, named Joppe, wooed his master's daughter. Before the proud father gave his consent, he required the aspirant to make a pot of a capacity of 30 bushels of peas. The assistant executed the order to the master's satisfaction and married the girl. Ever since, the Big Pot of Bunzlau has been kept in the museum of the city.

Small Profit in Prophets

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

RECOVERY is a rider on the first law of nature.

• • •

That law is self-preservation. And nature did pretty good when she sent the Middle Western farmer exactly four billion dollars worth of rain this summer.

• • •

We pay no taxes on those showers. And when the rain drowned the chinch bug, it was no act of Congress.

• • •

All this Nation needs is a proper mixture of sun and rain. That's one prescription you cannot get in the back of a drugstore.

• • •
